To Death Barefoot.
A Dwarf Can Kill.
An Old Man's Money.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 31.

IN ORLEANS yesterday, Augustine Agogue, 27 years old, who killed her mother to get the mother's farm, was sentenced to death. In accordance with the Napoleonic code, seeking to humiliate and punish more severely those that murder their parents, Augustine will walk barefoot to the guillotine.

INTERESTING historical contrast between her death and that of Joan of Arc, the Maid of Orleans. One walks to the guillotine barefoot, for murdering her mother. The other walked barefoot to the stake, burned alive for saving her country.

The modern "automatic" pistol makes it easy for Peter to kill. In ancient days when men fought with clubs, maces and swords, he would only have been a jester, too small to murder.

SIMILARLY a small nation, as small as Hungary, or Holland, Switzerland, in these days of flying machines and poison gas, might be the most efficient international killer in the murder game of war.

Conditions change. A five-pound baby taken up in an airplane might release a poison gas bomb that would kill 500,000 in a big city.

MR. YOUNG, assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce, announces that passenger airships must carry two-way radio facilities to receive weather information and send emergency messages.

PRESENTLY more powerful engines, bigger ships, better understanding of air navigation, will eliminate the importance of weather conditions.

Meanwhile the government, not youthful enthusiastic pilots, should decide on flying or not flying.

A pilot, with youth's dread of being called "yellow," is inclined to risk any weather. At every airport whence passengers depart, the question "to fly or not to fly" should be left to some solemn person, not a pilot, and one influenced entirely by the passengers' safety.

MR. B. C. FORBES, asking himself "What is this all about, this terrific strenuosity and strain?" as he talked to George F. Baker, richest banker in the world, says of a certain multi-millionaire, not Mr. Baker, that he would "trade all his riches for youth."

The multi-millionaire thinks he would do it, but he wouldn't.

A MAN like Edison might desire renewed youth, to live another life of useful invention. But a man who has only made money would be foolish to live his life again.

An intelligent man after working hard through a lifetime, would not go back to the gate by which we enter, but rather look to the door at the far end of life, as a trained dog in the show yearns for the moment when he may get down on all fours and trot off the stage.

INDUSTRY, railroads and agriculture declare that immigration from Mexico is necessary to prosperity. It is suggested that Porto Ricans living in territory owned by the United States, therefore "Americans," be brought in to make good the labor shortage.

AS REGARDS Filipinos, victims of savage attacks, it should be remembered that they are in this country legally, and therefore entitled to live and work, and should have protection.

A QUESTION that suggests itself to many is this:

Why not modify restrictions against European immigration, and allow the country to be built up in the future as it has been in the past, by ambitious, enterprising youth from European countries?

The intelligent young man intends to study Hollywood and Western architecture.

He will find in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and other Coast cities much worth studying in the way of architecture.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Facing a split in the House over an alleged slur upon Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the House Committee on Executive Expenditures today decided to reconsider the bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

The particular amendment to be reconsidered gives the Attorney General the power to write regulations under which the Treasury would administer industrial alcohol permits.

CALLS PLAN INSULT

Representative Colton (Rep.), of Utah, and Cochran (Dem.), of Missouri, the former dry and the latter anti-prohibition, had threatened to carry the fight against this amendment to the floor. Colton declared it an "insult" to Mellon, saying, "I have never heard of giving one cabinet officer the right to tell another just how he shall do his work."

The decision to reconsider was made in an informal gathering of committee members. The bill as approved by Mellon and Attorney General Mitchell gave the Justice Department veto power over granting of permits, but allowed the Treasury to continue to write regulations.

DRY CHIEF SUMMONED

Other prohibition developments:

Representative Franklin Fort (Rep.), of New Jersey, close friend of President Hoover, and until a few days ago secretary of the Republican National Committee, delivered a speech in the House which was re-

MINE POLICE FIGHT BACK IN COURT

Higgins' Testimony Assailed As Untrue After Day of Reversals for Defense

By JOHN P. COWAN
Staff Correspondent.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 31.—Defense counsel in the trial of three former coal and iron police, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of John Borkowski, today sought to weaken the main prop of the prosecution's case—the testimony of John Higgins.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard sought to show that Higgins sold liquor in his boarding house at Santiago and that his story of seeing the Tyre miner-farmer fatally beaten in the Pittsburgh Coal Company barracks at Imperial was not to be accepted as truth.

READY TO CLOSE

The three defendants—Walter J. Lyster, Harold P. Watts and Frank Slaipkas—were to be followed on the stand by Dr. C. B. Schildecker, of Pittsburgh.

The doctor's testimony was expected to be the last for the defense. Rebuttal testimony will be given late today, with probability of a night session so the case can reach the jury tomorrow.

Slapikas today denied being present when Borkowski was beaten. He said he was unable to identify photos of the scene at Santiago where Borkowski was arrested.

WATTS RECALLED

Watts was recalled at the opening of court today. He testified to going to a house at Santiago to investigate a complaint that liquor was being sold and finding Borkowski and Higgins.

From the smiling, positive witness who had a sweeping denial for every accusation made against him by the state, Watts yesterday became a sulky and angry man when Assistant District Attorney

CLARK IN 'EXECUTIONER' ROLE FOR POLITICAL UPHEAVAL BY KLINE

The greatest shakeup of the police and fire departments in the city's history was announced today by Public Safety Director James M. Clark.

Two hundred and eighty-three police and firemen were retired, promoted or demoted.

The casualties included 55 police and firemen who were ordered to retire on pension.

"Blame it on politics," many of them muttered after they had been called to Calrk's office to sign retirement papers.

CLARK "EXECUTIONER"

Clark himself jokingly asked news photographers this question when they went to his office after the announcement:

"How shall I pose, as the executioner?"

The transfer of Inspector James N. Hoey, political protege of State Senator James J. Coyne, from the downtown district to Oakland, and the transfer of Inspector Albert Beebe from Oakland to downtown, was not officially announced, but it was learned that the move probably will be revealed tomorrow or February 15.

Frank Ferris, detective, was appointed lieutenant of the homicide squad to succeed the late David W. Corbett.

MALONE SUPPORTERS GO

The list of retired included three police lieutenants, David R. Fitzsimmons, Luke Connors and John O. Dye and Capt. Daniel C. Ambrose.

Prominent among the two-score police retired or reduced were those who had supported Councilman James F. Malone in the recent mayoralty fight.

The promotions included the naming of six police lieutenants and assignment of sub-patrolmen as regulars. These new lieutenants are William Lilburn, George Schmotzer, Harry Payne, John Held, Michael O'Connor and Clement Austin.

Casualties in the fire department included the retirement of Capt. Nick Phelan and 16 other captains.

VETERANS DISGRUNTLED

The shakeup included the naming of some new men to both police and fire departments.

5 TAXIS STONED; ONE ARREST

Five taxicabs were reported stoned today by strike sympathizers as the Yellow Cab Company attempted to operate some cars without deputy sheriffs.

At Diamond and Ross streets Jerome J. King, 24, of 1413 Fifth avenue, was arrested for stoning a cab, police reported.

Two other cabs were said to have been targets for bricks on Bigelow boulevard.

Two others were reported stoned on the South Side.

It was revealed that during the night the Yellow Cab Company's garage at First avenue and Ross street was stoned. No one was injured.

Several taxi drivers were arrested during the day for alleged violations of traffic regulations.

Sixty cabs, many operated by old drivers who have returned to work, were in the first group to leave the Yellow Cab garage at First avenue and Ross street.

Both sides were silent insofar as issuing statements were concerned. A committee meeting of the drivers was held late yesterday, but nothing was released for publication.

Copies of the temporary and permanent injunctions issued against strikers were being received by many drivers of the Yellow Cab Company by registered mail, they said.

More than 100 cabs were reported cruising the streets yesterday.

CIVIL SERVICE? YES, BUT --

Pittsburgh policemen and firemen, "protected" by Civil Service, can't be dismissed unless unfitness is charged and proved, but—

The following took place in the office of Public Safety Director James M. Clark today, according to Fire Captain Nick Phelan, of No. 2 Engine Company:

The characters: Director Clark and Capt. Phelan, veteran of 23 years' service, who received a medal for general efficiency in 1916.

Clark—I sent for you to sign this application for retirement.

Phelan—What's the matter, Director, aren't my services satisfactory?

Clark—I have nothing personal against you; it's orders.

Phelan—But you can't discharge me under the Civil Service laws.

Clark—I realize I can't discharge you, but you know I can demote you.

Clark—You'd better sign up. No feelings on my part, Captain, but you weren't for Kline this time. Goodbye.

KENNON NAMED WATER CHIEF

James H. Kennon, superintendent of distribution of the water bureau and an employe of the bureau for 21 years, tomorrow will assume the position of managing engineer of the bureau, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang said today.

Kennon will be advanced from $5,000 to $6,500 a year and will fill a vacancy caused by the death of E. E. Lanpher.

He is a registered civil engineer and has an engineering degree from Ohio Northern University.

His experience in the city water bureau includes all activities from making preliminary surveys to supervising the design, construction and operation of the Aspinwall filtration plant, various reservoirs, tanks and pipe lines.

In addition to his experience in Pittsburgh, Kennon has constructed water works in other cities in the United States and Canada.

Forney Trial Delayed Two More Weeks

Alfred W. Forney, indicted on 15 counts of maintaining gambling devices and one of being a common gambler, will not go to trial next week.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, today, said it would be impossible to list Forney's case next week, as his attorney had cases listed both in the Common Pleas and Federal Court. Nor could the case be listed the following week, as the attorney had a case in Federal Court that probably would consume much time.

Girl Flier, 18, Sets Mark With 42 Loops

AKRON, O., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Miss Mildred Stinaff, 18-year-old girl flier, today had to her credit 42 consecutive loops made yesterday at the Mid-City Airport here. The previous record of 28 consecutive loops was made at Houston, Tex., November 28, 1929, by Miss Dorothy Stocker.

WOMAN 'CHUTE JUMPER HERE

"I never in my life needed a parachute more than I did last night, coming to Pittsburgh in an upper berth," was the only remark Miss Fay Gillis would make on the parachute, the safety device which first brought her national prominence.

Miss Gillis is one of two women members of the "Caterpillar Club," a mythical organization of persons who have saved their lives by parachute jumps from airplanes.

"Pittsburgh is a much more interesting thing to talk about," she said. "You have a wonderful city here. I wanted to fly to Pittsburgh, but the weather was too bad."

Miss Gillis came here with Amelia Earhart and Ruth Nichols to attend the Artists' and Adsters' Friske Frolic to be given this evening by the Women's Advertising Club in William Penn Hotel.

Queen of Sweden Slightly Better

ROME, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Queen Victoria of Sweden passed a fairly peaceful night and her condition, which had been causing alarm, today was described as slightly better. The Queen has been bedridden for four months. King Gustave is here with her.

Good News!

George J. Abdou, of Squirrel Hill, escaped with a bruised finger when his auto plunged down 50 feet off Bigelow boulevard.

Pittsburgh department store sales gained in December, although decreases are reported in 40 other cities.

East Liberty Y. M. C. A. permits dances in its auditorium.

Employment of workers aged more than 55 has increased 142 per cent, the American Management Association reports.

Soldier's Slayer Threatened by Mob

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Sergt. Joseph J. Piggione, who shot and killed Stanley Prusinowski, private of the One Hundred Twenty-fifth Infantry of the Michigan National Guard, was threatened here today by a crowd which gathered in the office of Leo J. Kawrick, justice of the peace, where he was hearing examination of the sergeant.

Examination was postponed for a week after the crowd smashed a door and threatened to become violent. Reserve police stationed in the court were able to control the spectators.

Richard Arlen, Hit By Chair, Recovering

Following the script of the motion picture they were working on, a fellow actor hurled a chair at Arlen. Although he ducked and the chair struck the wall, a section of it hit Arlen on the head, cutting a deep gash in his scalp.

Ice Imperils Plane Downed in Water

BATHURST, N. B., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—An airplane believed to have been used for rum running was reported forced down today in a blinding snowstorm in the Gulf of St. Lawrence two miles west of Miscou Island, northeast of New Brunswick. The plane, unidentified, was caught between crunching ice cakes and was in danger of being smashed, said reports reaching here.

Boulder Dam Water Rights Not Settled

RENO, Jan. 31.—With California and Arizona deadlocked over allocation of power to be generated at Boulder Dam, the tri-state conference, of which Nevada was the third member, adjourned. Although nothing definite was said, intimations were that the discussion would be resumed "soon" in Los Angeles. Delegates were of the belief that the conference, to reach an agreement, would be held next week in Phoenix, Ariz.

Cold Wave Expected, 10 Above Forecast

Continued cold weather, with the mercury falling to between 10 and 15 degrees, tonight, was predicted today by Forecaster W. S. Brotzman. Snow flurries today were the fling of a low pressure belt that moved over Canada instead of bringing warmer weather to this district today from the west, Brotzman explained. Clear skies with slowly rising temperature are in prospect for tomorrow.

Joe Cantillon, Noted Baseball Man, Dies

Man on Way to Family Killed by Rum Raiders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Perle S. Thomas was returning to his home at Fort Pierce, Fla., in February, 1927, to spend the week-end with his wife and two small children. Nearing his home he was accosted by a posse of five federal officers and a civilian. Once before he had been stopped at this same spot and badly beaten. He stepped on the gas. The officers overhauled him and fired a volley into his machine, killing him instantly.

H. J. Dame, prosecuting attorney of St. Lucie County, Fla., reporting this case to the Washington Herald, September 23, 1929, noted:

"Inquest verdict, first degree murder; grand jury action, indictment for murder; other court action, Brownlee (Fred Brownlee, the civilian), sentenced to be executed; life imprisonment for two (Thiletus R. Farrell and George P. Gourley, federal officers), and others never brought to trial. All subsequently pardoned.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, commenting on this case in the Washington Herald December 3, 1929, said:

BRITISH HITCH SIDETRACKS NAVAL TONNAGE SETTLEMENT

DOMINIONS DEMAND VOICE

Means for Representation With Committee of Two Holds Up London Parley

LONDON, Jan 31.—(AP.)—Plansof the naval conference to let a special committee consider the two rival methods of measuring naval tonnage—global and categorical—were sidetracked today, at least for the present.

Faced with an apparent hitch in the British effort to choose committee members to speak for both Great Britain and the Dominions, the full conference itself continued today with the work previously assigned the committee and decided to hold another meeting on the same subject Tuesday.

A long meeting between Prime Minister MacDonald and the Dominion representatives who speak for Canada, Australia, India, New Zealand, South Africa and the Irish Free State preceded the conference session. No announcement was made but it was learned that no acceptable way had been found to represent all British interests through two committee members.

There was no indication the special committee plan had been officially abandoned but neither was there anything to show that arrangements had been made for it to function. Meantime the two British places on it remained unfilled.

The understanding after adjournment of today's session which lasted an hour was that the whole conference sitting as a committee of the whole probably will fully supersede the special committee.

America Abandons Hope For General Naval Cut

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Reduction in battleships and stabilization of other categories at about the present levels—these stood out today as the principal achievements the London naval arms conference can hope to obtain.

Ten days of the most intensive work among the delegates of the other four powers have convinced the Americans that no more can be hoped for at the present conference. If they can accomplish this much there will be general satisfaction, notwithstanding the fact that such results would represent a considerable comedown from President Hoover's high hopes for "real reduction" in all classes of naval craft.

Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, who with Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, has been attacking Harbert, announced he would continue his fight to "dry up high society," begun yesterday with a charge that "real gin cocktails" were served at the Century Club in New York.

Possibility that such outstanding liberals as ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, would be the opening witnesses at the House Judiciary Committee's hearings on seven proposals to repeal or modify prohibition was discussed.

Weather Conditions.

High barometer is centered over the lower Mississippi valley and Gulf states, and relatively high barometer extends northward over the central valleys. This high barometer is causing moderately cold weather over the entire interior of the country, even over the South. It is not quite so cold as yesterday over the Ohio Valley states and southward to the Gulf states, but east of the mountains over the Middle Atlantic states there was a decided drop in temperature. The temperature at Washington, D. C., is six degrees this morning and at Harrisburg 10.

The low pressure area that appeared over the central plains yesterday morning moved rapidly northeastward. It is now centered over Eastern Ontario. It is causing cloudy weather over the northeastern portion of the country, and light snow in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio. The snowfall will be very light.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 2.0 feet; Lock No. 7, 12.7; Pittsburgh, 11.5; Dam No. 4, 9.3; Dam No. 5, 8.5; Dam No. 9, 8.8, and Dam No. 17, 3.4. The dams are up except Nos. 13 and 15. Eighth to twelfth pools full of ice.

Defense Pushes Fight For Coal Police

Roy Clunk questioned him about his gun and the way in which he subdued Borkowski.

He left in a huff when court was adjourned for the day, while the two other defendants remained to talk with defense attorneys Edward Coll and Charles Pritchard.

In his direct testimony Watts denied striking Borkowski after he had been arrested, and insisted that Lyster had not abused him, as Dr. J. M. Patterson and John Higgins, witnesses for the state, testified.

ADMITS BEATING VICTIM

Watts also explained how the trigger guard on his gun was bent, testifying that he dropped it on a concrete floor. He beat Borkowski on the face and head numerous times with the pistol when Borkowski struck and choked him, he said.

Clunk opened the cross-examination with a determined effort to find out how many times Watts struck Borkowski with the gun.

Q. Was it once or five times?

A. It may have been. I do not know.

Q. Well, was it five or 10 times?

A. Probably more.

Q. More—then was it 10 or 20 times?

A. May be. I hit him every time I could.

Q. Where?

A. The face, head, any place I could.

Clunk continued his grilling, pointed out the state testimony showing that Borkowski's body had marks all over it; on the hands, legs, arms, back, neck, face and ribs.

"Well, if he had all those marks I'm the one who gave them to him." Watts snarled in exasperation. "We fought furiously, and I finally fell on him when he slipped."

SPECTATORS WARNED

Several times yesterday the tenseness in the court room was broken by sharp tilts between opposing counsel, but the ripples of laughter that followed were instantly checked by Judge William M. Parker. Finally he declared: "Demonstrations by the spectators will not be tolerated and if this occurs again it will be necessary to clear the court room."

Patsy Caruso, a commonwealth witness, today was confined to his hotel room with a fever that kept him in bed. Caruso complained of felling ill yesterday and last night was ordered to bed by a hotel physician. It was stated that he had a temperature of 104 and that he probably was suffering an attack of grip. Caruso was brought here to testify against the three defendants but he had not been called.

Business 'Better Than Ever'—Davis

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Citing the success of President Hoover's business program, Secretary of Labor Davis declared here last night that depression failed to follow the stock market crash of three months ago because the nation has an "economic wisdom, a sound financial wisdom and a President with the necessary vision and power to lead the forces of recovery."

Pointing out that more than $7,000,000,000 in construction work already has been reported in the building program for 1930, Secretary Davis said the country was going forward, not only as if there had been no stock market crash, but "perhaps better than ever."

JUDGE COHEN FILES HANSON STATEMENT

Concurred in Sentence, Had Nothing to Do With Modification Made Later

Judge Josiah P. Cohen today issued the first formal statement on the reported difference of opinion among Common Pleas Court judges on the case of William Hanson, alleged slot machine operator, who was released from county jail last week through the modification of his sentence.

Judge Cohen's statement:

CONCURRED AT TRIAL

"In view of the notoriety given to the Hanson case, it is proper that I should suggest to the public what my identity with the case was. Having been appointed by Presiding Judge Rowand to sit with Judge Darr and Judge Ford at the hearing on the motion for a new trial, I promptly responded thereto, and argument was heard. We unanimously decided not to grant a new trial. That was virtually the end of my connection with the case. The matter of sentence was within the jurisdiction of the trial judge of that case, who was Judge Darr. He accordingly passed sentence upon the defendant, the sentence being a fine of $500, pay costs of prosecution and undergo an imprisonment of four months in Allegheny County Jail, and stand committed.

"I concurred with the other two judges in the original sentence when asked by Judge Darr, although I had, judicially speaking, no relation with that subject matter. Subsequently thereto great pressure was brought to bear upon the trial judge to modify the sentence. When the question was submitted to me, I simply answered that that matter was within the discretion of the trial judge and the trial judge only. It has been the practice from time immemorial in the administration of criminal law for the trial judge to modify the original sentence when he deems it just and proper. This power so vested in the trial judge is eminently proper and would be unjust were it not exercised on proper occasions. There is scarcely a judge on the bench in this or any other state who has not occasionally modified a sentence when justice required such. I regard it as eminently proper that that power should remain vested as it is in the trial judge.

UP TO TRIAL JUDGE

"In this particular case, I had nothing to do with the modification of the sentence. I was importuned from more sources than one to induce Judge Darr to modify the sentence. I positively refused. On the 22nd day of January, when it was modified, I was at home in the Schenley Hotel. I was not present when the meeting took place, nor did I see the order until I read it in the following morning paper. I cast no discredit whatsoever on Judge Darr for modifying that sentence if it was his conscientious conviction that justice demanded such. It was quite within his power to do so, and was a matter in which I had no judicial authority, nor did I participate therein.

"When asked by him if the modification would be correct, I emphasized that I had nothing to do with that subject. I think, however, it was clearly within his power so to do for proper cause shown. It would be a sad commentary on legal procedure if it were not so. So that I have no dispute with Judge Darr on the modification. While I did not concur, it is only just to him that I should say that if his mind was judicially attuned to the justice of the modification he made, it would have been unfair if he had not done so under such circumstances, and therefore should not be a subject of condemnation unless the discretion was badly exercised."

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The first 100 years are the hardest, according to Francisco Boggiamo, and he should know.

He celebrated his one-hundredth birthday in September. Yesterday he was strolling along when a huge truck knocked him down.

Bystanders thought Boggiamo was dead, but the 100-year-old walker hopped to his feet and started doing setting up exercises to show police, who wanted to send him to a hospital, that everything was Jake.

AUTO PLUNGES; FINGER HURT

George J. Abdou, of 5256 Beeler street, Squirrel Hill, suffered merely a slight injury to a finger this morning when his automobile struck a fireplug at Bigelow boulevard and Kirkpatrick street, crashed through a wooden railing and plunged 50 feet toward the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

When the machine came to a stop, Abdou stepped out uninjured. Charles J. Lawton, a secretary employed by Abdou, riding in the machine, escaped uninjured.

In its lunge the automobile spread an accident alarm over two police districts and patrolmen from both the Center Avenue and Penn Avenue stations responded.

Abdou, president of the Abdou Press, Inc., told police another motorist had tried to pass him while he was driving to East Liberty, and that in swerving his machine, he struck the fireplug. The automobile careened across the boulevard and crashed through the fence.

TELLS OF 20-YR. LOVE TRIANGLE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Samuel Sheffield Hutchinson, the apex of a love triangle that endured for 20 years, will continue today to reveal details of his double life in testimony in his wife's $300,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Edith P. Taylor.

Hutchinson, wealthy Chicago film distributor, yesterday declared from the stand that he preferred Mrs. Taylor to his wife, Mrs. Mattie Dean Hutchinson, because Mrs. Taylor was "modest, thrifty and kindly."

His love for his wife, Hutchinson said, began to wane six years after their marriage, when she became socially ambitious. That, he said, was in 1900. Seven years later he met Mrs. Taylor, then a student in Valparaiso, Ind., and they fell in love.

Hutchinson said his wife and he had lived separately since 1909.

Asked when he first began to love Mrs. Taylor, he said it was in 1909 or 1910. He said she first asked him if he were married in 1913.

"What was the occasion of mentioning marriage?"

"Are you the father of Mrs. Taylor's 16-year-old child, Jane?"

"I am, and I'm proud of it."

GRUNDY RAP AT HOOVER QUOTED

'Never Ran Even for Dog Catcher,' Lobby Witness Declares Senator Said

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Testimony that Joseph R. Grundy, now a Republican senator from Pennsylvania, had said at a meeting of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers prior to Herbert Hoover's inauguration that the latter "never ran for even the office of dog catcher and doesn't know anything at all from experience what legislation means" was given today to the Senate Lobby Committee.

Grundy was quoted in a speech before the wool manufacturers on December 18, 1928, as expressing concern because of the President-elect's lack of knowledge of legislative procedure and because his mind "runs on many other subjects than economic subjects."

The Pennsylvania senator, until he was named to succeed William S. Vare, was a vice president of the American Tariff League, and as such gave lengthy testimony before the Senate Lobby Committee.

"We have had hard enough times," Grundy said, "when we have had presidents who have had experience in economic problems, with tariff and taxation and things like that, let alone a man who has never had any experience of that kind. To get what we know is essential for the continuance of our business, and not only for the continuance of it, but for the development and for the expansion of it and of what has been responsible for the great growth and development of the country to the point of where we are today."

"GRUNDY'S VIEWS"

Franklin W. Hobbs, of Boston, president of the Wool Manufacturers Association, was on the stand when Grundy's speech was introduced into the record from the minutes of the Wool Association and he remarked that this view of President Hoover was "not my view."

"They are the personal views of Senator Grundy and not of the Association," he added.

The minutes also quoted Grundy as follows:

"In Congress, from my experience, the fellow that makes the most noise and the fellow that makes the most demands, that keeps his problem in front of them all the time, he gets service. If he doesn't, if he depends on somebody else to do it for him, he is going to get what we all get when we don't go after the thing the way we ought to—nothing.

"There is no use of our preparing schedules if we are going to allow Congress to drift along and let somebody get to Mr. Hoover and influence him to let the thing go until fall, and not get it done as quickly as possible, as it ought to be done."

ACT AS LAWYERS

Asked what he thought should be done before Congress, Hobbs said:

"I think we should present to the committees of Congress our views of the situation. That's all."

"Everybody will agree with that," Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, said, "but they should go home just as lawyers do when they appear before the Supreme Court."

The minutes also purported to give Grundy's views on women as related to the tariff. He was quoted as saying:

"Then we have the electorate adulterated by about one-fourth or 40 per cent of the women, who never knew anything about the tariff, and who, I think, from natural instinct, because they have been left to believe that it makes things that they buy cost more, are not sympathetic with us."

Congress Hears Music as National Anthem Plea

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The Halls of Congress rang with music today when leaders in the Movement to make "The Star Spangled Banner" the official national anthem stormed the House Judiciary Committee, demanding congressional action.

A Navy orchestra opened the hearing by playing the anthem. The entire audience, surcharged with patriotism, sprang to its feet at the first note.

Mrs. Elsie Jorss Reilly, of Washington, then sang the anthem, with others joining in.

Petitions carrying some of 6,020,000 signatures in support of the proposed legislation were displayed.

Rep. Linthicum (Dem.), Maryland, and Celler (Dem.), New York, both of whom have introduced bills to make "The Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem appeared.

Unsuccessful efforts have been made for years to obtain congressional recognition of the anthem.

Opponents have attacked it as a national anthem on the grounds it is "a hymn of hate," that it is unsingable, that it is militaristic, and that the melody is that of an old English drinking song.

Dares Snow, Sans Clothes, Wins $50 From Wife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The prize for daring—a $50 prize, incidentally—during Washington's current big snow, has gone to Andrew Madden, 23, who lives in an apartment on Spring road.

On the night the snow began a Madden family conversation, after many ramifications, reached its climax in a declaration by the husband that for $50 he would run, sans coat, sans shoes, and sans pants to a nearby bakery.

"I'll bet you $50 you will not," said Mrs. Madden.

Nor did he recall it the morning after as he awakened and looked out to see half a foot of snow on the ground and more falling fast. It did not come to mind until he looked in vain for his clothing and found only an undergarment.

"You bet me $50 that you would run up to the bakery on Fourteenth street without any coat, pants or shoes," Mrs. Madden reminded. "Your clothes are locked up."

Madden did not hesitate. He donned the union suit and out he went. There were few pedestrians on the street and they gave him plenty of room as did the customers in the bakery. Madden threw down a coin.

"A pint of milk," he panted, "and keep the change."

He sprinted the block back to his house and dashed upstairs. His wife took one look at him and paid the $50.

summons. There were many who recalled the recent re-election statement of Mayor Kline:

"To the victor belong the spoils."

"It's all politics," charged Capt. Daniel Ambrose, retired. "Roy Schooley and Mike De Rosa, the politicians, are the reasons I'm being forced to retire."

Fire Capt. Nick Phelan reported, along with many others, that they were virtually forced to retire.

MORE CHANGES DUE

Clark traced what he called the city's greatest reorganization in police and fire bureaus to Mayor Kline.

"Heretofore," explained the Director, "mayors didn't have the nerve or courage to supplant older men for younger blood."

Clark said that later shakeups on a lesser scale would follow, especially among the city detectives.

"To establish the police department on a firmer and more efficient basis.

SEEK NEW JOBS

Clark then went on to explain the advantages of a motorcycle patrolman today over an unmounted policeman and promised that more motorcycle men would be added to the force.

By the pension arrangement, the retired men will feel drastic salary cuts. All the retired men have served 20 years or more and many of them are faced with the problem of seeking new jobs to support large families.

Fire Department—Hoseman, $70; driver, $75; pumpman, $80; captain, $85.

HUNTER GETS 'PLUM'

One of the fire department's plums fell to Hugh Hunter, named instructor in the training school to succeed Louis J. Conley, who was promoted. Hunter's salary for working from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., with Saturdays, Sundays and holidays off, will be $3,180.

Patrolman John P. Pfeuffer, one of the victims, has walked only one beat in his 27 years on the force—Pius and Mission streets. The father of seven children, he was seeking a job today.

"What can I do?" he asked. "They make you retire."

VETERANS ON BLOCK

Lieut. David Fitzsimmons, veteran of 29 years' police service, was the first man called into Clark's office and asked to resign. As he emerged he was asked if he had tendered his resignation.

"What else could I do?" he interrogated as a reply.

Lieut. Luke Connors, 27 years on the police force, was the second officer led to the block. He, too, made application for retirement.

WOULD FREE 2 HELD WRONGLY

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Charles W. Green, prosecuting attorney of Jefferson County, who prosecuted Walter Hess and Alvin Craig, Festus, Mo., youths convicted of murder a year ago and exonerated in confessions by the slayers here yesterday, now believes Hess and Craig should be freed immediately.

The confessions here were made by Louis A. Taylor, 22, a former soldier, and his former sweetheart, Mamie Woolen, 24. They implicated a third man, Gilbert Browning, 25, also a former soldier who was arrested yesterday at Freeburg, Ill., and a fourth man not yet apprehended. Browning, in jail at Belleville, Ill., also has confessed.

Taylor admitted, police said, that he shot and killed Virgil Romine, manager of a restaurant at Herculaneum, Mo., in a holdup and that he was accompanied by Miss Woolen, dressed in man's clothing, and the other two men.

Romine made a death bed statement in which he said he was shot by two men with whom he had had previous trouble and who he ejected from the restaurant. Hess is in prison and Craig is under appeal bond.

Blonde May Face Ohio Murder Charge

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—That Irene Schroeder, blonde "gun woman," held in New Castle, Pa., in connection with the slaying of a state highway patrolman, may be charged with the murder of a policeman here a year ago is possible, Inspector of Detectives C. W. Cody said.

D. L. Cowles, ballistic expert, will go to New Castle next week to make comparisons of bullets that killed Corp. Brady Paul with those that killed Patrolman Carl Sherman here last spring, Cody said. Sherman was fatally wounded in a gun battle with occupants of a stolen automobile Patrolman Martin Hoffman was seriously wounded in the battle.

Man About to Die Dusts Electric Chair Clean

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—"The least they could have done was to give a man a clean chair."

Those were the words, guards said today, of Michael Sclafoni, Brooklyn gunman, just before he was executed last night in Sing Sing prison. After making this remark, Sclafoni turned around, calmly took a towel from one of the guards and carefully dusted off the death chair.

Sclafoni was put to death with Frank Plaia for the murder a year ago of Sorro Graziano and his young wife near Franklin square, Long Island.

Plaia was executed first, going to his death smilingly and calmly, after smoking a cigaret and swaggering to the electric chair.

BOY KILLER, 19, HANGED

BOONVILLE, Mo., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Lawrence Mabry, 19-year-old Sedalia (Mo.), youth, paid with his life today for a fatal robbery.

Calmly expressing innocence, the youth was hanged from a crudely assembled gallows erected for the occasion in a barn adjoining the rustic old Cooper County jail. His execution carried out the death sentence assessed against him for the murder of William Busch, law student, at Sedalia during a holdup February 4, 1928.

Mabry wagered his life against a 40-year sentence, offered him if he would plead guilty. He went to his death praying and admonishing his fellow prisoners to "go straight."

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—John Jackson, 56, Negro, was hanged in the penitentiary here at 12:13 o'clock this morning, after a broken rope had prevented his execution seven minutes earlier. Jackson stepped on the gallows at 12:05 and the trap was sprung one minute later. The rope broke and he was lifted unconscious from the floor of the death chamber. The trap was sprung a second time at 12:13 and he was pronounced dead at 12:23.

P. R. R. WORKERS GET JOBS BACK

Between 400 and 500 furloughed employes of the Central Region, Pennsylvania Railroad, will return to work as a result of the new six-day week schedule effective, today.

The announcement was made by L. M. Graham, of the Association of Shop Craft Employes, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, following the completion of a new code of working condition for employes re-sented by the association.

The outstanding feature of the new regulation is a six-day week basis for all employes heretofore required to work a seven-day week. When required to work on the assigned relief day, employes will be compensated at rate of time and half.

In addition to establishing a relief day the new code also creates additional employment for furloughed men.

The new code is already in effect in the Eastern Region, and similar negotiations are being completed in the Western Region.

CAPITAL FIGHTS HEAVY SNOW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Washington's heaviest snowfall in eight years found the capital's residents eager today to believe the weatherman's promise of fair weather and rising temperatures.

Although the snow ceased by dusk yesterday and the let-up was welcomed by the hundreds of men working with plows, scrapers and shovels to clear the streets, the mercury started on a downward course and ran well below the freezing point.

FOX CREDITORS ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—A protective committee for the holders of the Fox Film Corporation 6 per cent gold notes, which are due on April 1, next, has been formed, it was announced today. The amount of the notes is $12,000,000.

The committee was organized after proceedings were instituted in United States District Court asking receivers for the Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theaters Company.

Another development in the battle of William Fox to maintain control of his interests came with the entering of a default judgment against the Fox Film Corporation for $353,740 by the Chase National Bank. The bank alleged the money was due on a note. Attorneys for the Fox interests said the judgment was a formality to protect the bank's interests.

Meanwhile a banking committee made plans for refinancing the Fox Film Corporation. They will report in court February 11.

AMNESTY SEEN IN SPAIN

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA,
International News Service.

MADRID, Jan. 31.—The new government of Premier D'Amaso Berenguer began its career today by taking a long step forward toward keeping Spain calm until a firm basis of readjustment following the dictatorship of Primo De Rivera is established.

It was reported that the premier had decided to grant an amnesty to all political enemies of the former dictatorship. This, it is believed, will have the effect of quieting much restlessness springing from these discontented sources.

It was also reported that students and professors who had been barred from re-enrolling in the universities of Spain because of their connection with last year's student riots would be permitted to do so.

The new cabinet, it is believed, may only survive a period of transition from the dictatorship to constitutional government.

PAIR START FIGHT FOR LIVES

Both Defiant, to Enter Pleas Of Not Guilty; Blonde Loyal to Her Sweetheart

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—The trigger woman's defense will be her sweetheart's.

Side by side, this strangely mated pair — Irene Schroeder, who deserted a husband and her baby, and Walter Glenn Dague, who left behnd a wife and two children—will face a preliminary hearing today on charges of murder, manslaughter, felonious assault and highway robbery.

Behind them, according to authorities, stretches a trail of banditry and lawlessness reaching from Western Pennsylvania to the desert wastes of Arizona, where another murder is charged against them.

Defiant, they were prepared today to enter a joint plea of not guilty through the array of legal talent from two states. It was the blonde gun woman's unwavering loyalty which made it possible for her sweetheart to share with her the "best attorneys money could get."

DEFEND DAGUE

Irene's determination to stick with her sweetheart was reiterated in a note she sent to Dague in his cell in the Lawrence County jail late yesterday.

"If they want to defend me, honey," she wrote, "they've got to defend you, too."

It was not until late last night that it was authoritatively learned from Irene's counsel that they would defend Dague.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, of New Castle, verified it.

"Yes, we will represent Dague, too," he said.

This, coming after a vigorous denial by his Ohio associate, Attorney K. H. Powell, was a strong indication that Irene finally had her way.

CONSULTS IRENE

Attorney Dickey spent more than an hour with Irene again yesterday, but made no effort to see Dague. It is thought likely he will visit him some time today before the hearing.

The hearing will be held in the office of Alderman William E. Marshall, before whom Irene and Dague were arraigned Wednesday. They were not represented by counsel at that time, and their request for a continuance was granted. No more witnesses than are considered necessary to connect the suspects with the slaying of Corp. Brady Paul will be called today, according to District Attorney John Powers, who will be assisted in the prosecution by Attorney Charles Marjotti, of Punxsutawney, Pa., representing the state police, and Attorney Frank Ruff, of Jeannette, Pa., representing the family and state highway patrol.

DONNIE PAYS VISIT

Donnie, five-year-old son of Irene, spent an hour with his mother yesterday, then was taken to Dague's cell for a short visit.

Whether Donnie will be used as a witness in today's preliminary hearing was not learned definitely, but it was considered likely that he would be called. Another likely witness will be Patrolman Ernest Moore, wounded in the encounter in which his "buddy," Corp. Paul, fell.

'SUICIDE' HELD IN MAIL THEFT

William J. Thomas, Homestead youth, who gained notoriety a year ago by disappearing from home after leaving a note indicating he would end his life, was in the toils of the law today.

He was arraigned before a United States commissioner and held for court, charged with stealing letters from mail boxes in Homestead.

According to postoffice authorities, Thomas used the letters for identification purposes in passing worthless checks on Homestead merchants. In one instance he tendered a $30 check for a revolver and received $10 in change, testimony showed.

The youth's trail was found on Brown's Bridge over the Monongahela River following his disappearance last January.

He was found later to have eloped with a Homestead girl to New York, but could find no one who would perform the marriage ceremony.

PLEDGE CHICAGO $10,000,000 AID

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A pledge of $10,000,000 for the maintenance of police, fire and health protection and other essential public services was handed today to the Citizens' Relief Committee, headed by Silas H. Strawn. The pledge was made by the Building Managers' Association, a group operating most of the downtown buildings.

Lester L. Falk, attorney for the building managers, said the association proposed to take up $10,000,000 worth of 1928 tax anticipation warrants and use the warrants in payment of their taxes when the bills, long delayed by a reassessment of Cook County, were presented. The amount pledged was 80 per cent of the estimated 1928 taxes levied against Loop properties and was the largest sum thus far promised toward the $50,000,000 pool toward which the citizens' rescue body is working.

Chapel Barred to Duke for Wedding

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The Duke of Westminster and Miss Loelia Mary Ponsonby, daughter of Sir Frederick Ponsonby, treasurer to the King and keeper of the privy purse, will be married during the week-end at the Prince's row register office.

It had been expected when the engagement was announced early this year that the wedding would take place in the private chapel of the duke's ancestral seat, Eaton Hall, Cheshire. It is understood, however, that a special license is necessary for the use of such chapels, and the church authorities do not grant them to people who, like the duke, have been divorced and whose original partner is living.

Rayon Corporations' President Resigns

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The resignation of Dr. Arthur Nothwurf, president of the German-owned American Bemberg and American Glanzstoff Rayon corporations, in Eastern Tennessee, was announced today.

Dr. Nothwurf recently returned from Germany. He has been head of the corporations since their organization and was in charge of the Tennessee plants during the long strikes last spring. No successor to Dr. Nothwurf has been named.

Daughter Choked, Police Jail Mother

Mrs. Mary Tuscuzci, 36, 1413 Clark street, today was lodged in Center avenue police station on a suspicious person charge. The police were called on complaint of her daughter, Mary, 17, one of 10 children, and Mary Mazza, of the same address. According to Patrolmen Edward Kenan and Paul Jevanovic, the mother had become angry with the daughter and had trapped her in a room and attempted to choke her with a piece of rope. The girl's father died several years ago.

Senators Say Legge Caused Cotton Drop

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Southern senators today took Alexander H. Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, to task for permitting the issuance of "thoughtless, careless statements," which they said had helped to knock the bottom out of the cotton market. Senators George and Harris, of Georgia, and Heflin, of Alabama, charged one statement attributed to Legge had resulted in a $50,000,000 loss.

RENO, Nev., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—After a concluding session behind closed doors in the Washoe County District Court Sinclair Lewis, noted author, was granted a modification of the alimony provision of a divorce decree granted to Grace H. Lewis in Reno last year.

Under the modification Lewis will pay his divorced wife one-fourth of his annual gross income so long as the payments do not exceed $12,000 a year.

DOPE AT BOTTOM OF NATION'S CRIMES

By WINIFRED BLACK

Gangster war in New York.

Murder plots in San Francisco.

And dope at the bottom of every one of those things.

Penitentiaries jammed to the doors, and the builders of the new prisons can't keep up.

Reform schools packed and jammed with boys, and reform schools jammed and packed with girls.

And the 40 factories of the world working overtime turning out the vicious drugs that are beginning to befoul the world in the terrible miasma of dope.

What are we going to do about it—we Americans?

STORY OF DUPLICITY

Over at the Geneva conference the American lookers-on are beginning to hear the old, old story of duplicity and double dealing that is beginning to be something like a cruel joke.

Asia raises the crop from which dope is made and Europe makes most of the dope in her great rich flourishing factories.

And then over half of it is dumped in the United States either by way of the open law or by way of the smugglers.

When it gets here what are we going to do to keep it away from the boys and girls who ought to be growing up into courageous happy, hopeful manhood and womanhood?

Rep. Porter of Pennsylvania has two plans that he thinks will help.

One of these plans is to limit the number of druggists and doctors who are allowed by law to prescribe narcotics.

If this bill passes it will not affect in any way the reputable physicians who are doing everything they can to help in the fight against dope.

AFFECTS CHEATERS

It will simply affect known addicts and known mercenaries who have already been convicted of irregular practice in the dope line.

The best doctors in America, the best hospitals and the best humanitarians in the country are behind that bill.

The other part of Rep. Porter's plan is carried out in another bill now before Congress in Washington.

This bill provides that the government shall establish a separate and distinct narcotic bureau, with a man at the head of it who has his heart and his brain and his reputation and his ambition enlisted in the hand-to-hand struggle with the growing menace of "dope."

The narcotic bureau is now a part of the prohibition department—and it's just about time that we plain, everyday people awoke to the fact that this dope evil cannot be fought with one hand.

The present narcotic department of the prohibition administration has probably done the best it could with the men and the money and the information at hand.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

But that best is not good enough.

The dope danger is not decreasing.

It is growing bigger and stronger and more terrifying every single day.

The Porter bills mean business and every man of business and every woman of heart and good plain common sense in the United States ought to stand behind those bills and stand behind them—now.

Third Twins Born To Parents of Quadruplets

For although twins were born yesterday to his 39-year-old wife giving him a total of 18 children, Salzo proudly announced that his wife had been the mother of two sets of twins, a set of triplets and a set of quadruplets.

Of the 18 children only nine are living. The couple was married in 1912.

Wellington Phone Additions Planned

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania will soon begin construction of additions to the cable network in the Wellington central office area, according to an announcement by William Bradford, division manager for the company here. The work will be finished next fall and will involve an expenditure of more than $31,000. Records of the company show that 1,494 telephones were in use in this office in 1927, compared with 2,130 January 1, this year. This represents a gain of 636 telephones, or more than 42 per cent.

Carrick Produce Man Kills Himself

James Catalino, 59, a produce dealer of 2204 Hazeldell avenue, Carrick, committed suicide, police say, by shooting himself in the chest in his home this morning. He was found dead by members of his family who rushed to his bedroom upon hearing the shot. According to the report to the coroner, the man had been in ill health for some time. On a previous occasion, Carrick police say, the man had attempted to end his life but was halted by a relative.

20-YEAR CASE ABANDONED

A 20-year-old criminal suit in Federal district court against Thomas P. Daniels charging him with using the mails to defraud was quashed by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker on a motion filed by United States Attorney Louis E. Graham with the approval of the Attorney General.

The motion sets forth that government witnesses are now widely scattered and the records of the case show that the defendant has been a fugitive since jumping a $1,500 bond after he was indicted August 5, 1910. Postal authorities said he went to England.

Daniels operated under the name of the Realty Bond Company. Many building prior to the indictment was alleged to have used the mails in defrauding concerns for which he handled bonds. The Post Office Department issued a fraud order against him and stopped his mail after which he went to Cleveland.

He was arrested in the latter city by Postoffice Inspector George V. Craighead following his indictment and brought to Pittsburgh. He disappeared. It was said after being released on bond and never was apprehended.

Baronetcy Heir Lacks Fare to Claim Title

PEPPERELL, Mass., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Just one thing stood in the way of John Fagge, choreman, and his departure for Dover, England, to claim, following the death of his brother, a baronetcy as Sir John Harry Le Fagge. That one thing was the steamship fare.

"The title comes at a time when my funds are at low ebb," he said.

PANTAGES BAIL WRIT EXPECTED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—A writ of habeas corpus asking the release of Alexander Pantages from the county jail was looked for today after the third attempt of the millionaire showman to gain freedom had failed.

Pantages and his lawyers are seeking the vaudeville magnate's release on bail until his appeal from a penitentiary sentence for attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle is heard.

Superior Judge Fricke in denying the application for bail severely scored several attempts which he said have been made to influence his decision in favor of Pantages.

Among these Judge Fricke listed a letter written him by Mrs. Lois Pantages, asking the release of her husband "because he is a very sick man."

2 FIGHT ARREST, AUTO CRASHES

Patrolman Raymond Miller of the Center Avenue Police Station had a narrow escape from injury this morning when an automobile containing two men he had arrested ran wild down Elm street while he hung to the side of the machine fighting desperately with the driver of the car. The machine smashed into a house at 119 Elm street, the officer and his prisoners escaping injury.

Patrolman Miller had stopped the automobile at Elm street and Wylie avenue. He placed the men under arrest, it is said, when he discovered liquor in the machine. He was riding with the prisoners to the station house when police say Ernest Coachman, 35, Negro of Clairton, one of the car's occupants, tried to shove him from the running board.

Coachman and Maroon Anthony, 28, of 1818 Webster avenue, were lodged in the Center avenue station on suspicious person charges. Police later went to Anthony's home where they confiscated more moonshine, they say, and arrested Peter Anthony, 23, a brother. The three are charged with violating the Snyder act.

Suspect Detained In Overcoat Theft

James Broady, Negro, 32, of Allquippa street, was held for further investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in police court today after a hearing in which he was charged with stealing an overcoat from the hood of a motor truck over which it had been draped to keep the engine warm.

LOWDEN URGES FARM TAX AID

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP.)—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden advocated a general state income tax to replace general property taxes as one of the principal means of aiding the farmer in an address last night before the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The former governor, long a champion of agriculture, said he could not understand why financial experts had overlooked agricultural depression in assigning causes for the present general depression in all business.

In advocating tax revision, Lowden said the farm population of the nation was about 25 per cent of the whole, yet it received only 10 per cent of the national income and paid 30 per cent of that out in taxes.

"The other 75 per cent of population receives about 90 per cent of the national income and pays 10 per cent out in taxes. How long can this go on without disaster to agriculture?" he asked.

Lowden said if the state persisted in relieving income taxes to obtain advantage over other states, the federal government "may very likely treat the subject as it has taxes upon inheritance." If taxes were levied on income, the former governor said, voters would consider with greater care the need for new government activities which would enhance government costs.

"The time has come," he said, "when we must equalize living conditions of farm and town. If the inequalities continue, the next generation will witness a farm population largely composed of the physically and mentally unfit."

11 START TERMS IN BANK CASE

JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Eleven bankers, formerly trusted executives and tellers of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint, exchanged their names for numbers yesterday and began to serve terms in the Michigan State Prison here for their parts in the $3,593,000 defalcation of the Flint (Mich.) financial institution.

The men arrived at the prison in charge of Sheriff F. A. Green, of Genesee County, and five of his deputies. Sad-eyed and weary, they filed into the reception rooms of the prison for questioning by the record clerks.

During the questioning, occasional halts had to be called as the new prisoners broke down. One of them, the father of five children, sobbed bitterly while answering questions about his family.

For two weeks the 11 former bankers will remain in quarantine, which is similar to solitary confinement. Then they will be assigned to work.

Those entering prison and their terms are: Ivan P. Christensen, former assistant cashier, seven and one-half to 20 years; Elton D. Graham, former vice president and cashier; Milton D. Pollock, former assistant vice president; Mark H. Kelly, former assistant vice president; Russell A. Runyon, former discount manager, five to 20 years each; Frank D. Montague, former assistant vice president, three and one-half to 20 years; J. W. Barron, two to 20 years; A. J. Schlosser, one to 20 years; Clifford A. Plumb, Robert P. Brown and Robert H. D. McDonald, six months to 20 years each. The last four named were tellers.

Foreign War Vets Will Hold Banquet

CONNELSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Robert G. Woodside, Pittsburgh, controller of Allegheny County; Aaron R. Gardner, of Williamsport, and Congressman Samuel A. Kendall are three speakers on the program of Walter E. Brown Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a banquet which will mark the observance of the thirtieth anniversary of the outbreak of the Philippine Insurrection. The affair will be held tomorrow.

PASTOR JAILED IN SHOOTING 2

OTTAWA, Ill., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The "gossip letter," which led to the jailing of the Rev. James A. Wilson for shooting his church janitor, the janitor's wife and himself at Mendota, Ill., was revealed today by State's Attorney Russell Hanson.

It was this letter that led the 60-year-old Episcopal minister to go to the home of Amos Elliott, the janitor, and demand that it be returned to him. Elliott is said to have refused it and the shooting followed.

According to Hanson, the pastor had written the letter to Mrs. John Wagner, a widow of his congregation, and it fell into the hands of the janitor's wife. She is accused of showing it to others.

The letter read:

"Dear Mrs. Wagner: This letter asks your forgiveness. The matter has worried me more than anything else in my life. I have made a mistake.

"I wouldn't have been human if I had not and I won't be right with my God until you forgive. I have gone to Chicago to see a physician. While there I intended to end it all, but couldn't face my Maker without your forgiveness. If you give it to me I will be the happiest man in the world. If you do not I don't know what will happen."

It was signed "Wilson."

According to Hanson, Mrs. Wagner accused him of unwelcome advances.

Wilson was held to the La Salle County grand jury for attempted murder yesterday. He is recovering from self-inflicted wounds in the county jail here.

OBITUARY

Frederick B. Hussey.

Frederick B. Hussey, 50, formerly of 308 Cedar avenue, North Side, died yesterday at his home in San Mateo, Cal., it became known here today. Hussey was the son of the late Curtis Hussey and Harriet Byram Hussey. He left Pittsburgh about 15 years ago, it is said, to go into ranching and financial work on the Pacific coast. A graduate of Princeton University, he was a member of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, the University Club, and the Allegheny Country Club until he left here. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ethel Hussey; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Loughner DeVilliers, of Capetown, South Africa, and Mrs. Mabel G. Turnbull, of Pittsburgh, and a brother, John U. Hussey, of Westchester, Conn.

George Davis.

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 31.—George Davis, 43, an electrician, died at his home in Albany, N. Y., where he had gone two months ago. He was born in Wampum, but had lived here for 30 years. Davis formerly operated the Davis Electric Company. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, his widow and two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Meyer, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Harry Locke, of Sharpsville. Private funeral services will be held here Friday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Emma J. Stepp.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma J. Stepp, widow of William J. Stepp, who died last night at her home, Nixon Station, Butler County, will be held Sunday. Mrs. Stepp was a member of the Nixon Methodist Episcopal Church. She leaves seven sons and two daughters. Interment will be in Coopers-town Cemetery.

Mrs. Rose A. Glaser.

Mrs. Rose A. Glaser, 72, widow of Adam J. Glaser, died Wednesday in her home at 1765 Loretta street, Squirrel Hill. She was a life-long resident of Pittsburgh and a member of the Smithfield Street Evangelical Protestant Church and Roosevelt Chapter, Mothers of Democracy. Hubley, of Los Angeles; a brother, George Thumm, of Pittsburgh; three sisters, Mrs. Anne Hilgenberg, of Canfield, O.; Miss Mary E. Thumm, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Margaret E. Lawler, of Pittsburgh, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Houck.

She was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Homestead many years. She leaves five daughters, Miss Kathryn Houck, principal of the Homeville Public School; the Misses Annie E. and Alice R. Houck, all of Homestead; Mrs. E. T. Lake, of Sulphur Springs, Fla., and Mrs. G. M. Householder, of Pitcairn, 12 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

300 U. S. CASES ON DOCKET

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham has listed 300 criminal cases for trial at the special two-week session of the Federal Court, which will begin Monday.

The two most prominent cases on the list are the contemplated retrial of eight defendants, mostly McKeesport police officers, on whom the jury failed to agree in the recent McKeesport rum conspiracy trial, and the so-called Somerset liquor conspiracy case.

Another defendant was added to the McKeesport retrial yesterday when Judge R. M. Gibson handed down an opinion granting a new trial to Charles E. Reinhard, justice of the peace of Versailles Township, convicted in the previous trial.

Among the 15 defendants in the Somerset County liquor case are former Judge John E. Berkey and Edward Darr, chief of Somerset County detectives. This case is scheduled to start Monday, and the McKeesport case February 10.

Another case of interest will be the suit against Moody Champ, former lieutenant of police in Wilmerding, on an indictment charging him with interfering with government prohibition agents April 10, 1929, when they raided the grocery store of Theodore Uzelec, 148 Watkins avenue, Wilmerding.

Woman Whose Baby Died In Jail Tells Story

Universal Service.

SALINAS, Cal., Jan. 31.—Murder will out!

The campaign started by the Anti-Saloon League to cover up and gloss over the real conditions in the Mrs. Sue Brown case has proved a boomerang.

Throwing off the natural reticence that any woman would preserve in the circumstances, the young matron whose baby was born dead in jail, told graphically and in detail exactly what happened in the now-notorious Salinas jail, where she was sent for possessing beer.

The account was given in the presence of her husband.

The details reveal that the iniquity, perpetrated in the name of prohibition, was even more diabolical than at first supposed.

All through the early morning hours with darkness shrouding the filthy cell, she fought her battle alone—wrapping one of the rotten jail blankets around her lower limbs—trailing back and forth down narrow corridors to the so-called rest room provided for women prisoners — growing weaker and fainter with every step—until at last she crawled upon the soiled mattress of the washroom bunk and lay there praying to God that morning, and some relief would come.

If any of the preachers and county officials who met recently with the Anti-Saloon League think that she should be punished further for possession of three cases of homebrew, they should hear that story first from her own lips.

As was expected Justice of the Peace Baugh filed with the county clerk his opposition to Mrs. Brown's appeal. He contends, in effect, that she was not "railroaded" to jail as charged by her attorney.

Baugh's action means that the last hope of Mrs. Brown's name being cleared without a court battle is now lost.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.

Neil's back from London!—

—I bumped into him at Elinor's last night. Looks great. And he was wearing one of the smartest suits ever! Must have had it tailored over there."

"Don't fool yourself, Janet. That's a Fintex suit. Neil wouldn't wear any other kind. Says Fintex Clothes (they're only twenty-three fifty, you know!) are better than those he used to spend a week's salary for. He even sold me on the idea!"

Fintex quality at $23.50 has changed men's ideas about the price they must pay to get good clothes. Only the planning and power of a great organization, with its own factory and stores, could make this goodness possible at so low a price.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—John D. Seevers, of Cleveland, convicted of murder in the first degree for killing his wife, Natalie Seevers, July 25, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary by Judge R. L. Hildebrand. Seevers made application for a new trial.

As Judge Hildebrand was about to pass sentence, Seevers expressed his displeasure of the way "some frienrs had used him." He said that when his trial for the murder of Catherine Rodgers, killed at the same time as his wife, came up, he planned to defend himself, if the court permitted.

This case will not be called for trial, as Seevers will be sent to the penitentiary at once.

BISHOP WARNS OF PAGANISM

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Bishop William T. Manning, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, last night attacked Bertrand Russell, author and lecturer, and others as teachers of pagan morality.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the church club of New York, Bishop Manning said he wished to call attention to "an able, open and world-wide movement to break down and destroy both Christian faith and Christian moral standards."

As an example of the movement Bishop Manning quoted a passage from Mr. Russell's writings which said that Mr. Russell would not teach that "faithfulness to our partner through life is in any way desirable, or that a permanent marriage should" exclude temporary episodes.

"And yet this man was picked out as an example of light and leading and a fit teacher of youth, and invited recently to lecture in nine representative colleges and universities in our land," the bishop continued.

"There is only one thing that can meet this issue," he said, "and that is faith in Christ and His teachings."

SENTENCE MAN WHO FLED PEN

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 31.—Bert Ward, 26, who has served sentences in more than half a dozen reformatories and prisons, and who escaped last April from the Rockview Penitentiary, drew a term of three to six years in Judge William Parker's court yesterday.

Ward was convicted of robbing the O. A. Grimm residence in Oil City and a schoolhouse five miles north of Oil City within the last month. Ready to plead guilty to the robbery charges, he had told Judge Parker he never before had been convicted.

The court investigated and found that since 1919 Ward had been in one institution or another, starting with a reformatory in Indiana.

Judge Parker directed that the new sentence be served in addition to the one of five to 10 years Ward was serving when he escaped, and another sentence of five years, imposed by prison authorities, for escaping from Rockview.

Armory, Pensions Approved by Vets

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Harry L. McBride Post No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has indorsed the movement to secure a state armory for Troop F, One Hundred and Third Cavalry, and the bill recently introduced by Congressman J. Howard Swick providing for the pensioning of veterans of the World War.

HINDU, MOSLEM FIGHT BREAKS

DACCA, India, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Further trouble between Moslems and Hindus has broken out here. Mohammedans were arrested in connection with a disturbance in which a Hindu was seriously injured and a Hindu student stabbed.

The superintendents of student hotels were warned to keep their students indoors and to surrender their weapons, in view of likely renewal of disturbances. All educational establishments have been closed for the time being.

Assertions that suppression would only aggravate the trouble were made at Bombay by the council of the Western India Liberal Association.

Teacher Is Given New Castle Place

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Miss Sophania Louer, a teacher in the Mt. Jackson High School, has resigned to accept a position in the New Castle schools.

SOVIETS BURN CHURCH RELICS

URYUP INSKAYA, Northern Caucasia, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—To the accompaniment of harmonica playing and singing, eight wagon-loads of ikons were burned here by peasants who had joined the newly-established state collective farm.

Following their example, peasants of four nearby villages made similar bonfires of religious symbols while the onlookers cheered.

In Moscow the government ordered the bells of the city's "Forty Times Forty" churches silenced. It was stated that workers had protested that the bells disturbed their sleep. It was supposed, as has already been done elsewhere, that the bells would be melted down for commercial use in the government industrialization plan.

The bells from four churches in the town of Melekess, near Ulyanovsk, (formerly Simbirski) were removed yesterday by the government and melted down into 22 tons of metal. One of the churches was converted into a tractor plant.

CANAL BACKERS READY FOR BATTLE

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

AN AMBITIOUS young man wrote to George Murren, chief of the county detectives, the other day asking advice on how to become a detective.

"How does one become a detective, John?" Mr. Murren asked his secretary.

"All you have to do," answered Mr. Weible, "is to get your ward chairman's okay."

* * *

For those who have been mystified for years by the window-glass workers' habit of tearing the buttons from their work shirts and substituting pieces of string, we have an explanation. The workers used to operate in front of furnaces. The flames heated the buttons on the shirts and the buttons burned the chests of the men. A genius, tired of chest burns, thought of the string as a substitute, and if there are no statues to him there should be.

Incidentally, it is not necessary for window-glass workers to make the change today. Improvements in the manufacture of glass have eliminated the necessity of workmen standing in front of these furnaces. That is all we know of the manufacture of glass, except that the workers are called cinder-heads, and that Joseph G. Armstrong, the County Commissioner, was once a glass worker.

PROPAGANDISTS are circulating reports that Attorney James Magee, the former congressman, is an admirer of flannel cakes. We are in a position to deny this canard. We wish to state unequivocally that Mr. Magee is unequivocally not an admirer of flannel cakes.

It appears that a booklet indicating the favorite dishes of prominent Pittsburghers is being prepared and that Mr. Magee was listed among those who have a weakness for flannel cakes.

Mr. Magee is not, understand, prejudiced against the flannel cake. It is simply that he has no feelings in the matter. He is not for the flannel cake, he is not against it—and there you are. We admire his neutrality.

He dozed off to sleep on an Emsworth car. On the floor between his feet were his packages. In his nap he shifted a foot and bumped the packages. Out of one rolled a dozen oranges one after another. Along the floor they rolled, each stopping as if by prearrangement at the feet of the various car-riders. Twelve persons stooped and picked up oranges.

Who owned the oranges? Nobody seemed to know. The finders passed the oranges along to another bundle-laden passenger, but he denied ownership.

The rightful owner awoke, saw his oranges distributed over the car, held out the empty bag without rising and indicated with motions that he wanted his oranges. The passengers passed the oranges. The owner counted. One was missing. The passengers scoured the car for the missing orange. It was found resting under his overcoat. The orange man got up, left the car. The passengers sighed in relief.

Will Rogers Says:

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 31. — Another meeting yesterday. It looked pretty vacant without the king. Everybody made a speech and finished by proposing a resolution, none of which was adopted. Everybody spoke of what a difficult task was in front of them, but that they felt equal to the occasion. France and Italy do most of the talking.

Their oratory is out of all proportion to their naval tonnage, but the Japs never say a word or miss a word. I met Admiral Takhira, one of their principal delegates, out at Ambassador Dawes' and on leaving I shook hands with him very warmly and said: "Admiral, I am going right home to America and I want to say that I have shook hands with the winner."

Your,
WILL.

P. S.—Joe Robinson said to me: "Will, the whole thing is no different from old Arkansaw politics, only the food is a little fancier."

LOVEJOY

CHAPTER XXI.

IT came to Lovejoy that the best thing she could do would be to pick a quarrel with Tom.

For if she had a row with him she wouldn't have to tell him where she had spent the evening. She wouldn't have to answer his questions.

She could stop speaking to him that night—and she could refuse to speak to him all the next day, and the next one, too, for the matter of that.

She could make life so unpleasant for him that he'd probably be glad to mind his own business when the quarrel was patched up.

"I don't know why it's any of your business where I spent the evening," she drawled insolently. "You went out to your evening's entertainment and I went out to mine. And where I was is some more of my own business."

She yawned and looked down at her magazine again, pretending to read.

"I wasn't trying to stage a battle with you, Lovejoy," he said quietly. "I simply asked you where you were tonight when you drove out alone in my car. After all I'm your husband, and I suppose I have a right to ask you where you were."

Puzzles Tom

He Does Not Question Her Further

"Do you?" Lovejoy asked, her red lips curling. "Well, that's good."

She laid down her magazine and looked him over as he pulled off one shoe and began to unlace the other.

"A husband never looks so funny and unattractive as when he's pulling off his shoes and socks," she remarked sweetly. "All hunched over like a monkey—" she laughed.

Tom stood up, his face flushed.

"You never used to think I looked so darned funny," he said shortly.

He looked at her, puzzled.

"What's the matter with you, anyway? What are you upset about?"

Lovejoy opened her eyes wide. "I'm not upset about anything," she answered calmly. "I was just as pleasant as I could be when you came in. I asked you how much you had won at Al's poker party, and you refused to tell me. Instead of that you started to cross-question me, and I won't be cross-questioned. I have just as much right to my kind of Saturday night as you have to yours. And don't you forget it!"

Won at Game

Planned to Surprise Lovejoy With the Money

Tom stared at her a moment longer. Then his hand went into his trousers' pocket. It came out again with a handful of paper money in it. He threw the bills on the bed before her.

"I won thirty-seven dollars," he said. "I was going to surprise you with it. It's yours."

Lovejoy gathered it all into the palm of her small soft hand. She shoved it under her pillow.

When she looked up again Tom was standing over her. He was smiling.

"I was afraid you might throw it at me," he told her. "Let's not have any more of this arguing. Come here and kiss me good night and tell me where you were. I was worried after I found out you'd gone away in the car. The tires are old and they skid when it rains. . . ."

But Lovejoy drew back. "Oh, don't kiss me!" she cried out sharply. "You smell of alcohol. . . . You've been drinking! Tom, I don't like you when you're squiffy. Please get away from me!"

* * *

After Tom had gone to bed and the room was in darkness, she lay awake for a long time thinking of Steve Oglebay and the way she had let him kiss her and tell her that he loved her.

What a double-crosser I am! she scolded herself. Loving Tom the way I do—and then sneaking away from him to see Steve Oglebay!

Well, she would never do it again, she promised herself. She would stay at home and behave herself. She was no Aline—

She dropped off to sleep, telling herself that she never would be like Aline Alderson. She would never look sidewise at Steve Oglebay, or any other man, again!

But when a person has done a thing once it is so easy to do it again.

On Wednesday night at 6 o'clock Tom telephoned to say that he was going to stay downtown to have dinner with Al Alderson and another man.

"Aline is still out of town and Al's lonely," he said.

"Well, what about me? I'm lonely, too." Lovejoy answered, "and everything's ready for dinner, Tom."

Tom Detained

Tells Wife He Will Not Be Home for Dinner

Through the open door of the dining room, Lovejoy could see the table all set for the meal. The linen was like snow and Hilda kept the glass and the plated-silver shining like the moon. There was a little yellow bowl filled with white hyacinths in the middle of the table.

"I'm sorry, Lovejoy," Tom said, "but I've promised Al. I'm going to meet him in five minutes. I'll be home early."

And I won't be here when you come! Lovejoy told him in her heart.

But all she said was "All right." She hung up the receiver with a bang.

She gave the number of Steve Oglebay's office a moment later. But there was no answer. Everyone had left for the day, evidently.

At half past six she called him at his house.

"Hello, Steve," she said when he answered. "Do you want to meet me at the little moving-picture theater in this neighborhood in an hour? It's on Country Club drive a couple of blocks from Aline's house."

Steve said he would be there, waiting for her in the lobby, at half past seven. Even over the telephone there was no mistaking the eagerness in his voice.

He's a decent kind of a man, and I ought to let him alone, Lovejoy thought as she hung up the receiver and started out to the kitchen.

But one look at the pretty little dinner table made her change her mind. . . . If Tom was going to have dinner downtown whenever he felt like it, she certainly had a right to do as she pleased, too. What was sauce for the gander was certainly sauce for the goose. . . .

"Hilda," she said, opening the kitchen door, "Mr. Nicholson has just 'phoned to say he won't be home for dinner. I'm going out, too, so you may as well put everything away. You have all the chops you want and put the rest away for tomorrow's lunch."

Hilda smiled broadly. "Yeh, and I go to the Scandinavian Club to play basketball to-

Y. W. C. A. Will Close Budget Drive Today

The final report meeting of the budget campaign of the Young Women's Christian Association was to be held today at the International Institute, 405 South Dithridge street. The campaign was scheduled to close several days ago but it was extended so that greater effort could be made by workers to goal of $140,000. Miss Ida M. Allerton, general campaign chairman, said that indications point to a successful campaign.

Open Forum Over Wayward Planned

Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, of New York, will conduct an open forum Tuesday noon at a luncheon of the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. The subject for discussion will be "The Wayward Child and its Care." J. Rogers Flannery, chairman of the Federation Child Welfare committee, will preside.

Man Robbed of $80 As Bandits Bar Road

LAST DAY RUSH SWAMPS TAX CLERKS

This Year's Aggregate Is Expected to Exceed Last Period Because of Boost

Seventeen cashiers today began counting approximately $16,000,000 in City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley's office, representing last day payments for 1930 city taxes.

All of the large payers, such as the Pennsylvania Railroad, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Schenley, Denny and Henry W. Oliver estates and others usually send in their checks the last day.

CHECK FOR $1,637,269

The Pennsylvania Railroad is the city's largest taxpayer. One check for $1,583,731.31 was paid in today and three others for smaller sums, bringing the total payments up to $1,637,369.47. This sum represents taxes paid on the railroad's property situated in 23 out of 31 wards in Pittsburgh.

The checks were brought to Pittsburgh personally by C. R. Hoser, of the real estate department of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Philadelphia office. They were paid over to Treasurer Schooley by Don Mitchell, assistant tax agent of the railroad's Pittsburgh office.

TO EXCEED LAST YEAR

Last year's total collections in city taxes amounted to $30,382,065, according to Robert Torrence, cashier in the city treasurer's office. This year's total is expected to exceed that sum, on account of the tax rate having been raised. Mr. Torrence says that payments have been coming forward in about the same ratio as last year. The last day's rush always swamps the office, usually requiring about eight days to count the cash and checks.

Taxes not paid today will be payable at face value throughout the month of February. Arrangements, however, can be made to pay them quarterly.

INJURED GIRL GIVEN $7,145

For injuries suffered when struck by a motorcycle, Miss Cecyl Brewster, of 4636 Penn avenue, was awarded damages of $7,145 against the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company by a jury in Common Pleas Court before Judge James H. Gray.

While alighting from a street car at Penn avenue and Pearl street, June 22, 1928, the motorcycle cut in ahead of an automobile and swerved around the street car, striking Miss Brewster and knocking her to the street, according to the testimony. She sustained concussion of the brain and injuries to the back and face, she claimed.

TRADE WASTES DISCUSSED

The elimination of waste in industry was discussed by E. W. Ely, chief of the division of simplified practice of the United States Department of Commerce in an address last night at the monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Personnel Association in the University Club.

"Ten billion dollars have been saved in industries in this country during the last eight years through the process of simplification," he said.

Mr. Ely explained this process of simplification as the means by which the non-essential constituents are removed from a commodity and by which the cost of production is lowered.

More than half of the million dollar industrial firms in the United States expend 1 1-3 per cent of their capital annually in research and have found it the most economical branch of their business, Dr. L. W. Bass, executive assistant of the Mellon Institute said. He also spoke on waste elimination. F. C. McLaughlin, president of the association acted as toastmaster.

Injured by Cave-In, Coverdale Man Dies

A fractured back suffered yesterday morning in a cave-in of a roof in a mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, at Coverdale, caused the death of John Oprosky, 43, of Coverdale, in St. Joseph's Hospital last night, morgue attaches said.

OIL PLANT FIRE CHECKED

Eight hundred gallons of oil were consumed in a blaze which was followed by an explosion in a cross still at the plant of the Atlantic Refining Company, Butler and Fifty-fifth streets, last night.

The blast was felt throughout Lawrenceville and brought thousands of residents to the scene, police said. Houses in the neighborhood were shaken by the blast which blew off the top of the still.

Firemen from No. 9 Engine Company, several squares away, had the flames under control within a few minutes. The damage was estimated at $300.

PENN AVE. FIRE LOSS $4,000

Traffic at Penn avenue and Ninth street was tied up for a half hour last night while firemen extinguished a blaze on the top floor of a six-story building at 821 Penn avenue, occupied by the wholesale millinery firm of H. I. Goldstein and Son.

Damage estimated at $4,000 resulted when millinery and paper boxes on the floor ignited from an undetermined cause. The flames were confined to the top floor. Hundreds of theater patrons were attracted to the scene.

Airplane Service Rights Assigned

Announcement has been made today that the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service station at Bettis field had been designated as sole station for servicing Curtiss-Wright airplanes in this district.

The announcement was made in connection with a visit to Pittsburgh by L. B. Cooper, general sales manager, and J. F. Brower, national service representative, of Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, both of New York City. Cooper said he was pleased with the advancement that aviation has made here and with the outlook for its continued development.

GROUP FACTS IN SUPPORT OF PLAN

Pittsburgh Shippers Gather Statistics for Hearing in Washington on Tuesday

Pennsylvania delegates to the hearing on the feasibility of the Lake Erie and Ohio River canalization project, in Washington next Tuesday, will be fortified with a vast amount of tonnage statistics and other pertinent information.

This was made known yesterday by district backers of the proposition at a meeting held by the rivers and canals committee of the Chamber of Commerce. A. B. Shepherd, of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, acted as chairman.

FACE STIFF FIGHT

The delegation faces stiff opposition on the canalization project, William H. Stevenson, chairman of the canal board, told the members of the committee, because other interests do not favor the plan put forward by the group. For that reason, Stevenson said, delegates will be required to present tonnage statistics of business done in past years and that which can be accomplished should the project be carried to completion. Some opposition has developed in certain quarters on the alleged grounds that the program as outlined is not economical, according to Stevenson.

LEADERS AT MEETING

A number of prominent industrialists and shippers attended the meeting.

The delegation will leave Pittsburgh for the capital next Monday night. James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and James Francis Burke, chief counsel, will head the party.

95 RIVER BOATS AVAILABLE

Ninety-five boats are available at the Pittsburgh harbor for use of local shippers, according to a list prepared by Donald O. Moore, manager of the traffic division of the Chamber of Commerce, and mailed to shippers in the district yesterday.

The list, the first of its kind to be prepared to show the river transportation facilities in this district, contains the names of all vessels, including excursion, packet, freight and tow boats and dredges and ferries. The information was assembled by Moore and Charles S. Gormley, assistant, with aid of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, to meet the increasing inquiries as to river transportation.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: A Chicagoan recently stated that it takes a man from $5,000 to $10,000 a year to be "well dressed." Do you believe it?

ESTERINO RUSSO, South Hills, tailor: "Yes, to be really well-dressed, a man would have to spend every bit of that in a year. Dressing is expensive, these days. Not that many men do spend that; it's only the very unusual man who can be called 'well-dressed.' "

Esterino Russo

MARGARET NEWPORT, East End, secretary: "Oh, my soul! I've never been a man, so how should I know? I don't think it ought to cost that much, not for the average man, anyhow. A person should judge his wardrobe by his pocketbook and he doesn't have to throw a suit away after he wears it a couple of times in order to be well-dressed. Neat, careful dressing and a few hundred dollars a year will do the trick."

Miss Newport

JIMMIE MARKS, East End, captain of waiters: "No, certainly not. About $3,000 a year will keep anybody well attired and smartly groomed. It does take about that much, though. It's expensive to be really well-dressed. Few people are, because few have the money and fewer have the proper taste. But with $3,000 a year and the advice of a good tailor, and a good valet, the best of everything can be had."

Jimmie Marks

JOHN MARQUAT, South Hills, valet: "Yes, it takes every cent of that amount, I know. If I had $5,000 a year extra, it would all go into clothes. There aren't very many men these days who are well-dressed according to the best conventions. There's too much flashiness, too much sleekness, and too little of that perfectly groomed appearance today.

John Marquat

MRS. THOMAS SILVERBLATT, William Penn Hotel. "I should think the average man could be very well dressed on about $900 a year. That would include two new business suits, a dress suit, and a dinner jacket every year, with appropriate shoes, shirts, socks, stockings, hats and underwear. All in all, if a man's wife gave him $5,000 a year to spend on clothes, he'd have a big surplus left to play penny ante with."

Mrs. Silverblatt

MRS. BETTY JOHNSON, Beltzhoover: "Gee, I don't know. That seems like a lot of money, doesn't it? That's higher than the average wage earned in this country, I think. I certainly think a man could be dressed as well as necessary on a lot less money than that. Sparkling, gaudy things don't make a well-dressed man. It requires taste, judgment, and a conservative idea of what's 'right' for a man to be dressed just right. Money won't do it alone, and good taste will do it on a lot less money than you might think."

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.

IN Moscow, at a special concert given by a well known cellist, the newspaper, Vacherania Moska, reports that the admission was six pounds of rags or paper, old bottles, tin cans or a single pair of rubbers. This junk is later converted into useful articles for export. In America, we do the opposite. Many times we pay good money for a concert and get "junk" in return.

Frank Arliskas, wealthy automobile dealer of Chicago, is suing his wife for divorce. In his suit he names Lawrence Gaffney, the six-day bicycle rider. I think, Mr. Arliskas ought to forgive his wife—going around with a six-day bicycle rider would make anyone "dizzy."

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who has made a fool out of the line "it's the woman who pays," has just written a book called, "Men, Marriage and Me." If she has told the truth in the book, and I believe she has, you can buy it any place but Boston. In her book Miss Joyce says she may marry a fifth time if she finds an ideal husband who must fulfill (among others) the following requirements: He must be a gentleman, polite, he must be rich and a passionate lover.

Now, Peggy, you know that I am already married.

TROLLEY CARS DECLARED SANITARY

Semi-Weekly Baths, Daily Cleaning Halts Disease Spread, Foreman Says

Trolley riders here have the assurance of A. D. Bramwell, foreman of the Craft avenue car barns of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, that the cars in which they meander in and about the city are the last word in cleanliness and sanitation.

Resenting a letter sent by a patron of the trolley company to City Council that cars were unclean and a menace to health, and urging that a probe into the matter be started, Bramwell went through the operations of the cleaning process for the special benefit of a Sun-Telegraph reporter assigned to find out whether or not the cars were clean or unclean.

CLEANED EACH NIGHT

"Not only are trolleys cleaned out inside each night after the regular city runs," Bramwell said, "but they are washed by an automatic washing machine and then inspected by Officer John M. Boyle, of the sanitary police, who is stationed at the Craft avenue terminus."

Immediately after the run, according to the foreman, each trolley undergoes a thorough cleaning at the hands of a corps of barn attaches. These employes, armed with high pressure vacuum cleaners, brooms, brushes and cloths, dust out the interiors, wide off the windows and clean seats and flooring.

DISINFECTANT BATH

The inspector supervises each job and passes on it before the next operation is started.

After the car is renovated by a thorough dusting out, a 20 per cent solution of creolin disinfectant is swabbed on the seats, passenger straps, uprights and floor.

To make the outside appearance as clean as that of the interiors the trolleys are put on the outside loop on the barn property and run through an automatic washer and scrubber. Hundreds of gallons of water are sprayed on as the car runs the gauntlet of the "aqua bath." The next operation in the process comes when the trolley passes through an apparatus composed of four gigantic brushes which scrape off traffic dirt and dirty water. The car is sprayed again and is then ready for the street.

COLD WEATHER HAMPERS

The exterior cleaning process is extremely difficult in wintry weather, Bramwell says, because mud and slush splashed on the sides by vehicular traffic freezes and hardens, thereby making it a stiff task for workmen to augment the spraying by scraping off the caked earth.

Unlike most human beings, the trolleys get their exterior baths twice weekly instead of on the proverbial Saturday night.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

Mr. Coffman pictures for you here, imaginatively, two figures that stand at the bedside of every child.

One, mysterious, beneficent, awaits to point the way to a successful life. The other, whom you also recognize, stands ready to lead the little footsteps along the dark path of disaster.

It is an old and simple idea, one of the first ideas that dawned on humanity when it began to think. But with the coming of each generation, it is forever new.

Standing at the bedside of your own marvelous baby, you also will wonder which of these guides will lead him through life, as your parents stood and wondered when you were "just a li'l feller."

15 WHO FOUGHT MAYOR FIRED BY SHERIFF

Squabble Expected Over Chief Clerk and the Real Estate Aid; Averbach Lands

The change in the list of deputy sheriffs announced by Sheriff Robert S. Cain hardly created a ripple in political circles.

He "fired" 15 out of more than 50. All of them had opposed Mayor Charles H. Kline and his ticket at the primary election.

He replaced them with 14 new men, everyone of whom had been indorsed by the Kline ward leader, or the leader in the outside district.

The two important places in the office remain unfilled—chief clerk at $4,800 a year and real estate deputy at $6,000 a year. These are the jobs for which any real battle will be made.

Representative Joseph C. Marcus, mentioned as a candidate for real estate deputy, was eliminated yesterday as solicitor. His place was filled by B. Robert Averbach. The Averbach appointment is due directly to the influence of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

COYNE'S INFLUENCE

According to reports, Kline at first considered Averbach as an assistant county solicitor. Later he backed him for the position to which he was appointed. Averbach's place is said to be due to the influence of Senator James J. Coyne with the Mayor.

Those opposed to the administration are holding up the appointment as another indication of the enmity between Coyne and Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, both friends of Mayor Kline. The truth yesterday was that the Averbach appointment and the names of the new deputies were sent by messenger to his own office by Sheriff Cain from Schooley's office, where the two were engaged in a debate on the appointment.

SNOWBALL NAMED

Herbert Reel, who withdrew as an aldermanic candidate in the Third ward to back William Price against John Verona, was named a deputy. W. L. Snowball, husband of Mrs. Sadie Snowball, Republican vice chairman of the Twelfth ward, got one of the places. James J. Dempsey of Carnegie, backed by David B. Johns and Senator Frank J. Harris, was given a place. So was James C. Lucot, of Glassport, supported by Senator William D. Mansfield.

Friends of Senator Max G. Leslie got nothing except slips informing them that their services are no longer needed.

Fifteen were fired and 14 named. The extra appointment, according to reports, will go to Burgess John Cavanaugh of Homestead.

APPOINTEES' LIST

The new appointees are James J. Dempsey, of Carnegie; Herbert Reel, of the Third Ward; Benjamin Schusar, of the Third Ward; Thomas Conroy, of Natrona; James C. Lucot, of Glassport; Fred Walker, of the Fifth Ward; Edward McGraw, of the First Ward; William Dean, of the Twenty-third Ward; Thomas O'Toole, of the First Ward; James Simpson, of the Twenty-fifth Ward; Donald Knowlan, of the Fifth Ward; Thomas Robinson, of the Tenth Ward; W. L. Snowball, of the Twelfth Ward, and Daniel Braun, of the Eighteenth Ward.

Those discharged are George Elbel, Jr., of the Twelfth Ward; William Heck, Sr., of the Thirtieth Ward; H. C. Berger, of the Sixteenth Ward; Albert Albrecht, of the Eighth Ward; B. M. Goldsmith, of the Twenty-eighth Ward; Jacob Goldberg, of the Third Ward; George Newcomer, of the Fourth Ward; Thomas Boston, of the Fifth Ward; William Kirchner, of the Nineteenth Ward; Lewis Rosser, of the Nineteenth Ward; J. W. Robson, of Mt. Oliver; Frank Fulton, of Homestead; Ernest Mallard, of the Eighteenth Ward; William Braun, of the Twenty-sixth Ward, and James Stewart, of the Fourteenth Ward.

MUNHALL BLAST SUITS FILED

Two suits for $250,000 damages each, growing out of the gas explosion which wrecked the Munhall postoffice, were filed in Common Pleas Court by George E. Thirkell—one against the Equitable Gas Company, and Arthur E. Braun and the Colonial Trust Company, representing the property owners, and the other against the Estate of John Munhall, property owners.

Thirkell's wife, Mrs. Martha Thirkell, died shortly after the explosion as a result of injuries, and Thirkell was seriously injured, the suits alleged. The Thirkells occupied the second floor above the postoffice at 942 East Eighth avenue, Munhall, and were in their apartment at the time of the explosion December 5.

The suits alleged that a hole in the gas main had not been properly repaired, and that a resulting leak was the cause of the explosion. The gas company had knowledge of the hole, having been notified, and failed to inspect it, the suits averred. Attorney H. Fred Mercer filed the suits.

Agents Seek Owner Of Moonshine Plant

A warrant was to be issued today for the arrest of the owner of an alleged moonshine plant at 1842 Arcena street, where prohibition agents last night said they seized a 100-gallon still and 65 gallons of moonshine.

A club at 4 East Stockton avenue yielded the agents 31 pints of moonshine and several bottles of whisky when they raided it, according to their report. Frank McCoy, 48, and Michael Volpe, 36, who were arrested in the raid, were lodged in the Central Police station in default of bond, the raiders said.

COMPANY ASKS $800 IN LOOT

Judge Harry H. Rowand, of Quarter Sessions Court, today is considering a petition filed before him by the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, asking that $800 now in the custody of City Detective Frank R. Boyd be paid over to the insurance company.

This was part of the loot taken in the Tech Food Products Company payroll robbery when payroll messengers were held up and robbed of $10,563, July 29. The insurance company paid the amount of the robbery and later John B. Sloan, Joseph Maloney, A. L. Hufnagle and Robert Kitzinger were convicted after Maloney and Hufnagle turned state's evidence.

Judge Rowand granted a rule returnable February 14 on the detective to show cause why the money should not be turned over.

Count Von Luckner Faces Traffic Club

John M. Fitzgerald, assistant to the chairman of the committee on public relations of the Eastern Presidents' Conference, and Count Felix von Luckner, of Germany, were speakers at the sixteenth annual dinner of the Traffic and Transportation Association of Pittsburgh, in the William Penn Hotel last night. More than 600 members and guests attended.

In speaking on "The Railways—Everybody's Partner," Mr. Fitzgerald declared that railroads, while absolutely essential to the welfare and prosperity of the people, are not opposed to other agencies, including waterways, that are economically sound and provide a service that shippers can and will use.

GIRL, BROTHER IN DOUBLE TIE

Miss Mildred Catherine Fey, her brother, Russell Con Fey; Miss Katherine Floyd Hubbard, and Samuel James McNulty, made a secret trip to the Homewood United Presbyterian Church, Homewood avenue and Idlewild street. With their parents and the Rev. Dr. George A. Long, they gathered in the quiet auditorium of the building.

Words were spoken, rings were slipped on two fingers, and the four principals at the double wedding emerged into the street as Mr. and Mrs. Russell Con Fey and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel James McNulty.

From the church they sped to a dinner party at the Schenley Hotel, where 14 relatives and friends of the three families celebrated the occasion and accompanied them to the station, where the couples boarded a train to New York. They will leave New York tomorrow noon on the S. S. Bermuda for Bermuda, where they will spend a honeymoon together.

The brother and sister lived at the King Edward Apartments, and Miss Hubbard lived on Center avenue, in the East End. Mr. McNulty is the son of Mrs. Mary McNulty, of Mission Hills, Mt. Lebanon. The engagement had been a secret for some time before its announcement Saturday at a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Con Fey in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association.

Masked Thugs Leap From Auto, Rob Man

Four bandits leaped from an automobile and held up Christ Copetas, of 519 Hastings street, while he was walking near his home early today, and robbed him of $34. The thugs, all wearing masks, sped away in the machine.

WOMEN DEANS TO MEET

Women administrators from the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology and Pennsylvania College for Women will have a prominent part in the program of the National Association of Deans of Women to be held February 19 to 22 at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel, Atlantic City.

Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women at the University of Pittsburgh and president of the national association, will make a report. Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge, president of Pennsylvania College for Women, will preside at a joint meeting of deans of women with allied personnel groups, while Miss Mary Watson Green, dean of women at Carnegie Tech, will be in charge of a formal banquet to be held Thursday, February 20.

English Welcomes Power Engineers

City Councilman W. Y. English delivered the address of welcome at the twenty-eighth annual banquet and ball of the Pennsylvania Association No. 18, National Association of Power Engineers, last night in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Several hundred men and women were in attendance. James A. McDevitt, of Philadelphia, national president of the association responded. In his talk Mr. McDevitt emphasized the benefits of the organization and reviewed its history.

Sportsman Target For Strange Bullet

Detectives today were continuing their investigation of an alleged attempt to shoot Charles R. Hobson, of the West Run road, Munhall, president of the Allegheny County Sportsmen's Association. A shot was fired at him near the Homestead Athletic Field, late Wednesday night, he told authorities.

Two Gold Strikes Reported in Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 31.—(AP)—News of two gold strikes in Arizona was received here. From Tombstone, once famous Arizona mining center, came the report of W. E. Holt, that a rich vein had been struck in the Tombstone extension, an old mine abandoned several years ago.

Kingman, in Mohave County, was the source of the other report, which has resulted in miners from many sections flocking to the scene of the strike. Verro Peterson and M. B. Dudley, Arizona miners, uncovered the find, which they described as a rich gold vein, near the old Pilgrim mine, 30 miles northwest of Kingman.

27th Ward Women To Meet Monday

The Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward will hold its monthly meeting Monday night in the John Morrow school, Davis avenue. An entertainment program will follow the business session.

COAL TRAFFIC GROUP ELECTS

At the annual election of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau, A. B. McElveny was re-elected secretary. Directors chosen were J. D. A. Morrow, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; George H. Francis, of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company; Ralph A. Knode, of the Westmoreland Coal Company; H. T. Wilson, of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation; T. W. Guthrie, of the Hillman Coal and Coke Company; B. H. Canon, of the Clinton Block Coal Company, and R. Templeton Smith, of the Poland Coal Company.

At a conference of members of the bureau and the Eastern and Southern Ohio coal operators yesterday it was decided to proceed with a new case before the Interstate Commerce Commission attacking the lake cargo rates on coal. This will be the fourth proceeding before the commission having to do with rates during the last seven years.

Staid East Liberty 'Y' Yields to Terpsichore

An epoch-making concession by the conservative East Liberty Young Men's Christian Association to the spirit of flaming youth was revealed today in the announcement that, for the first time in the history of the institution, a dance had been held in its halls.

With permission of the constituted authorities, 65 couples danced in the "Y" auditorium. And as if the removal of the ban on social dancing were not revolutionar, enough, there was also an exhibition of high-kicking by a girl solo dancer, Mildred Segal, of the Barth School of Dancing. The rafters rang with the applause she received.

The ban on smoking still stands, however. Dancers desiring a few puffs had to leave the building.

The Sewickley Y. M. C. A. has given dances for its members for years. With the approval of the Sewickley ministers it permits its recreation facilities to be used on Sunday, too.

The East Liberty "Y" has resisted until now all efforts to modify the restrictions imposed a generation ago. The ball has accordingly been hailed as a highly significant innovation.

It was a dinner dance under the auspices of the Young Men's Division and the Dormitory Group. Mr. and Mrs. William Shipman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hastings were chaperones.

Survey Lays Crime Cause To Broken Homes

Broken homes, more than any other single cause, are responsible for crime, according to the Rev. John L. Ernst, a graduate student at the University of Pittsburgh, who has just completed a study of the religion of convicts at the Western Penitentiary.

The study was made under the direction of Dr. W. T. Root, head of psychology at the university and a trustee of Western Penitentiary.

Other interesting findings of the study were: That large families tend to suffer economic struggles and conflicts which foster crime and that compulsory participation in church and religious activities frequently result in a contempt for all authority and discipline.

Mr. Ernst, in his discussion of the broken home, states that 76 per cent of all criminals examined are products of broken homes. He also declares that the average number of children in the families of convicts examined by him is 6.5.

Other interesting facts included: That 94 per cent of those examined believed in God; that 92 per cent believed the church to be necessary; that 80 per cent of the convicts are church members; 75 per cent pray habitually, and that 67 per cent read the Bible.

Rev. Ernst has just accepted a call to a pulpit in Detroit, Mich.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Attendants Named for Wedding

WITH tomorrow ushering in another month, we are all looking forward to February events, which, by the way, are more numerous than one might have expected with so many folks leaving the city and with all the winter's debutantes presented.

There'll be weddings and benefits and informal entertainments throughout the coming weeks, you'll notice if you check over your social calendar for February.

* * *

ONE of the first weddings of the month will attract many folks to New York. I'm referring to the wedding of Elizabeth Armstrong, daughter of the Frederick Searles Armstrongs of Park avenue, Gotham, and Beverley Randolph Shriver, son of the Van Lear P. Shrivers, of Seckley Valley.

And the ceremony will take place on Wednesday in St. Bartholomew's Chapel, New York, with the Rev. Dr. Roelif H. Brooks, rector of St. Thomas' Church, Gotham, officiating.

And Marjorie Kimball, daughter of the G. Cook Kimballs, of Beechwood boulevard, will be one of the bridesmaids. Mrs. Reginald Fullerton, of New York, will be matron of honor, and Suzanne Armstrong will be her sister's maid of honor. And the bridesmaids will include Marjorie and Frances Marion Miller, Mary L. Todd and Mrs. Meridith Brown, all of New York.

Van Lear Perry Shriver, Jr., will be his brother's best man, and Reginald R. Church, of Pittsburgh, and Samuel E. M. Crocker, Jr., Reginald Fullerton, Charles L. Bell and Kenneth Walker will be ushers.

There'll be a reception at Sherry's after the wedding, and upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. Shriver and his bride will live in Pittsburgh, of course.

Marjorie has been in New York this week to attend the many entertainments given for the bridal party.

* * *

THE C. F. Pretlows of Beechwood boulevard, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Carlotta Nash, to Hudson G. Samson, son of the Harry G. Samsons, of Morewood Gardens, which took place last night. A dinner at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club followed with only members of the two families present.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester School and Mr. Samson of Princeton. After a West Indian cruise they will live in Pittsburgh.

* * *

DID you know that Mrs. S. Davidson Herron and her two children are down in Pinehurst, the guests of the Norwood Johnsons, Mrs. Herron's parents?

The C. Bernard Sheas are in Pinehurst, too, and Mrs. Sarah Pownes Wadsworth, Mrs. William G. Pownes, Jr., Helen B. Morrison and Mrs. G. A. Magoon.

* * *

LAST evening at 8:30 o'clock Miss Louise Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Kelley, of Orleans street, became the bride of Harry William Walker, son of Mrs. Harry C. Walker, of Perrysville avenue. The ceremony was performed in the home of the Kelley's before an embankment of cibotium ferns and spring flowers, by the Rev. Frank J. Bryson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, North Side.

The bride wore a gown of white duchess satin and her veil was of duchess lace and tulle caught with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lillies and orchids. Miss Jane Owen, the maid of honor, wore peach satin, with brief train in back and reaching the instep in front. Her flowers were Pernet roses. William Walker, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Miss Kelley's two brothers, Diehl and Frank K. Kelley, Jr., were ushers.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. William Stone and her daughter, Miss Betty Stone.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's home and receiving with the bridal party were Mrs. Walker, wearing black chiffon and Chantilly lace, with a corsage of violets, and Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, with Mrs. Kelley wearing a gown of green lame and silver. She also wore a corsage of violets.

The dinner table was decorated in pink and white with a centerpiece of pink roses and lilies of the valley and white tapers in silver candlesticks. On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelley entertained the bridal party in their home and covers were laid for 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker will go to New York and Atlantic City for their honeymoon and will visit other eastern cities. They will be at home after March 1 in Perrysville avenue.

* * *

MRS. EDMOND ENGLERT of Beechwood boulevard, will sail tomorrow night on the new City of New York for South Africa. She plans to return May 7.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. GRANT W. VAN GORDER, of Macon avenue, Regent Square, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Van Gorder, to Gilbert N. Hersberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hersberg, of Lafayette street.

* * *

MISS MARGARET M'QUADE entertained at a bridge party in honor of several friends on Tuesday afternoon in the red room of the Keystone Athletic Club. Fifteen tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. Henry Rowen, of Boston, was the guest of honor.

* * *

A CARD PARTY for the benefit of the Holy Trinity Church, Center avenue, will be given on Tuesday at 9 o'clock in the church school rooms.

NU TAU GAMMA SORORITY will hold a dance in the Alcoma Country Club tomorrow.

Glenshaw-Etna Hike Arranged for Sunday

The Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk from Glenshaw to Etna in its weekly hike, Sunday. Mrs. J. I. Hommel will lead the expedition. Members are directed to take a Butler Short Line car to Glenshaw, leaving Duquesne way and Sixth street at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon.

Congress of Clubs Votes To Elect Officers in May, Install in June

BY voting at the quarterly meeting held yesterday to change the by-laws, the Congress of Clubs hereafter will elect its nominating committee in March instead of January, will hold its annual meeting in May instead of April and new officers will assume their duties the first of June instead of May, thus making a year more harmonious with general club machinery.

It was also decided that department heads may not hold office longer than two years and that the board will elect new heads upon recommendation of the departments.

Assembly singing was led by Elsie Breese Mitchell, music chairman, with Lulu B. Parker at the piano, and at the afternoon session Gertrude Clark Hartman offered a group of contrallo solos, accompanied by Kathryn Brose. Mrs. S. R. B. Stewart read Mrs. Sydney Kaufmann's report of the Cause and Cure of War Conference, but the chief speaker was El Comancho, former Indian scout, who gave the audience a talk such as they have never had before. El Comancho was a trapper in the days when the Burlington was building its road through the West and when, in the speaker's words, "we went out and licked the country and lived off it." El Comancho, in his corduroys, was a picturesque and strange figure on the Congress platform, but he made himself a decidedly welcome one. He tells his story, most of it bits of more or less related history, with the poise of a professional speaker, with rare, native humor and in characteristic language, albeit good English.

Particularly stirring were his anecdotes concerning Calamity Jane, the dance hall girl, and first white woman in the Black Hills, who dropped her hard-boiled masculinity when a woman's care or charity were needed, as in the case of a smallpox epidemic or that of the homesick soldier whose uniform she donned and whose place in ranks she took after sending him on his way in civilian clothes. "Whisky Nell," who left her wealth, acquired through gambling, to found a home for girls, was another figure recalled to his hearers. Then there was the thrilling account of how he "took a million to one chance" and broke a stampede of Texas steers, which, as he said, "have more hide and hair and hoof than any other four-footed animal and can outrun a jack-rabbit and loaf part of the time doing it."

LADY CLARE ANNESLEY, of London, England, one of the woman suffrage pioneers, Labor party leaders, and a crusader for world peace, arrived in Pittsburgh today. She will be the guest of Mrs. Carroll Miller, of Von Lent Place, during her stay, which terminates tomorrow night. She is speaking on international peace at a tea this afternoon in Mrs. Miller's home under auspices of the Women's International League for Peace, and tonight will address the students of Carnegie Tech.

Lady Clare joined the Labor movement in England in 1915, twice stood as candidate in that cause for parliamentary election, and has been an active party leader for the last 15 years. At present she has no government affiliation, and is devoting herself to the cause of international peace and a better understanding among the peoples of the world. She came to Canada last October, and has spoken to numerous colleges, clubs, forums and other organizations in that country and the United States since.

A GAY NINETIES tea will be part of Monday's meeting of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Club in the Y. W. C. A. Community House, to which the members will come in costume. Under Miss Helen Pershing's leadership, Mrs. S. H. McKee will give "Echoes of the Nineties" and songs of the period will be sung with the club choral leading and Mrs. J. L. Hickernell directing. The chief program feature of the afternoon will be a cartoon talk by Cy Hungerford. Mrs. R. C. Beerbower and her committee will serve tea.

As its part in the observance of National Drama Week, the club's drama department will sponsor a special program in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel Tuesday morning, February 11. Two one-act plays will be given by the Pitt players under the direction of Jane Ellen Ball, and Mrs. Dean Harvey will speak on "The Church and Drama League," and luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock. Members are privileged to bring guests, but reservations are to be made by Monday with Mrs. Guy P. Scott, chairman of the department.

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Jan. 31—Ties of affection is our name for the scarfs that from time to time and season to season appear on coats and dresses, disguised as trimming and often contributing a lively note to an otherwise somber regarment. Scarfs, have played such an important role in the pageant of the mode that they have become an essential part of our wardrobe not necessarily as a trimming but as a very delightful and colorful accessory. The bow is another trimming that has been at fashion's feet, and its petition was answered this season by the bow-frock sponsored by Chanel, that made ever so many dresses "bow conscious."

* * *

WE note, too, that fashion has had plenty up her sleeve in the form of all sorts of original and clever treatments accorded to that part of our dresses. Quite a degree of popularity was achieved by the plain dress with a jewelled sleeve in marked contrast. Coat sleeves have been subjected to all kinds of treatments both in cut and the placing of fur trimming. Many dresses sport butcher cuffs, while others show the three-quarter sleeve that can be tied or fall in soft folds from the elbow. Little puffed sleeves have contributed much to the charm of the evening mode with their quaint and demure note.

* * *

BOTH the scarf and the sleeves are features of the smart coat shown here which is from Georges et Janin. It is of black velours and is trimmed with black astrakan. The scarfs are of black satin and are used at the neck and at each side pocket. Deep pleats at each side of the coat give a flare to the silhouette. The puffed sleeves have narrowing points of fur running up to the elbows.

* * *

THERE is a joyously youthful note about the frock which found a prominent place in the mid-season collection of Martial et Armand. The bodice and skirt are of heavy black crepe and the collar, jabot and the wide bloused sleeves are of white georgette edged with lace. The circular set-on panels at the side of the skirt are somewhat longer than the actual hemline. Fine tucks decorate the georgette as is the case with many of the frocks designed for Riviera wear.

1,900 AT HOOVER SENATE FETE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—President and Mrs. Hoover were hosts last night to 1,900 guests at a reception given in honor of the members of the United States Senate.

The function was the second of the White House official season, the first having been given for the judiciary.

The reception for the Senate was the first one of its kind in the history of the White House. Heretofore the White House social card has shown a single reception for both the House and the Senate. It was explained at the White House when plans for this season were announced that eight receptions would be held instead of four as has been customary in the past.

Says Dr. Benedict Lust of New York

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M. D., D. C., N. D.)

ENJOY THE HEALTH THAT FLAXOLYN CAN BRING

Get a New Kind of Sound, Refreshing, Invigorating Sleep--- Eat With Keen, Hearty Appetite---Have That Ruddy Glow of Health Overcome Constipation. Get a New Grip On Life, With the Help of Flaxolyn

Dr. Benedict Lust is known far and wide as the man who introduced to this country the famous "drugless healing" method of the great Father Sebastian Kneipp.

There is no figure in the professional world who has done so much to promote the teaching of "Health Though Natural Means," than Dr. Benedict Lust.

And there is no one who realizes more forcefully than he, that in these modern times, people often need a good natural tonic for greater energy and vitality. In the course of his wide experience, Dr. Lust has examined and tested hundreds of preparations of all sorts and types.

Yet for the purpose of driving out toxic poisons which tear down your health, for the purpose of regulating the bodily processes, and building up fighting power and vigor, Dr. Lust has found nothing to equal Herbal Flaxolyn.

It is well known to the medical profession that Acid-dyspepsia, gas, bloating, biliousness, vertigo, heartburn, headaches, pains in back or in the joints, nervousness, pale sallow cheeks, and many other distressing troubles have their root in constipation.

DR. LUST Says:

"I have been using Flaxolyn as a health measure in my treatments of patients at the Butler, N. J., and Tangerine, Florida, health resorts," says Dr. Lust.

"I find it a great help in assisting the process of elimination by irritants from the system. It helps check sickness by bringing the body back to its normal stage, giving new power and strength by aiding the action of the stomach and kidneys. It is certainly a natural remedy and complies with the teachings and tenets of such Naturopaths as the great Father Kneipp, personal physician to Pope Leo XIII (1892), and other authorities of natural healing.

"I recommend Flaxolyn heartily as an aid to those generally sick and ailing, from conditions that are caused by constipation and its attendant ills."

Dr. Harris H. Luntz, well-known physician, spent over 25 years developing the pleasant liquid Flaxolyn formula. From the earliest days of his career, in the little office on 13th Street, Philadelphia, he labored night and day perfecting it.

The Pleasant New Vitaminized Herbal
FLAXOLYN

Made after the formula of Dr. Harris H. Luntz (M. D., D. C.). Flaxolyn contains many of the good, old fashioned herbs you and your family have known for years. These herbs are gathered from all over the world. They are carefully brewed with other highly approved medicaments, including Vitamine E extracts.

1. Baked Flaxseed—Relieves constipation; acts as astringent.
2. Sarsaparilla Roots—The good old-fashioned system cleanser.
3. Buchu Leaves—Purify stimulate kidneys and bladder.
4. African Ginger Roots—Quickens flow of vital digestive juices.
5. Dandelion Roots—Purify the liver and blood.
6. Cardamom Seeds—Act on the stomach lining. Aromatic tonic.
7. Chinese Rhubarb—Invigorates stomach and liver.
8. Spanish Licorice Roots—Removes tobacco that may clog and poison digestive organs.
9. Culver Roots—Stimulate natural bile-flow; so purify liver.
10. Gentian Roots—Create healthy, normal appetite.
11. Belgian Valerian Roots—Tone nerves and induce restful sleep of health.
12. California Bark—Cleanses colon and removes foreign matter from intestines.

Thousands Find the Way to Health Through Flaxolyn and Write the Most Wonderful Letters to Dr. Luntz, in Grateful Appreciation of the Help His Herbal Formula Has Given Them.

Every mail brings to Dr. Luntz letters from doctors, congratulating him on his remarkable formula. But even more important than those letters which come from members of the profession, are those from the general public—from the users of the new Flaxolyn. Some of these letters are really touching in their sincere statements of what Flaxolyn has done. Letter after letter tells how Flaxolyn has not only brought a newer and higher level of health, but a new ambition and new hope.

Just take the case of Mr. Elmer C. Myers, of 2720 South Sheridan St., Philadelphia, Pa. He says: "I have been suffering for three years with awful, sharp pains in the stomach under the heart and tried about eight medicines which would relieve me for about two days, and then the same old pain would come back again.

"I bought a bottle of your Flaxolyn and took two spoonfuls and the next morning I got up without any pain and no tired feeling in my knees, and I felt stronger than ever. I am feeling fine and haven't even my pain in the back.

"I recommended it to my father-in-law and got him a bottle and the next day he sent me word he is feeling fine—and he is 72 years old. I, therefore, am telling not only my friends, but everyone with whom I come in contact who says a word about his stomach.

"I am going to stay using it as I think it a miracle and hope it continues doing good not only to me but to every one who uses it.

"I hope you will excuse the long letter as it expresses how happy Flaxolyn made me feel not to have pain."

Other Treatment Failed to Help This Port Matilda Man. Yet Flaxolyn Brought Splendid Results.

"I had been trying various medicines and treatments," says Mr. Wilson, of Port Matilda, Pa. "I got no relief at all from any of the treatment. I was at home just as sick as ever when my daughter-in-law, who was using Flaxolyn, sent me some. Since I started taking this I felt better and I have never had a sick spell since. I cannot praise Flaxolyn too much."

Mrs. H. C. Layer, 410 Grape St., Hammonton, N. J., says:

"One sentence expresses my thoughts regarding Flaxolyn: 'It's Great!' a medicine that 99 out of 100 need."

Don't wait—delay only makes your condition worse. You can't get that feeling of being all atingle with health, by just "thinking about" taking Flaxolyn—you've got to try it to appreciate its benefits.

The demand for Flaxolyn has been so tremendous that every drug store now carries it.

Clip Out This Important Money-Back Guarantee As a Reminder

1. Flaxolyn is safe and harmless—the herbal extracts are fortified by valuable ingredients, approved by the highest medical authorities.
2. If you are not satisfied with the results from Flaxolyn by the sixth pleasant spoonful, you are privileged to return the partly-used bottle and obtain a complete refund of your purchase price.

You take no risk in trying Flaxolyn. It can do you no harm and should do you a great amount of good.

POLICE BATTLE HAMBURG REDS

HAMBURG, Germany, Jan. 31—(AP.)—Most severe police measures, including street patrols by motor riot squads, held in check last night Communist riots which had disturbed the city for much of the day.

After several hours of intermittent fighting the police counted 11 injured in their ranks and as many among the Communists. It was possible that more rioters were hurt, for they took away their own injured and a checkup was most difficult.

The Most serious encounter was at a new building which is to be the headquarters of Nationalist commercial employes. Communists barricaded themselves there and showered the police with stones and other missiles. It took the police more than an hour to rout them. Twenty rioters were arrested in the course of the day.

The Twentieth Century Club presented Katherine Gorin, pianist, in recital yesterday afternoon. The program was made of little known Brahms music, a gorgeous suite of Cesar Franck, a dignified group of Chopin, and some salon music by pianist-composers of our own day.

J. Fred Lissfelt

Miss Gorin immediately engages attention by her tone, which is more characteristically pianistic than any of the lady players we have heard in some time. There is a sonority which enriched the Franck music, and a flexibility that bound it to most satisfying unity. Those very qualities were most adaptable as well to the playing of Brahms, only in these compositions, a greater clarity in the thematic outline would have lifted them to real heights. Miss Gorin need not to have feared a greater bravura in all her playing, for she seemed most capable of restraining herself from inartistic results. J. FRED LISSFELT.

Additional Club News

"LADY CATERPILLAR" Fay Gillis is to be a guest at the Artists' and Adsters' Friske Frolic, the costume ball of the Women's Advertising Club, tonight in the William Penn Hotel. Miss Gillis is the first woman (there are only two) to gain membership in the Caterpillar Club, mythical society of aviators whose lives have been saved by parachute jumps from planes disabled in flight. The club takes its name and its insignia from the Geometridae caterpillar, which lets itself down to earth on a self-spun thread of silk. Miss Gillis' descent was made while flying with Lieut. John L. H. Trunk over Curtiss Field, September 1, 1929, when an experimental plane "flew to pieces." She was back in a plane a half hour later acting as her own pilot. Miss Gillis has the distinction of being the first airplane saleswoman to be employed by a national firm. She started flying August 6 of last year, after having left college because she "found it dull." Two months and three days after she started instruction she received her license. She likes swimming, tennis, basketball, track—everything but golf, she says, and adds that she is interested in art, but that she has kept house (for her father, sister and brother) too long to be violently interested in domestic art.

PLAN TO SELECT NEW PRIMATE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A wireless message naming Chicago or St. Louis as the scene of a special meeting of the house of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church to select a successor for the Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, presiding bishop of the church, who died yesterday in Chicago, was received from the Rt. Rev. William A. Leonard, senior bishop.

Word of Bishop Anderson's death had been dispatched to Bishop Leonard, who sailed Wednesday from New York on the liner Staatendam for a cruise of the West Indies.

In the message, Bishop Hugh L. Burleson, assessor to Bishop Anderson, was named assessor to the senior bishop, pending the election of a new presiding bishop. He was instructed to arrange for the special meeting either in Chicago or St. Louis.

The successor elected at the meeting will serve until the next general convention of the church, which will be held in Denver, late in September, 1931.

The unenlightened woman who still suffers every month, receives little sympathy when she could so easily end those pains with Midol. This merciful medicine is not a narcotic, you know. Nor does it interfere in the slightest with the periodic process peculiar to feminine nature. It does banish the pain—in five to seven minutes. Because it acts directly on organs affected. If taken ahead of time, you may avoid a single uncomfortable moment. Try to realize what a truly wonderful discovery this is; it has made at least one form of suffering quite needless. When every drugstore has these harmless tablets isn't it foolish to be a martyr? Midol costs fifty cents, in metal case.*

LOIS MORAN IS PAID $26,000 TO FORGET "BRIDE 66," WHISPERS SAY

BY DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.

A SERIES of circumstances that may or may not be important have resulted in Lois Moran departing the featured fem role in Arthur Hammerstein's initial screen operetta, "Bride 66." Lois has been under contract to United Artists for umpty ump weeks. She has made ditto tests and all that sort of kesker-say. Now United Artists decides to seek further for the singing lead. According to the yarn whispered to this department, Miss Moran received $26,000 to forget her contract for "Bride 66." Incidentally, Rudolph Friml, who wrote the musical score for this vocalloid, has delivered himself to the studio exeks and peace (in a measure (pun) now prevails.

Lois Moran

They tell this on about Stepin Fetchit. Years ago, when he hoofed New York in dusty shoes and knew celluloid only as collars, Fetchit was among those to watch the St. Patrick's Day parade march down Fifth avenue. Stepin stood on the curb eating an orange. A big Irishman separated himself from the parade and strode off to Fetchit. He socked him a solid one. The unprepared victim dropped the orange. The Irishman pointed to it.

'Oliver Twist' As Talk Film

FROM an authoritative source, this bureau hears that Lionel Atwell, W. K. Broadway star, comes to ye Gold Coast to portray the role of Sykes in "Oliver Twist," which Lionel Barrymore is to megaphone. Ruth Chatterton is also in the cast. There should be more names, but off hand, I be darn if I recollect 'em. And the telephone is a good five feet away.

Lionel Barrymore

Over on the RKO lot Ned Sparks walked up to a prop man with: "Have you a bucket around here?"

"Sure."

Sparks looked over the assortment. "Too small."

"What do you want with it?" the propman remembered to ask.

BERT LYTELL Answers

Bert Lytell, noted stage and screen star, now appearing in the legitimate drama "Brothers," in the Nixon, today replies to more questions that have been asked him by readers of the Sun-Telegraph. The answers follow:

Steve Zavinsky—My advice to all young people is to think carefully before adopting the theater in any form as a vocation. We only hear of the successful ones, but there are thousands of failures. The chances for success are few.

Louise Murphy—Thanks for the compliments. Yes, Warner Baxter is a handsome, likeable chap. He is married to an actress, whose name I can't recall just now.

Milton J. Goldbloom—Will be glad to see you after the matinee, but advise you to keep away from the stage.

Rose Roth—Don't know if Charles Farrell is engaged to Virginia Valli. Janet Gaynor is married to Lydell Peck, a stock broker.

Sally Hope—(1) No. (2) Clara Bow is her real name. (3) She is a box office favorite. (4) I don't think she'll continue to be long with the poor stories she's been getting. (5) She's as beautiful in real life as she is on the screen.

Papa Juan

Otis Skinner, in the title role of "Papa Juan," coming Monday to the Nixon, is seen as a gentle, witty and philosophical old gentleman, who not in the least has been withered by age.

OTIS SKINNER COMING IN NEW ROLE

"Papa Juan," from the Spanish, will serve as the medium for introducing Otis Skinner in a new role in the Nixon next week. He is a gentle, sweet wise, witty and philosophical old gentleman, and age has not withered him in the least.

In "Hamlet," to be played next Friday night by the Chicago Civic Shakespeare Society players in the Alvin, Fritz Leiber makes of the title role a figure of deep preoccupation rather than the violent Hamlet often portrayed by others—a man of pervasive gentleness, amazed and puzzled, but never terrified, a new and logical character, it is said.

Henry Wadsworth, former drama student at Carnegie Tech, who has appeared in numerous stage and motion picture productions, will appear in the Pitt next week as the new juvenile with the George Sharp Players. The play will be "Jonesy."

Dolly King appears in a novel dance, called "The Butterfly Dance," at the Winter Garden Roof, atop the Hotel Mayfair, this week. She is featured in Billie Kane's Review, which is playing a return engagement there this week.

Bulletin, Index Announce Merger

The Bulletin and the Index, well-known Pittsburgh weeklies specializing in society news, announced today that they had combined and would appear, beginning with tomorrow issue, as a single publication to be known as the Bulletin-Index. The Bulletin was founded in 1876 by the late John W. Black as "the East End Bulletin," and passed to the present management, that of his son, T. Howard Black, in 1913. The Index was founded in 1899.

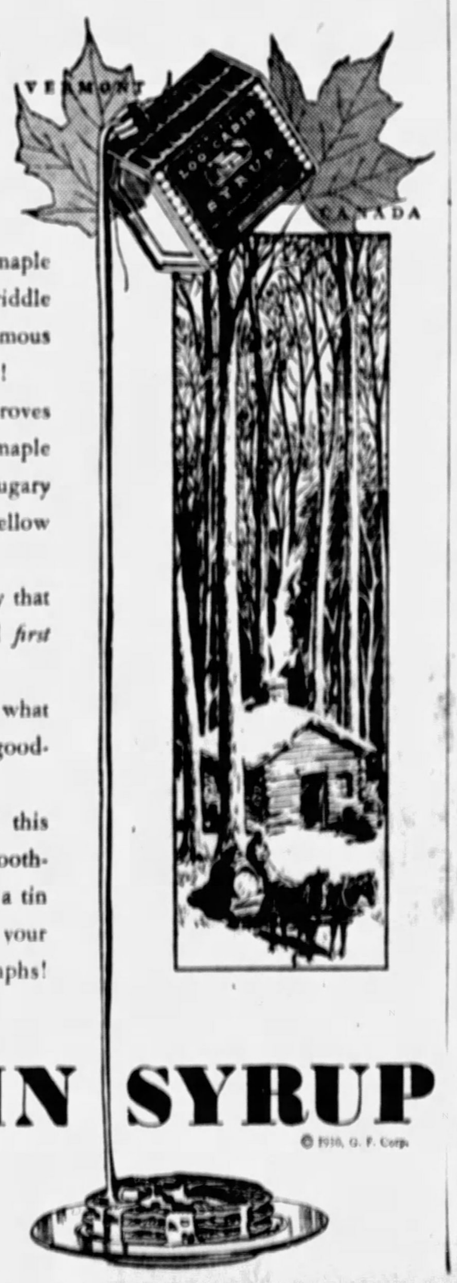
MAPLE blended with MAPLE gives it DOUBLE maple goodness



No wonder Log Cabin works such maple miracles with steaming stacks of griddle cakes and waffles. It takes two world-famous maples to make this maple masterpiece!

It takes maple from New England groves for flavor of spring-frost delicacy . . . maple from Canadian lake-land forests for sugary richness . . . and pure Southern cane to mellow two.

The result is a perfect flavor harmony that has won this matchless maple blend first place at America's breakfast table!

But words fall short in telling you what only Log Cabin's golden, dripping goodness itself can tell your taste.

Don't delay another day in trying this marvelous syrup. And don't confine its soothing sweetness to breakfast alone. Tap a tin and let Log Cabin's maple touch turn your dinner desserts into a feast of maple triumphs!

4 ACCUSED IN AD SCHEME, HELD

Four men accused of using the name of the Police Pension Fund in an alleged fraudulent advertising scheme were held today for investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg at a hearing in Central Police Station.

It is alleged that Sinclair worked under Shanahan, and that $20,000 is involved. Attorney Louis Little said. Solicitations were made by telephone for the Parking and Traffic Guide, a legitimate booklet. It is claimed prospects were told that the money for advertising would be turned over to the Police Pension Fund.

Harry Scholes, 1701 Brighton road, and Anna Scholes, 1239 West North avenue, were witnesses against the accused. It is stated that other informations will be made.

The names of various police officers were used by those, it is alleged, who did the telephoning for advertising.

HOLD CAB GUARD AND PAL

Police today were investigating the records in Youngstown, Cleveland and Detroit of two men arrested last night as suspicious persons. Taken into custody at Third avenue and Cherry way as they stepped into a parked car, they described themselves as John Selfringe, 25, Kittanning, and Joseph Sevik, 28, alias "Detroit Whitey," Tarentum. On their persons were a riot stick and a number of obscene pictures.

Selfringe said he was a deputy sheriff for the Yellow Cab Company, and had struck up an acquaintance with Sevik along the water front of the Monongahela River. In Police Court this morning, Magistrate Leo Rothenberg ordered the hearing continued until tomorrow morning, while police investigate their records in other cities.

Plant to Reduce Output of Copper

CLIFTON, Ariz., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A 40 per cent curtailment in copper production, to begin February 9, at its Morenci smelter here, was announced by the Phelps-Dodge Corporation.

The cut will be effected partly by establishment of a five-day week, which will obviate the necessity of laying off employes. The present condition of the copper market was given as the reason for the action. The Morenci smelter has been producing 5,100,000 pounds of copper monthly.

Bicycle Rider Struck By Automobile Dies

2 Quarts of Poison Wine Kill Policeman

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(INS.)—Policeman Augustine J. Healy, 31, was dead here today after drinking a half gallon of supposedly poisonous wine. His widow, Mrs. Electra Healy, told police she warned her husband not to drink the wine, but that he threw her across the room and consumed two quarts. Before he could receive medical attention, according to Mrs. Healy, the policeman died.

FILM SAFETY HEARING HELD

The third of a series of public hearings on proposed regulations for the storage and handling of photographic and X-ray nitrocellulose films was held by the Industrial Board of the State Department of Labor and Industry today in its office in the Fulton Building.

The rules are designed to prevent fire and panic and were inspired by the X-ray film fire in a Cleveland hospital, which cost many lives some months ago.

The regulations will not apply to Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton, which have their own rules. Representatives of several Pittsburgh hospitals and commercial photographers attended the hearing however, and asked questions.

Others in attendance were Peter Glick, secretary of labor and industry; R. A. Elstner, of the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County; S. W. Homan, of the Bureau of Standards; Mrs. Hugh Neely Fleming, of Erie; G. W. Fisher, of Huntingdon; A. L. Linderman, of Pittsburgh, these last three being members of the Industrial Board, and J. S. Arnold, secretary of the board.

Man Hurt in $1,000 Junk Shop Blaze

Hoseman Thomas Jenkins, of No. 3 Engine Company, suffered cuts on the right hand this morning while fighting a fire in the rag and junk shop of Louis Solomon, 1612 Forbes street. He was able to continue work after first aid treatment. The firemen had a difficult task extinguishing the flames that smouldered in the piles of rags. Batallion Chief Frank Harris estimated the damage at $1,000.

Alien Constable Hunts Gin, Gets Wrong House

Alvin Watson, 29, constable of Bradford Woods, came here to see "Blossom Time" at the Alvin Theater, he testified in Morals Court today.

He left his wife at the theater, he said, while he and a friend scouted for gin. At 619 Foreland street, North Side, they rapped on the door and peered in a window. Children within screamed. Their mother, Mrs. Anna Kuntz, and Patrolman J. L. Chandler, a relative, rushed out. Watson was arrested.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'Tiny Vaudeville Star Marries Amazonian Strong Woman

SOME might think, from so often hearing that vaudeville curse, "I hope all your children are acrobats," that jugglers, strong men and acrobats are not quite human.

It isn't true, of course, and I say so, who ought to know for I have been associated with them, more or less, a great many years.

Ever since I was 18 years old, six feet tall and temporarily obsessed with the idea that I was soon to set the world afire as the greatest tragedian of the boards, bar none, I have mingled with those erratic but most lovable and human of all stage people, vaudeville performers.

When I quit my job in Higgins' hay and grain store to join up with a stock company my first part was that of Shylock. At the end of the first week Miss Ollie Treverton, leading lady and owner of our company, made me business manager so I could only do bits like a Roman soldier or a horse approaching "Off L." A year later I married her, but this isn't a yarn about myself, to any great extent.

In those days small-time stock companies didn't fare so badly, but with the advent of pictures the sticks got better entertainment for less money.

Ollie got wise to herself. She could sing and I could bang a piano, so we went into vaudeville. That was where I met Pete Treverton, a second cousin of Ollie. Pete was not only a juggler but a fair contortionist. He would tip the scales at around a hundred pounds.

Pete was about as big as Ollie and as Ollie and I made our first entrance with Ollie dressed like a doll and I bringing her in all limp under my arm and setting her up on the piano—you get some idea how small Pete really was.

Of course there was no place in a refined act like ours for Pete's stuff, but much of the time we were on the same bill together and we were very fond of Pete.

Act Making Hit

Once Pete was out West for several months and we didn't get to see him. Then we heard from him and also saw in Variety that he had a new act. We were disgusted that he didn't take first billing. The name went, "Gargun & Pete."

"Who the heck," I said to Ollie, "is this Gargun?"

This "Gargun & Pete" act was making a big hit from all accounts—even played the old Palace for a hold-over, and if that isn't the apex of a vaudevillian's dream I'm woozy.

Ollie and me agreed, when we saw the act, that it was a corker. This Gargun was about six foot two and built accordingly. He made his entrance dressed like an old-time soldier with a fur shako headpiece that made him look seven feet tall. There was some sort of a strap under Pete's arms, hidden, and Gargun lugged him in like he was a wooden dummy.

Pete was swell. His map was made up with a wide mouth just like a ventriloquist's dummy and they pulled a ventriloquist act that looked so real they'd stop the show. Gargun drinking and eating and smoking and seemingly making the dummy talk.

Then Pete would do a double flip off Bargun's knee, make a derisive gesture, slip out of his costume and evade Gargun's chase around the stage. After that Gargun acted as assistant to Pete, who went into his juggling and contortion act.

Ollie and I were sorer than ever when we saw that act, for it was mostly Pete's work.

"Listen, Pete," Ollie said to him when we first played the same bill and he was in our dressing room, "you got a swell act but I think you should change the billing—your name ought to go first."

Pete seemed uneasy.

"Who thought it up?" I asked.

"I did. I met this Gargun, who was doorman to a house out in Spokane, and the idea come to me," he said.

"How much do you give him?" asked Ollie—leave it to a dame to ask that.

Tried to Talk Sense

"Oh—fifty-fifty," says Pete.

"Wha-a-at? You do all the work, you think up the act and then give him half? Don't be a sap, tell him to take thirty and you seventy and to be glad he's working with you," Ollie orders.

"We're all right," says Pete.

A little later Ollie came to me as mad as a hornet.

"Listen, Big Boy," she said, "you go out and talk turkey to that big sap Gargun, get me?"

"It isn't my act, Babe," I protested.

"I went to him and tried to talk sense. I told him Pete was my young cousin and I was looking out for his rights and he was to have his name first and the cut was to be seventy-thirty with Gargun getting the small end, and that it was started right now."

"What did he say to you?"

"He said 'Shoo-fly.'"

"That isn't very insulting, Babe—"

"And then when I insisted he says, 'Run and peddle your fish, twinkletoes.'!"

"That isn't insulting, either."

"And when I told him he was a big dish-faced ham and he was to do what I said, he just picked me up and set me outside his dressing room and slammed the door—and there sat Pete all the time not making a whimper!"

"Oh," I said, "he laid hands on you without provocation, eh? That's different."

"He did."

"Oh, you attacked him first?"

"Never mind, go and tell him what's what."

"I will," I said.

Pete Pays Visit

Pete came around later and called me aside.

"Ollie probably told you to mix in and give Gargun the what's what—"

"She did, Pete."

"—and so I'll warn you, lay off—he's a bad baby, he'll eat you up. I seen him lick six cops in Chicago."

"I'll have a talk with him," I insisted.

"A' right—I warned you," and Pete moved away because he saw Gargun coming.

"Hey you, Gargun," I said.

He turned and looked at me.

"Looks like you are intimidating Pete—lay off—Pete is the brains, his name goes first and he gets the big slice of the mazuma—so let's not waste any more argument," I said.

"Go tinkle on the piano and mind your own business, you big goof," he says to me.

With that I let drive at him. I'll say one thing, Gargun is quick. He stopped my sock with his right and hooked me in the chin. I guess they used a bucket of water to bring me around. Boy, I don't believe old Bob Fitz ever packed a bigger wallop.

When I got back to the hotel for dinner Ollie asked me if I had attended to it.

"I had a talk—it seems they made an agreement and they showed me where I had no right to butt in," I told her.

"Somebody lied—little Pete is unhappy and scared of that big sap—you go back and beat him up," Ollie ordered.

"Yeah? And have our act canceled, me get pinched, and a lot more trouble?"

"I'll bet he socked you himself!" Ollie cried.

"The idea!" I said. But I didn't like the way she eyed me and I hoped my chin wasn't too red where that big baboon rocked me to sleep.

The next I saw of Pete was when we were booked for quite a whirl over the big circuit and would play on the same bill most of the time.

That was when I first met Amazona.

A doll! A perfect beauty! Only on a gigantic scale. Amazona was 5 feet 11 and weighed 210! But you wouldn't believe it when you saw her on the stage alone because her figure was perfect.

She was billed as "Amazona, the Greek Goddess." Someone got a little mixed up on mythology there, but never mind. She did strong woman stunts that were amazing.

Wild About Her

But the funniest thing about it all was the way Pete raved about her. Even Ollie laughed.

"The little fool has fell for her," Ollie said to me, "and him always being too wise about janes, to ever fall before."

"He's just admiring her—he's too wise to fall—and if he did it would only give her a big laugh."

"That's all a man knows—he's wild about her, I can see it, and she's one of them big dames that would adore to sort of mother a little man."

And Ollie was right. Almost before I realized it Pete and Amazona, whose real name was Olga Handen, were going about together. I saw them in a restaurant one night after the show. This Gargun was standing outside, staring in and scowling. I went in and joined them, with Ollie, of course.

And so it went, with this Gargun getting sore as blazes, claiming that Pete wasn't pepping up the act well enough, mooning over Amazona.

Then something funnier than ever happened. Ollie comes to me sure disgusted.

"Pete just asked me," she says "did I think Amazona would marry him!"

"Haw! That's a hot one," I yells at her, "because Amazona come to me not an hour ago and asked me did I think Pete loved her enough to marry her!"

"That means nothing can stop those fools imagine a match like that!"

"They're crazy about each other—nothing else matters; forget it," I advised.

Amazona's act was usually just before intermission. Pete went on first after intermission. One day Pete was in such a hurry to get off and go some place with Amazona that he didn't wait for a third curtain call. Gargun came back and bawled him out for fair.

"Lay off me, Gargun," Whines Pete, frightened but furious, "or I'll show you!"

Well sir, one Saturday at dinner time Pete and Amazona followed me and Ollie up to our room.

"We've done it!" said Pete.

After the show that night Pete said to Gargun, "Well, Old Man, we've cleaned up big—the act is over."

"The act is over when I say so—and that won't be for 20 years yet, so shut up," growled Gargun.

Bawled Out

"You and who else will do what to me? Tell me that? You and who else?" yelled Gargun picking Pete up by his coat collar.

"Me," said a voice. "I'm the 'who else'."

It was Amazona.

"Drop my husband, you soand-so," she said.

"Getting married don't stop me and Pete from our act," Gargun said.

"This will, you cowardly sap," says Amazona.

"This was a sock to Gargun's jaw. He went down. She picked him up and socked him again. Four times she did that and then they threw water on him.

Pete and Amazona went into a new act and made good. I thought Pete married her to get rid of Gargun, but it was a love match. They've quit now and own a big chicken ranch—they have a family of three thousand—what's that?—wait, three thousand pullets and two girls and a boy.

NO TIME—"My Dear, I'm Rushed to Death"

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

THE foot of Time makes no sound; he comes and goes on velvet. But he comes, looks at you and passes; he was there, he IS there all the time—even if your pink ear doesn't catch the sound of him. Waste time, waste the moments he gives so many of, and some day, when you're about 80, you will clutch at his skirts and wonder where all those moments, like bubbles to look at, but meaty with substance, are gone.

When one girl says, "I'm rushed to death, I haven't had a moment to call you up," she is telling the truth. One layer of girls in the world really do work; work by the clock, every moment counting. One of these girls goes through a lot of work in her workday, growing in character along with each task done, and her play times are all the more precious and priceless for a really busy day. But there's another layer, which doesn't know what the word "busy" is, and thinks so much that she does. When she says, "My dear, I haven't had a moment, I'm rushed to death," while her Pekingese even yawns with tedium, the clock does a mental hand-spring, and Time holds his head, while it whirls.

If you are that kind of a busy girl, the dawdler, the real time waster, Time will waste her in turn. There is no ravager of beauty like the peevish spirit that grows out of cheating yourself out of Time's presents.

"Time WASTED is existence; USED in life!"

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Evincing Poor Taste

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been going about with a young girl for about eight months and during that time we have become very good friends. At Christmas time I gave her a present, which I thought was the proper thing to do. She in return sent me a card.

During the past month we have not been such good friends and haven't gone out with each other. I have heard from friends of hers that she intends to send some sort of birthday gift, as my birthday is some time next month. Shall I accept this gift or not?

WONDERING.

I suppose that you will have to accept it, if she really decides to give it to you. Not to accept it would be an insult. I am sorry that she is going to show such poor taste in giving you a present, when she showed such good taste in sending you a card at Christmas time, instead of giving you a present.

Formal Dress

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am a young woman in my early twenties. The company in which my husband is employed is planning a banquet for the employes and their wives in one of the hotels very soon.

Would it be improper for me to wear a light colored evening dress with hose to match and black patent leather pumps?

UNDECIDED.

THIS attire would, I should think, be appropriate for such a party. All except the patent leather pumps—which are too informal for such formal wear. They are better for daytime wear. Why not wear satin pumps?

LOVEJOY :: By BEATRICE BURTON

night," she said. "I glad because I get away so nice and early."

Lovejoy shook her head.

"I'm sorry, Hilda, but you won't be able to go out tonight. I'm going out for the evening, too. I just told you so."

Hilda drooped. "Yeh?" she asked. "Maybe I should not have taken this job. I not think I have to sit with baby all the time."

"Well, you'll have to sit with him tonight," Lovejoy said sharply.

She turned and went out of the kitchen. Hilda followed her with a look of hate that she did not see.

It was ten o'clock when Lovejoy got out of Steve Ogiebay's car at the corner of Tudor road and Stallings lane.

A new house was going up on that corner. It looked very attractive in the moonlight and Lovejoy stood looking at it with longing eyes for a moment before she started home . . . What fun it would be to live in a house like that; What a place for parties it would be!

Well, if Tom keeps on making money we can have a house like that pretty soon, she told herself as she opened her gate and started up the front walk.

Beyond, through the open door of the kitchen, she could see Hilda bent over the table writing a letter. She was always writing letters to her people in "the old country."

She got up when she heard Lovejoy open the door and came walking into the room with a telegram in her hand.

"Here is a telegram that came after you went out," she said, and handed it to Lovejoy.

It was not signed, but Lovejoy knew that it was from Aline Alderson.

"Home day after tomorrow," it read. "Please hold all my mail for arrival."

Lovejoy put the letter behind her back.

"It—it's nothing," she said unsteadily. "It really isn't anything important— It's about somebody else and I can't show it to you."

Madge's Search of Mysterious Bungalow Reveals Nothing

THERE was the querulous resentment of age in the plaint of the woman in the bungalow that the hotel manager and Harry Underwood had seemed to think she was harboring a thief. Yet there was a subtle something in her manner that told me it would be fairly easy to placate her if I played my cards right.

"Oh, I am sure you are mistaken as to their meaning," I said. "I do not know all the details of the matter, but I know they are very much worried over the fact that they believe a thief has concealed himself somewhere in the hotel. They say he is so very clever that he can dodge in and out of an apartment without the tenant dreaming he has been there."

"Are they sure the thief's a man?" she asked surprisingly. "That cleverness sounds more like a woman."

"It might very well be a woman," I said. "But really, the management is very much upset. They have been in every room of the hotel except this one, and Mr. Underwood tells me that you did not wish men to come into your apartment, that all your work is done by women. I can sympathize with that position of yours, but I am wondering—please do not be angry—if you would not let me see if I can find any traces of an intruder being here. I have done some espionage work during the World War, and could perhaps see things that a man might not."

I held my breath, literally, as she threw back her head and looked at me fixedly from behind her thick glasses. For several seconds that silent look continued. Then she threw out her hand with a gesture of surrender.

"You are a lady," she said, "I like your ways. You may look wherever you wish. Come! We will begin with this room."

She rose and led the way around the big studio, for such the room was, pulling aside draperies, pushing aside furniture, opening closets until I had satisfied myself that no one was concealed anywhere in the room. Then she led the way into two tiny other rooms and when I returned, I knew that not even a cat was housed in this particular bungalow.

"Well! are you satisfied?" she demanded when we had returned to the studio room.

"Perfectly," I said, but I was conscious that I was speaking less than the truth. Why I was dissatisfied I did not know, but I could not get rid of a queer little impression that something was wrong somewhere, although I could put my finger on nothing.

Then it came, a tiny scratching noise in the wall. I was ashamed of the start which my overwrought nerves gave me. But the old woman opposite me only laughed lightly.

"You are afraid of the mice?" she asked. "They are bad up here. I ough to keep a cat, but I do not like cats."

There was nothing in her demeanor to indicate that she was speaking anything but the truth. But I saw that she swallowed hard, once, and she did not again ask me to sit down. Indeed, she was moving slowly toward the door with the unmistakable purpose of ushering me out. There was nothing for me to do but to take my departure as gracefully as I could, and as I crossed the roof to where Harry and Dicky were standing, I scored myself for my melodramatic imagining that the scratching in the wall might be explained in some other way than by the theory she had advanced. To think that she was other than what she appeared, an erratic old woman perfectly harmless, was to write myself down as utterly absurd.

And yet! What was there about the whole interview that gave me a feeling that if I only knew where to stretch my hand it would fall upon a thread which should lead me to strange discoveries. It was so elusive a thing that I did not speak of my impression to Dicky or Harry when I came back to them, although I meticulously retailed every other detail of my visit, even to the scratching of the mice in the wall.

"And there is no possible place where someone could get in and hide without her knowledge?" Mr. Underwood asked.

"Or with it, today," I returned. "She showed me every inch of space in her home."

"That's that, then," he said despondently, "for the old girl never leaves the bungalow except for a walk on the roof where she can see it. The rumor is that she won't leave it because her husband died there and she loved him devotedly, but judging from her hatred of men I should say she didn't leave because she was afraid he might come back. Well! we can't do any more hanging around here.

"Let's go back downstairs and summon Prince Georges into conference. It's about time we sprung the tiger trap."

"Harry!" I gasped, stopping abruptly, "you never are going to show that note to Prince Georges! He's so quixotic he'd insist upon going out and giving himself up to those fiends."

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Foot Misery Caused by Neglect

NOTHING can hurt much more than an aching foot. It is a pity so many persons have tender feet. If these members were properly cared for in infancy and early childhood there would be less foot trouble in later life.

DR. COPELAND

Shoes and stockings are important factors in promoting foot comfort and health. Little feet go running and jumping, skipping and climbing all day long. Is it any wonder that they get tired and ache at night?

School shoes for children should be well-fitted, not too tight and not too loose. They must be just right, or else they are all wrong. There should be plenty of room for the toes.

Stockings should be sufficiently long. This is necessary so as not to bind the foot and toes. The toes should not be crowded by the stockings. Quite as often the trouble may be traced to short stockings as to short shoes.

Children's shoes should be long enough. It is important not to crowd any part of the foot. The heels of the shoes should be kept straight, not worn over. The posture of the foot is ruined if the heels are not flat.

Don't put high heels on a young girl. They throw the body out of the correct posture. When she is older she will have to decide for herself, but in childhood, do your part to start the youngster right.

Children often have tired and aching feet at night. Much comfort will be given by bathing the feet for 10 minutes in hot water to which salt has been added. Bathing the feet often is good for everyone. The toe nails should be cut straight across. It is bad to cut the corners, next to the side of the nail.

Have your child's feet examined once in a while by a good chiropodist, or podiatrist. It is just as important as to see the dentist.

Everybody should know that foot exercises are useful. They bring foot health. Standing on the toes, standing on the edges of the feet—these exercises help to make the feet strong and capable.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, February 1

THE stellar operations for this day seem to make for very active conditions in the affairs generally, although a hazardous aspect of Luna to Jupiter may somewhat endanger the financial prospects. The employment and industry are under such benefic and promising sway that this menace may be neutralized by watchfulness and persistency. There is sign of a change of benefit and personal matters are under a presage of gratifying developments possibly through letters.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of activity in all the affairs, personal business and employment, although there is a sign calling for prudence and thrift in handling the finances. The domestic, social or affectional interests may be enlivened by writings or correspondence.

A child born on this day may be very clever and versatile in either art or letters. It should make a gratifying success through its practicality as well as by its sharp insight and original genius.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are overstimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Do prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Nutritious Caviar Is A Worthwhile Luxury

Caviar, the roe of the sturgeon, is a most appetizing dish. And it is highly nutritious as well, famous medical man points out.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator from New York.

NOT long ago caviar was considered a luxury. Nobody but the rich could afford it. Now, it is less costly, and has become more commonly known and the public is beginning to realize its worth.

As most of you know, caviar consists of the roe or eggs of the sturgeon. The Moslem tribes introduced it into Russia. It is a rich food and is usually served as an appetizer before meals, as a relish, and in sandwiches.

Caviar is also derived from other fish, such as whitefish, but when sold it is so labeled. The genuine article is prepared in Russia, Germany and, to some extent, in America.

EXCELLENT APPETIZER

In preparing caviar, the fresh eggs of the sturgeon are rubbed back and forth over a small meshed wire screen until all the eggs are dropped through free from their membrane covering. Salt is then put in and the mass is stirred until a brine is formed. Some of the liquid is drawn off and the roe is packed in cans or casks for the market.

For appetizers, caviar paste is highly seasoned and served on rounds of bread, which may be plain, toasted or fried in deep fat. Toasted sandwiches made of caviar combined with hard-boiled egg yolk which has been made into paste with a bit of French dressing. These may be served for luncheon or supper and are tasty and nutritious.

EATEN WITH WHEAT CAKES

Last summer I was dining in a Russian restaurant in Paris. The first course of the remarkable meal is what I want to describe.

In the middle of the room was a table and on it an electric plate. The head waiter, with all the flourishes imaginable, stirred up a batter and proceeded to make some golden-hued wheat cakes.

I have always loved "pancakes," as we called this dish in the country. So when these piping hot cakes were served my mouth watered in anticipation.

Of course, I expected maple syrup or some similar dressing for the cakes. But what do you think the waiter brought, in a half-gallon crock? Caviar! Delicious Russian caviar.

TOPPED WITH SOUR CREAM

A most generous amount of this was heaped on each cake. But the wonders did not end. Over the caviar covered cakes was poured a quantity of sour cream. Can you imagine the combination?

But it was wonderful. I never tasted a more appealing dish and you won't believe it till you try it.

While its price makes caviar considerable of a luxury, it is nevertheless a nourishing, wholesome food. My only regret is we can't have more of it.

SUNDAY MENU

Oysters in Pepper Cases
Chicken with Macaroni
Potato Balls
Buttered Asparagus
Lettuce with Roquefort Dressing
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee

INSTEAD of serving the usual oyster cocktail why not introduce this Sunday's dinner with oysters in green pepper cases. I'm sure the family will like the innovation.

Prepare the peppers by cutting off the stem ends and removing the seeds. Chop a small onion with one of the peppers and simmer in butter until brown.

Parboil a pint of oysters in their own liquor for a few minutes. Moisten 3 cups bread crumbs with a little of the oyster liquid and add the chopped pepper and onion and season with salt and pepper.

Fill the peppers adding about 3 oysters to each. Sprinkle the tops with bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

* * *

NOW for another surprise—the chicken. And it will be a surprise if you serve it Spanish style with macaroni. First clean and disjoint a three to four pound chicken.

Now fry 1 tablespoon chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons hot butter for 2 or 3 minutes. Add ½ tablespoon salt, 2 cups canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon paprika and ½ cup stuffed olives.

Shortly before the chicken is done, cook a package of macaroni in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and let the cold water run over it.

Then add the macaroni to the chicken together with ¼ cup grated cheese. If you wish you may add ½ cup cooked mushrooms. Let the mixture simmer together for 15 minutes, and serve.

* * *

CHOCOLATE COOKIES—Cream ½ cup of brown sugar and a half cup of butter. Beat well and add the beaten yolks of 2 eggs. Sift together 1¾ cups of flour, a teaspoon of baking powder and ¼ teaspoon of salt.

Dissolve ½ teaspoon of soda in ½ cup of sour milk and alternate with a flour mixture. Add 2 squares of melted chocolate, a teaspoon of vanilla and the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered cookie sheet. Bake in a 350-degree oven 15 minutes.

Frosting—Cook 2 cups of sugar, ⅔ cup of milk, 2 squares of chocolate and 2 teaspoons of butter to the soft ball stage. Remove from the fire, let cool, then beat until creamy. Spread on cookies. School children are particularly partial to those chocolate cookies and they are mighty nice for afternoon tea, too.

* * *

FRUIT BARS—Cream a cup of shortening and a cup of sugar. Add 2 well-beaten eggs. Sift together 2 cups of flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, then sift over a cup each of raisins, walnuts and cocoanut.

Combine a teaspoon of soda with ½ cup of light molasses and alternate the molasses and ½ cup of milk with the dry ingredients. Mix well, pour in buttered pans and bake in a moderate oven. While still warm cut into bars. This dough may be dropped from a spoon and baked in rounds if you prefer.

* * *

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING—Cut a small stale loaf of bread in half-inch slices, removing the end crusts. Spread each slice with butter and arrange in a buttered baking dish, buttered side down. To 3 slightly beaten eggs, add ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 quart milk. Strain and pour over the bread; let stand ½ hour. Bake in a slow oven for 1 hour, covering the dish during the first half of the baking time. Serve with hard sauce.

* * *

FLAKEY pastry—rich meat sauce—and taste of roast meat—what could be more grateful to a hungry mortal than a delicious meat pie?

When Henry VIII was the despotic monarch of Merrie England he counted the day lost when he didn't make away with a meat pie that was as remarkable for its goodness as it was for its dimensions! Those were the days when over-eating was a science.

Nowadays, we eat more discreetly, and the clever housewife adds the personal touch to her cookery by serving dainty little individual meat pies.

* * *

A MEXICAN PIE with a rice cover is an unusual dish. Saute 1 chopped onion, 1 chopped sweet, red pepper and a chopped green pepper in 3 tablespoons of fat for about 3 minutes. Add 1 clove of garlic, finely minced, 1½ cups of canned tomatoes, a teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of celery salt and a few grains of pepper. Add about 2 cups of roast beef cut in pieces. Pour into a baking dish, cover with seasoned cooked rice and sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over the top. Bake for from 15 to 20 minutes in a hot 400 degrees F.—oven.

* * *

CHOCOLATE FILLING—Yolks 2 eggs, 1½ cupfuls of sugar, ½ cupful milk, 1 tablespoonful of butter, 4 squares chocolate, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla.

Melt chocolate. Beat yolks thoroughly, add sugar, milk and butter. Cook over fire, stirring constantly. Bring to a boil and boil for about a minute. Take from fire, add chocolate and vanilla and beat until thick. One-half cup seedless raisins or chopped nuts may be added. This makes one of the best of chocolate icings, as it spreads and stacks perfectly, remains soft and has a beautiful gloss.

* * *

BRAISED LIVER WITH VEGETABLES—Arrange a pound of beef liver, sliced thin, in a shallow pan. Fry a large onion in drippings until brown, and pour over the liver. Add 1½ cups mixed vegetables (carrots, peas, beans, etc.), and 1 cup canned tomatoes or 2 ripe sliced tomatoes. Season with 1-3 teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Bake in a hot oven until the liver is nicely browned. Then lower the temperature and bake one hour.

* * *

BAKED NOODLES AND SAUSAGE—Cook 1 package of noodles until tender and drain. Prick 1 pound of sausage, place in skillet and simmer until they are well browned. Combine the sausages and the noodles with 1

CHOCOLATE CUP CAKES—One-half cupful of shortening, 1 cupful of sugar, ½ cupful of milk, 1½ cupsful of flour, 2 eggs, 3 squares chocolate, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla, ½ teaspoonful of salt, 2½ teaspoonsful of baking powder.

* * *

LEMON FILLING—Pour tablespoonsful of butter, 1 cupful of sugar, 2 lemons, juice and grated rind; 3 eggs, well beaten.

If a cooked filling is desired, add a tablespoonful of corn-starch dissolved in a little cold water and cook in the double boiler until thick. Cool. Beat before using. Orange or apricot make nice variations.

* * *

DEVILED TOMATOES—Peel 6 tomatoes; cut them in halves, and sprinkle with flour. Heat 3 tablespoons fat in a frying pan and brown the tomatoes on both sides. Sprinkle with salt. Serve the hot tomatoes with this sauce: To 3 tablespoons butter in a pan, add 3 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons mustard, 3 hard-boiled eggs, chopped, and a dash of paprika. Stir in 1½ teaspoons flour and mix well. Add 6 tablespoons vinegar and 3 tablespoons water. Heat the sauce, let it come to a boil for one minute, and serve.

* * *

CARROTS WITH BACON—Four slices bacon, 1 quart carrots, cubed, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoonful of parsley, minced, 1 cupful of meat stock or water, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, ½ tablespoonful of sugar.

Cut the bacon into narrow, crosswise strips and brown it slowly until crisp. Add the carrots, salt, sugar and parsley and just enough boiling water to cover. Cook until carrots are just tender and the water is nearly evaporated. Stir in the paste made of the flour and cold meat stock or water, and cook five minutes until clear.

* * *

SPANISH HORSE-RADISH SAUCE—One cup whipped cream, 3 tablespoonsful of grated horse-radish, ½ tablespoonful of Worcesshire sauce, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoonful of prepared mustard.

Combine thoroughly the horse-radish, mustard and Worcestershire sauce with the stiffly beaten cream. Add salt and pepper to taste. Let the mixture chill one hour before serving. This sauce adds new interest to cold meats.

* * *

PARSLEY TURNIP BALLS—Two cupfuls of turnip balls, ¼ cupful of butter, 2 teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, 3 drops onion juice, ½ teaspoonful minced parsley.

Cut turnips into balls. Cook them in boiling salted water until just tender. Drain and heat in the butter to which has been added the lemon, onion and parsley.

* * *

CARROT FRITTERS—Two cupfuls of cooked carrots, 1 teaspoonful of sugar, ½ teaspoonful of salt, 1 egg, well beaten; 1-16 teaspoonful of white pepper, ½ cupful of flour.

Combine the hot, finely mashed carrots well with the sugar, salt, pepper and egg. Stir the flour in thoroughly. Shape by rounding tablespoonfuls. Fry in deep fat—375 degree Fahrenheit—two minutes. Drain on soft paper. Served with melted butter, they are most acceptable.

* * *

FLORIDA SLAW—One quart of cabbage finely shredded, 1 cupful of green pepper, mixed; 1 cupful of sweet pickles, iced; 1 tablespoonful of sugar, ½ teaspoonful of salt, 3 tablespoonfuls of vinegar, ¼ cupful of cream, sweet or sour; 2 tablespoonfuls of prepared mustard, black pepper to taste.

This is a salad easy to prepare and well flavored. Mix the cabbage with the green pepper and pickles. Combine the sugar, salt, vinegar, cream, mustard and pepper, and pour over the cabbage. Blend carefully but well and serve at once.

* * *

DATE PUDDING—Sift a cup of flour, ¼ teaspoon of salt and ½ teaspoon of soda together. Add a cup (a half package) of pitted dates to the milk, then add the dates and milk to the flour. Add ½ cup of nutmeats and ¼ cup of honey. Stir in ¼ cup of orange juice. Pour into a greased baking dish. Cover. Place in a pan of hot water. Steam in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for 2 hours. Serve with hard or foamy sauce. Here you have an inexpensive, simply delicious dessert, but a most substantial one.

From far-off Porto Rica comes a recipe for what are elegantly called French Kisses; nothing more nor less than a delicate macaroon. Place a square of chocolate with 2 tablespoons of water in a saucepan; stir over a low flame until a smooth paste is formed. Pour into a mixing bowl; add 1-3 cup of sugar, ½ tablespoon flour, ¼ teaspoon salt. When the mixture is smooth, add a teaspoon of vanilla. Stir in a package (1 1-3 cups) of cocoanut and 2 egg whites, beaten stiff. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto a well-oiled baking sheet or inverted pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes.

* * *

CARAMEL FIG PUDDING—Caramelize ¾ cup of granulated sugar, slowly add 3 cups of milk and boil until the caramel is dissolved in the cold milk. Cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Add a tablespoon of butter and a cup of fresh canned figs, chopped. Remove from the fire. Flavor and chill. Serve with whipped cream and a sprinkling of chopped pecans.

* * *

FIG PUFFS—Sift together 1½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Rub in 3 tablespoons butter or shortening. Then add ¾ cup chopped fresh canned figs, mixing them well into the batter. Add 1¼ cup milk and 1 beaten egg, stirring to a stiff batter. Bake in a small greased pan in a moderately hot oven. Serve hot with sauce.

* * *

NUTMEG SAUCE—To 1 quart of boiling water add 1 cup of butter and stir until melted. Add ½ cup of sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice or vanilla and about 1 tablespoon nutmeg. Stir in ¼ cup of flour, to which has been added enough cold water to make a thin, pouring mixture. Cook 5 minutes in a double boiler. Be sure to taste—as a rule ¼ teaspoon salt is required if the butter is not very salty. Serve hot.

* * *

BAKED APPLE—Vary the flavor of baked apples with different jams from the pantry shelf. A spoonful of apricot-pineapple jam will give unusual deliciousness. Likewise, when core is removed and centers filled with a spoon of strawbbery jam and a few chopped nuts, the result is a rosy-tinged fruit, nice enough for party dessert.

* * *

BROWN SUGAR SAUCE—Hard sauce has a most distinctive and delicious flavor if it is made with brown sugar. First cream butter until soft and fluffy, and sugar gradually and beat until entirely dissolved. Just before serving, whip in a stiffly beaten egg white.

* * *

CRAB AU GRATIN—Make a cream sauce of 1 pint milk, pepper, a little salt, a lump of butter, a tablespoon of flour and grated American cheese. Cook until smooth. Add 1 small can of crabmeat that has been shredded, mix and put in a glass baking dish. Sprinkle the top with a few cracker crumbs, grated cheese and a few small bits of butter. Bake to a golden brown.

MACKAY GIVEN $2,391,934

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A bequest of $2,391,934, of which $1,542,570 was in notes which he owed her, was left to Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cable Company, by his mother, Mrs. Marie Louise Mackay, a transfer tax appraisal filed here disclosed.

Mrs. Mackay died September 4 1928, leaving a net state of $2,401,934. Besides her son, the will mentioned only one other legatee, Josephine Doumoutier, of Roslyn, N. Y., no relation, who received $10,000.

Mackay gave his mother two notes—a demand note for $980,000 without interest, dated January 18, 1924, and another for $555,000, dated June 11 of the same year and payable a year after date. The latter bore interest at 5.143 per cent, which amounted to $6,580.

Trade Vanishes, Aged Smithy Ends Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—For many years George Smart clanged a merry tattoo on his anvil and hummed blythe tunes while he fashioned shoes for the horses of yesteryear.

Then the transition came. Fewer and fewer were the demands on the aged blacksmith's skill. Too many years freighted his shoulders to learn the new business of automobile repairing.

HOLD 3 AS FAKE DRY AGENTS

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Constable Jesse A. Cole and two aides, William Halfhill and Frank Barchonowitz, were held for court following arraignment on two charges of blackmail and conspiring to extort money, the result of alleged "liquor raids" at Maxwell and Labelle, near here, several months ago.

Mrs. Mary Rosini, Maxwell, said the three came to her home and after Cole showed her his constable's badge, informed her that she was under arrest for violating the liquor laws. The woman said she gave them $140 to "settle the case," money which she borrowed from neighbors.

Moesto Rodrigues, Labelle, said he paid the two aides $400 when they compromised to "keep him out of trouble" after searching his home and seizing a small quantity of intoxicants.

Many Favorite Selections On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

NO big stars tonight except the Chicago Civic Opera, of Armour, KDKA at 9:30.

Lannie Ross, tenor of the Raybestos outfit, will sing "To Be Forgotten," through WCAE at 7:30.

Jessica Dragonette, who is running second best in the Radio Poll, and John Seagle will do a duet of Romberg's "Song of Love" as a feature of the Cities Service concert, WCAE at 8 p. m. Jessica will do a solo of Frimi's "Valse Huguette" from "Vagabond King." Frank Banta and Milton Rettenberg will be heard in a piano duet of popular tunes.

Old but always refreshing, the "Tea for Two" hit from "No, No Nanette," will be a soprano-tenor duet through WCAE at 9:30 during the Broadway program.

We Now Present

When Kolster Radio canceled their program at the last minute the other night and threatened to disappoint millions of fans with a scheduled appearance of Winnie Lightner, the Columbia Broadcasting System bought her contract for $1,000 and put her on later in the evening.

Winnie failed to come to Pittsburghers through WJAS due to a misunderstanding. She was on WABC at 11 o'clock.

No expense is spared by the Sun-Telegraph in keeping radio programs accurate. Anytime an artist fails to appear when scheduled the listener can count on it there's been a slip-up somewhere else.

NOT A RELATIVE

In this light we have an enthusiastic letter from Mrs. Robert Ryan, 1124 Greenfield avenue. Explaining that she swears by Sun-Tele programs and "just knew" the broadcasters must have made a mistake in the Winnie Lightner affair, she asks how listeners can help remedy the situation.

THANX—HERE'S HOW

KDKA, ATlantic 4854; WCAE, ATlantic 1201; WJAS, GRant 0620; KQV, ATlantic 5292; WMBJ, MAflower 4344.

AMOS-ANDY PAY DAY

Amos and Andy do not receive $180,000 a year as erroneously reported by another newspaper yesterday, but they do receive an even $100,000 for their radio work.

If we are correctly informed, a gold rush is coming the way of Howard Gardner, former radio star at WJAS. Howard has invented some kind of a brake shoe for trains that will make the old ones nice scrap metal, we understand. We sure hope reports are true.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

A jocose letter from Benny Rubin in which he suggests that we clarify the radio situation here by giving the stations more wavelengths. Benny liked the nice things we said about him a few weeks ago when he topped the "Voices from Hollywood" program.

Lord Nelson's Emma.
The story of England's brilliant naval hero, Lord Nelson, and his love for Lady Hamilton will be dramatized.
Emma Lyon was an extraordinarily beautiful girl without education but possessed of a keen native intelligence. The artist, Romney, enchanted with her beauty, painted 23 portraits, still existing, which increased her fame as a beauty and his fame as a portrait painter.
The former scullery maid advanced to greater triumphs when she married the distinguished Sir William Hamilton, British ambassador to Naples. Here she was at once hailed as reigning beauty.
It was in Naples that the conquering Lord Nelson first met Lady Hamilton. She nursed him through a long illness, and he loved her until his death at Trafalgar.

CAREY TO COACH PIRATES

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Carey as Buc Coach.
Unusual Sportsmanship.
Club Forgets Bygones.
Harpster's Successor.
Nichols Recalls Stars.
Durocher Cue Expert.

VETERAN LIKELY TO HELP PIRATES

THERE aren't many managers or club owners in baseball who would have been big enough or broad enough in view of certain strained relations in the past to take the step that the management of the Pittsburgh club took today in signing Max Carey, former Pirate outfielder and captain, as a coach for the approaching season.

Max Carey

Carey left here under a cloud in 1926, being summarily released after the memorable flare-up following the so-called rebellion headed by Carson Bigbee, Babe Adams and himself against the presence of Fred Clarke on the bench as assistant to Manager Bill McKechnie.

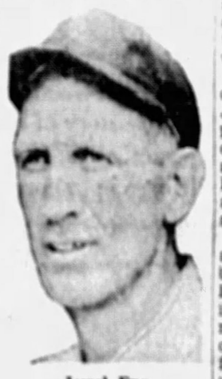
That would have settled Max for all time with the heads of most clubs had the uprising occurred on a team owned by one of them. They would have feared a repetition of the internal strife and would have hesitated to renew connections with the central figure in the previous "plot." Carey would have been branded ungrateful and disloyal by some narrow-minded magnates and they would have declined to enter into any further relations with him.

UNDER the circumstances, the hiring of Carey as a Buccaneer coach is a tribute to the fairness and broad-mindedness of the Pittsburgh club owners. They were willing to consider the interests of local fans first and to forget bygones for the sake of helping the team.

It is one of the most unusual displays of sportsmanship ever seen in the national sport. From a baseball viewpoint there is no doubt that the selection of Carey is a wise one, as Max is recognized everywhere as one of the smartest and most capable men in the game.

MANAGER JEWEL ENS is another who is to be commended for making a move that not every manager would have risked. Few of them care to take a chance with a player who has been said to harbor managerial ambitions, but Ens has the sense to realize that the best means of getting results is to surround himself with capable advisers and assistants.

The better the team goes, the better Ens himself will look as manager, and the greater will be the credit reflected upon him. Jewel, like the club owners, is showing the right spirit in his efforts to give Pittsburgh a winner.



Jewel Ens

THOUGH his playing days are over, there is every ground for the confidence that Carey will be of valuable service to the Pirates in the capacity of a coach. He has the brains, experience, aggressiveness, knowledge of the game and of National League teams and individual players in particular, to fit him admirably for the post. One of the greatest base runners of all time in his heyday and a master of bunting he will also be of great value as a tutor in those important departments. All around, it looks like a move that cannot fail to help the Bucs. Carey comes back to his first major league love in rejoining the Pirates, as it was here that he began his big league career in 1910, playing one game for the Corsairs that fall after being purchased with Alex McCarthy, infielder, from South Bend in the old Central League. He succeeded Fred Clarke in left field, eventually, later shifted to center and played here until the flare-up of 1926.

JESS CARVER tells a good one about Bronko Nagurski, the Minnesota all-America fullback-tackle (Take your choice). Nagurski is a big, powerful chap, and takes great delight in getting into rough and tumble arguments with associates. He and Gibson, the Gopher guard of two years ago, were room mates in the same fraternity house at Minnesota and one evening, engaged in a wrestling match.

He was the Western Conference heavyweight champion that year, and while not quite as big as Bronko, was able to handle him easily, making use of the various wrestling holds he had mastered. He tossed Bronko all over two or three rooms of the house, and finally, flipped him on his back a little harder than Bronko thought was necessary. The big fellow leaped to his feet, grabbed Gibson about the middle and, holding him high above his head, roared: "Now say 'down,' you son of a gun, say 'down'!"

THERE is said to be a good prospect that Jimmy Robertson, former backfield star at Carnegie Tech, may be chosen to succeed Howard Harpster as football coach at Shady Side Academy. Harpster resigned recently to accept the head post at Geneva.

Jimmy Robertson

Several others have made application for the place at Shady Side, but Robertson is reported to have the inside track, mainly because he is qualified to teach the same system installed there by Harpster last year and thus render it unnecessary for the Academy players to learn a new style of play. Robertson was one of the greatest players ever developed at Carnegie Tech. He was captain in his final season, 1923, and appears to be well-qualified in every respect for a coaching position.

KID NICHOLS, famous pitcher of the Boston Nationals during their pennant days under Frank Selee's management in the '90's, recalled some of the baseball greats of his time during a fanning bee with Joe Vila. "Amos Rusie had the fastest curve ball that ever was delivered by a right-hand pitcher," he said. "His control was almost perfect, too. Joe McGinnity and Cy Young were the other great pitchers during my career, but I think Walter Johnson was the best right-hander of all time.

"WILLIE KEELER was the smartest hitter I ever faced. He could do everything with the bat, though his specialty was bunting and scientific place hitting. Napoleon Lajoie was the hardest hitter to whom I ever pitched. He used to hit them on a line with terrific momentum. If he had been able to raise his drives for distance he would have been a home-run leader like Babe Ruth.

"And with all due respect to Eddie Collins, I still insist that Lajoie was the king of second basemen. He was the most graceful player I ever laid my eyes on. Herman Long was the greatest shortstop I ever saw. He fielded grounders that no other shortstop could have reached and threw out the fastest base runners. He was also a fine hitter and lead-off man and in one season stole more than 100 bases.

"FRED TENNEY revolutionized first-base play. Jimmy Collins never had an equal at third and I have yet to see a faster base

PONGO'S GREAT FIGHT FOR LIFE VAIN

Death was the result of a stroke of paralysis, suffered several days ago. His sister, Mrs. E. J. Archambault, Los Anglees, and his wife, were at his side. Mike Cantillon, a brother and the only other close relative, is ill in Los Angeles and was unable to come here.

Cantillon was born in Janesville, Wis., August 19, 1861. His first wife, who was Miss Belle Elliott, of St. Joseph, Mo., died in 1915. In 1923, Cantillon married Mrs. Bertha Anderson, of Chicago.

COURAGEOUS FIGHT

Pongo Joe made as courageous a fight on his sick bed as he had on the diamond, but the odds were against him. Doctors marveled at the resistance and will power that enabled him to linger as long as he did. Telegrams from all over the country poured in offering sympathy to Mrs. Cantillon during his illness.

Cantillon, the "grand old man of baseball," 20 years ago saw the town of Hickman, while on a boat trip down the Mississippi River and said "that's where I am going to make my home." Since then he and his wife had lived on a bluff overlooking the river he loved.

Pongo Joe had been in baseball for 52 years, and despite his 69 years, he was looking forward to next season, when he expected to serve as supervisor of umpires for the American Association, a post which he held last season.

Cantillon started his baseball career in 1878 as a bat boy for the Janesville (Wis.) Club. He later played with Green Bay, of the old Wisconsin League. He remained a player until 1899, when his keen judgment attracted the attention of club owners and he started his career as manager.

In this capacity, he served first at Burlington, Iowa; then Dubuque, Iowa; Marinette, Wis.; Rockford, Ill., and Oakland, Cal., in the Pacific Coast League. He returned East in 1895 as manager of the Columbus (O.) Club and for three years following that he umpired in the National League. When Ban Johnson and his associates formed the American League, Pongo Joe went over to that organization and served as umpire during 1901, 1902 and 1903.

MANAGED SENATORS

Following this, Cantillon managed the Milwaukee Club for three years and then became manager of the Washington Senators three years.

When Mike Cantillon purchased the Minneapolis Club Joe managed that team from 1910 through 1923. In 1924 and 1925 he scouted for the White Sox and then managed the Little Rock Club of the Southern Association for two years.

In 1928 Joe again became a scout for the White Sox and later was given the post of supervisor of umpires of the American Association.

Cantillon was credited with discovering some of the game's greatest players, including Walter Johnson, Rube Waddell and Amos Rusie.

He acquired the nickname Pongo Joe on the Pacific Coast when a fanciful sports writer wrote that he was the son of an Italian nobleman and his real name was Pongo Lagazinio Cantillio.

PERRY, OLIVER FIVES PLAY

Today's scholastic basketball program concerns itself almost solely with W. P. I. A. L. contests, only one City League contest being carded. The City Leaguers originally were scheduled for an off day, but Oliver and Perry, in Section II, had a postponement two weeks ago and will play it off this afternoon.

This contest, by the way, is an important one, in that Oliver has a chance to knock the unbeaten Perryites out of the leadership of the section if it can lang up a victory.

The program for the W. P. I. A. L. is full. Battles, feature battles, are listed for all sections, with some real and important tests being on the books. One of the outstanding struggles will be played at Bellevue, when Moe Rubenstein sends his Ambridge High passers into action against the Danver proteges. A victory for either team means the leadership in the section, and a fine chance to get into the championship playoff.

Homestead, defending league champion, is at home to Elizabeth. Rochester, in Section IV, in fine fettle after the victory Tuesday at Beaver's expense, takes onHarding High at Aliquippa, hoping to stop the rush of the Lippencrs to the section title. Beaver Falls, still in the race for the banner, meets Beaver on its own floor.

YESTERDAY'S EXPLANATION: JANUARY 30 IS THE BIRTHDAY OF 600,000,000 PEOPLE—The Chinese religious New Year, which coincides with the first moon after the sun enters the constellation Aquaris (January 30, 1930), is celebrated as the common birthday of the total population of China, Japan and Korea, conservatively estimated at about 600,000,000 souls. In these countries the moment a child is born it is considered one year old, until the beginning of a new calendar year, when he is immediately credited with another year. This also explains one of my previous statements that a Chinese baby born on New Year's Eve will be two years old on New Year's Day.

BASE-RUNNING STAR SIGNS WITH BUCS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Max (Scoops) Carey, former star outfielder of the Pirates, today signed a contract to coach the same team for which he performed for many seasons.

In announcing the return of Carey to the Pittsburgh fold, Vice President Sam Dreyfuss and Manager Jewel Ens expressed much pleasure over the event. Carey, they stated, was signed to a coach's contract, which means he will not take an active part in the games. He and Oscar Stanage will be Ens' assistants, and Carey will direct the baserunners from both third and first base. Boss Ens figures that he and Scoops will switch around quite a bit.

FINE STRATEGIST

Announcement of the signing of Carey by Pittsburgh will be hailed by thousands who look upon Scoops as a fine strategist on top of his sparkling years on the diamond.

Carey was let out by the Pirates in the uprising of 1926. Brooklyn claimed him over the waiver route, and Scoops continued with that club up to the finish of last season.

During the past year Carey's name has been linked up with the management of at least two major league clubs and many of his friends figured he would land a managerial job. He was believed to be in the reckoning in Brooklyn in case there was to be a change and Carey also was mentioned quite prominently as the probably pilot of the Cardinals.

"Carey has decided that he cannot get a managerial berth at this time and we are glad to have him as coach," said Sam Dreyfuss in commenting on the new role for the veteran. Manager Ens has been dickering with Carey for weeks.

Through his long career as a Pirate regular, Carey was regarded as one of the best outfielders in the sport, and he was one of the greatest base-runners the game has yet produced. Scoops was not a hard hitter, but he had the knack of getting on the bases. Over a period of 10 years or more, he was one of the best when a run was needed for a victory or a tie.

BIG AID TO BUCS

Carey's baserunning talent may prove of vast aid to the Pirates in the coming season. Scoops seems to have the faculty of imparting to others that which he knows, and surely there are a number of young Pirates who need this baserunning instruction. Boys like the Waner brothers and other fleet performers should be able to acquire a distinctive baserunning polish now that they will have an instructor like Carey around. Max has been in the majors for 20 years and he has been a keen student of the sport ever since he joined the Pirates in 1910.

Carey has departed for his St. Louis home, but he expects to return here again before the first squad leaves for Paso Robles. The advance guard is scheduled to leave on Tuesday, February 18.

Among the many young Pittsburgh boys who are preparing to join ball clubs in various sections

HILL TO REFEREE

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Frank Hill, Northwestern University track coach, will referee the Drake Relays April 25 and 26, it was announced yesterday.

GENE MORETTI, KELLY FIGHT TO DRAW

A pair of long-armed welterweights, Gene Moretti, of Atlantic City, and K. O. Kelly, lanky Akron Negro, paced through 10 rather interesting rounds last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, and when the final gong rang, the bout was ruled a dead heat, one of the judges, Jimmy McLaughlin of Braddock, and Referee Red Robinson calling the go a draw, while Frank (Bull) Brown, the other judge, thought that Kelly had scored enough points in the early rounds to get the decision.

Although Kelly's aggressiveness and his ability to punish Moretti rather regularly in the mid-section during the early rounds, the Atlantic City fighter, who recently gave Sergt. Sammy Baker a tough battle, came back nicely in the late sessions and appeared to have evened the bout as the final round closed.

KELLY LOOKS GOOD

The Akron Negro, who took the bout on 24 hours' notice, subbing for Mickey Bolmen, the New Castle favorite, surprised the small turnout of fans with his fighting ability. He jumped into the lead by taking the first three rounds by clear margins, dropped the fourth and came back to win the next two.

Kelly staggered Moretti in the early rounds with a hard right to the head and also weakened the seashore fighter with his short rights and lefts to the stomach at close range. Moretti found Kelly an elusive target, yet took everything his dusky opponent sent out and kept his bearings.

In the fifth round, Moretti was glassy-eyed from taking a volley of rights and lefts to the head, but managed to weather the storm

Pongo Joe Colorful Character

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—There are baseball players, past and present, all over the United States who will shed a tear for Joe Cantillon. In his years as a manager in the major and minor leagues, the veteran Pongo Joe came in contact with hundreds of players and they left him with a greater knowledge than they had before they knew him.

Baseball-wise to a degree that was almost uncanny, Cantillon kept a "guess ahead" in his active baseball days and later as supervisor of umpires of the American Association he was reported "hard to fool."

Last summer Cantillon went to Tampa, Fla., to rest for a few weeks and talk baseball with his old cronies. As soon as he reached his hotel his former players began to gather about him, Walter Johnson, Clyde Milan, Joe Engel, Gabby Street and others.

WALT'S FEAT RECALLED

"Remember the time you pitched three games in a row and shut out New York in every one?" Cantillon asked Johnson. The Washington manager of today told the Washington manager of 20 years ago that he recalled the incident perfectly.

"Tell the young fellows about it," suggested Milan.

"Walter pitched out of turn the first game of the series in New York, because I had let his room-mate go home on condition that he be back in time to pitch the opener. Walter said he'd pitch in his place and he shut 'em out. The next day was his regular turn and he shut 'em out again. There was a Sunday in between so he was all rested up Monday and said he would

ELEANOR HOLM SETS WORLD MARK HERE

Eleanor Holm, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, swam the 220-yard backstroke event in the world record-breaking time of three minutes and three-fifths second, in the feature event of the aquatic gala last night in the Keystone A. C. pool.

The record must be certified by the record committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States before it is recognized as official.

The present recognized record is three minutes one and three-fifth second, made by the late Sybil Bauer, of the Illinois Athletic Club at Miami, Fla., in 1924.

TWO A. M. A. MARKS FALL

Another member of the visiting New York team, Agnes Geraghty, lowered the Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., 220-yard breast stroke record to 3 minutes 29 3-5 seconds. Susan, Laird, of Homestead Library, held the former record of 3 minutes 47 seconds.

A second district record fell when Lisa Lindstrom, of the W. S. A., defeated Anna Elek and M. Kight, of Homestead Library, to cop the 100-yard free style event in one minute, six and four-fifths seconds. The former A. M. A. mark was 1:07 1-5.

Sport Vignettes

Ever hear the story of Fogarty, of Minnesota, which symbolizes the sacrifices of the lowly scrub on a football squad?.....Fogarty was a runt. When he went off to college his ma made her darling boy promise not to play that rough game of football.....When he got there he changed his mind. Wanted to become a hero of the campus.....Reported for the freshman squad.....Coach looked him over and decided he wouldn't do. They go in for he-men at Minnesota, so there was no uniform for Fogarty.....Undaunted, Fogarty wrote home to his doting ma and told her he simply had to go in for the grid game and asked her to make him a uniform..... Which she did, and such a one! But he donned it, nevertheless, and went out and scrubbed all season with the freshies and never got into a game.....Next year, as a Sophomore, he reported to the varsity coach. Still no uniform for the runt, so he came out in ma's home-made togs and scrubbed again all season.....Same thing next year, as a Junior.....Finally, in his Senior year, coach's heart melted and he gave Fogarty a brand new outfit..... Runt's hopes soared and he worked harder than ever taking the bumps in practice.....Season moved on to final game and still he hadn't been off the bench in a game.....Final game climax of career and story.....Minnesota trailing, 6-0, at end of half and players badly used up. Second half, same.....Two minutes left to play. Everybody on squad in game except Fogarty, the runt. .....Finally captain wigwags frantically to the bench and coach sends in Fogarty on the run.....Team goes into huddle as heart swells in Fogarty.....His chance, at last! He must save game and prove his worth.....Listening for signal when captain barks his name.....'Fogarty, Fogarty!".....Fogarty looks up..... Captain: "Fogarty, take off your pants and give 'em to Kreider!" .....There's sacrifice for you. The old team spirit. One for all and all for one.....The Alma Mater must be served!—HARRY KECK.

GROVERS BATTLE BOBCAT PASSERS TONIGHT

PITT TO FIND SYRACUSE TOUGH FOE

By JESS CARVER.

As a prelude to what promises to be a very interesting Saturday of college basketball, Grove City will entertain the cocky passers of West Virginia Wesleyan in the game's only collegiate offering of the night. The battle will be the second for the Bobcats is as many nights, the Cats having played Waynesburg last evening.

Wesleyan's chief claim to fame along basketball lines this year was won last Saturday when the Methodists, for the first time in four years, beat West Virginia. The Grovers have not been going at any record shattering clip of recent, having been beaten by Thiel and given a tussle by Geneva the last two times out.

WANTED—NEW MEMBERS

The Tristate Conference, which, after the close of the present scholastic year, will lose one of its strongest members, Duquesne, is peering about seeking a school to fill in the gap to be left by the departure of the locals.

The Conference would like very much to persuade Allegheny and Grove City, either or both, to join up with those now holding franchises. Overtures have been made to both institutions, but the Grovers and Methodists have ideas that do not exactly fit in with the eligibility rules of the league. Being very strong institutions in their own right, neither seems overly anxious to become Conference bound.

At a meeting here in Pittsburgh t'other day representatives of all schools now in the league discussed ways and means of doing this and that. No kiddin', that is just exactly what they did. They finally decided to mark time, keep their ears to the ground and their noses dry and see what they could see.

LOOKING AHEAD

Tomorrow night's games for the Dukes and Pitt are tough ones. Syracuse is rated as one of the strongest, if not the strongest team in the East, and will test Pitt's unbeaten laddies to the limit. You know how good Bethany is, good enough to force the Dukes into an extra period battle here a week ago, and when they get the locals down there at Buffalo Creek, figure to take 'em.

It looks like a very tough evennig for Marty Weitzel and Der Maxie Hannum, who are to officiate.

Wash-Jeff's varsity swimming team will open its splashing season tonight, competing against the tankers of the Wheeling Y. M. C. A. at Washington.

Babe O'Donovan, Westminster's fair-haired boy, is handicapped by a bad leg as he cavorts for the Titan basketball team. Babe still gets around without the aid of a crutch, and against Tech, he appeared to lack his usual fire and dash.

Of course, it may have been the atmospheric conditions that evening that caused Babe to appear a bit off. One never can tell.

The Tip-Off

Mark Kelly, sports editor of the Los Angeles Examiner, devoted his entire column recently to Dan Virgil, complimenting Dan on his fine officiating at the Tech-U. S. C. game and naming him one of the best referees to show on the Coast for some time.

It's a great treat to be a toastmaster at a banquet and make the other boys talk. Saves wear and tear on the larynx.

It's getting close to the time Mel Ott will be aiming at those right field stands.

After years of research, it has been discovered that a bun, soaked in water and thinly covered with butter, makes the best banquet missile.

WESLEYAN BEATEN

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—Waynesburg College's basketball team broke its losing streak last night when it defeated the fast-going West Virginia Wesleyan five, 37-to-25. The Yellow Jackets started the game with a rush and at the end of the half were leading, 25-to-8. The Wolfpack then slowed up and the Bobcats cut the margin to 10 points. The lineup:

W. Va. Wes.—25.		Waynesburg—37.
Hagerdon	F	Avery
Watson	F	O'Connell
Battles	C	Smith
Fulks	G	White

Substitutions—Rondin for Hagerdon, Williams for Watson, Bachtel for Hartman, Urban for White. Field goals—Rondin 3, Williams, Battles 4, Bachtel, Avery 3, O'Connell 3, Smith 2, White 3. Foul goals—West Virginia Wesleyan, 7 out of 12; Waynesburg, 9 out of 15. Referee—Dougherty. Umpire—McGlinchey.

ST. FRANCIS COPS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—St. Francis College of Loretta, Pa., registered a 25-to-16 victory over the St. Francis College quintet of Brooklyn in the latter's gymnasium here last night. The winners came from behind late in the second half, after trailing, 8 to 6, at half time. The lineup:

Loretta—25.		Brooklyn—16.
Salisbury	F	White
Van Nun	F	Martell
Sullivan	C	Blake
Bittelbeaux	G	O'Connell
Kunzler	G	Harrison

Substitutes—Longey, Kelleher. Field goals—Salisbury 2, Van Nun 2, Sullivan 3, Bittelbeaux, Martell 4, Longey, Kelleher 2. Foule—Loretta, 9 out of 15; Brooklyn, 4 out of 12. Referee—Crosby.

Barbuti to Race In Newark Games

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The Newark A. C. has announced that Ray Barbuti, Olympic 400-meter champion, would make his first competitive appearance since his reinstatement at the Newark A. runner than Billy Hamilton. I have seen no outfielder in the class of Tommy McCarthy, who invented the trapped ball play.

"The best catcher during my time was Charley Bennett. He went through several seasons without having a passed ball, and he never had an equal as a thrower to bases."

Leo Durocher

WHEN Johnny Kling was catching for the Cubs and later for the Braves, whom he also managed, he was recognized as the best pocket billiardist that baseball had ever boasted. Leo Durocher, Yankee infielder, now promises to be a worthy successor to Kling as the leading pocket expert in the diamond sport. Marcel Camp, of Detroit, who competed in the world championship tournament last month, recently met Durocher in a few private games in New York, and Leo surprised the onlookers by defeating the star twice in 50-point matches, though he found Camp a little too strong for him in longer tests. It also developed that Durocher once extended Arthur Woods, another top-notcher, in a match at Springfield, Mass., losing by only six points in a 125-ball game. "The boys must respect Durocher," said Camp after his surprise. "He knows the game, has the confidence, and if he decided to take up pocket billiards seriously we in the game would have something new to think about."

A FORMER boxer who had been a principal in one of the most notable battles in the history of ring fighting passed on in the death of Danny Daly at St. Louis. Forty years ago Daly was a prominent featherweight, winning his greatest fame in a 91-round draw with Tommy White at South Omaha, Neb., on December 6, 1890. For that fight, which lasted 6 hours and 3 minutes, Daly received only $137. Primo Carnera can get more than that today for merely allowing himself to be introduced, even though his bout with Elzear Rioux, who looks like another setup, in Chicago tonight will be only his second in this country.

Daly's 91-round battle with White almost 40 years ago stands in the records as the second longest glove fight in history. The longest with gloves was the 110-round draw between Andy Bowen and Jack Burke in New Orleans on April 6, 1893, lasting 7 hours and 19 minutes. Bowen, a New Orleans Negro, also fought a battle of 85 rounds with Jack Everhardt and one of 48 rounds with Austin Gibbons. On December 14, 1894, he was knocked out by Kid Lavigne in the eighteenth round and died from the effects of his injuries.

NICK MARTIN BOXES WEST TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

What is a boxing show these days without a substitution?

Both last week and this Promoter Jim McGirr had to make last-minute substitutions in his main bout. Tonight, Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple, goes him one better. He will show the fans a substitute for a substitute.

Perhaps, on this basis, the Motor Square Club next Monday night will have the honor of offering substitutes for both Sergt. Sammy Baker and Joe Trippe, who threaten to sell out the place for their return battle.

SECOND SUB FOR WEST

Indian Tiger West, of Donora, Phoenix, Ariz., Trenton, N. J., and a few unpronounceable towns, remains as billed in the Moose Temple windup, but his opponent will not be Young Guido, of Sharon, nor will he be Young Saylor, of Charleroi. Instead he will be Nick Martin, of Cleveland, who takes the place of Saylor, who found he had a bad hand after agreeing to take the place of Guido, who, according to his manager, simply took a plain, old-fashioned, coldfooted runout, for which he is to be duly suspended by the State Athletic Commission.

This fellow Martin claims wins over Frank Monroe, Young Jack Dillon, Georgie Nichols, Kid Jackson and others and shows his courage in stepping in on something like 24 hours' notice where Guido fears to tread.

His windup thus kicked around, Promoter Flynn is basing most of his hopes tonight in his preliminary card, which looks good. He has Hans Roberts, the German welterweight favorite, in against Cowboy DeLuca, of Lawrenceville, in the semi-final, and Frank Novak, North Side heavyweight knockout star, who will be making his second professional appearance, against Ray Braun, also of the North Side, in the second battle, with Frankie Ellis, of Charleroi, boxing Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, in the opener.

BUSY BOXING CARD

Other bouts carded tonight include: Tommy Freeman vs. Bobby LaSalle, 10 rounds, Erie; Al Singer vs. Stanislaus Loayza, Doc Conrad vs. Harry Ebbets and Dom Volante vs. Louis Quadrini, 10 rounds each, Madison Square Garden, New York; Harry Sankey vs. Georgie Goldberg and Sammy Tisch vs. Sindulfo Diaz, 12 rounds each, Armory, New York; Primo Carnera vs. Elzear Rioux and Bruce Flowers vs. King Tut, 10 rounds each, Chicago; Jack Gross vs. Tom Kirby, 10 rounds, and Mickey Solmen vs. Ray Maxwell, Jack Barry vs. Patsy Perroni and Linn Jordan vs. TNT Gibbons, eight rounds each, Canton, O.; Frankie Stetson vs. Eddie Murdoch, 10 rounds, San Francisco; Frankie Campbell vs. Benny Ross, 10 rounds, Hollywood, Cal.; Dode Bercot vs. Cecil Geysel, six rounds, Seattle, and Ace Hudkins vs. Arthur Flynn, 10 rounds, Boston.

Between Rounds

Dan Billok, of Duquesne, will do his future boxing as a 126-pounder. He is in training now and ready to meet any of the local featherweights.

Answer to query—Mickey Walker is 29 years old and is 5 feet 7 inches tall.

Knute Hanson, the Massachusetts Dane, is being suggested as an opponent for Vincenzo Campolo when the New York Athletic Commission has ruled out Johnny Risko as being too small. Hanson holds a one-round knockout victory over Phil Scott, the English champion, who has beaten Campolo and Eddie Jack Blackburn in Miami. February 27. Knight also has knocked out Maxie Mann, who knocked out Campolo in South America.

The winner of the Jackie Hoogers-Benny Schwartz bout at Motor Square Garden has been promised a crack at Vidal Gregorio, which may or may not mean anything since Rodgers, with a record of six straight knockout victories, is being forced to box Schwartz, who already holds a victory over him, after having been originally promised a battle in the Garden with Gregorio or some other outstanding bantamweight before being asked to take on any of his local competitors. In addition to Schwartz, Johnny Dunn and Howard Mayberry all have been after matches with Rodgers, over whom they also hold decisions.

Incidentally, Manager John L. Herron, of the Garden, reports a sudden lull in the ticket sale for the Baker-Trippe fight next Monday night, indicating that the fans have gained the idea that the show already is a sell out. Nothing could be farther from the truth. While the advance sale has been unusually large, several thousand pasteboards still remain.

GOLFERS FIGHT CADDIE BAN

The ruling by Roscoe R. Koch, a deputy attorney general in Harrisburg, that employment of boys under 14 years of age as caddies is illegal and a violation of the state child labor laws, affects between 75 and 90 per cent of the bagtoters in Western Pennsylvania, according to George A. Ormiston, secretary of the W. P. G. A.

The ruling in general met with disfavor with golf officials in this section, the majority of whom contend that the work required of the youngsters not only is ideal and healthful but is profitable. E. E. McCoy, founder of the Caddie Welfare Movement, feels certain the barring of boys under the required age would work a hardship on needy youngsters, who are unable to earn money otherwise.

Others identified with golf in Western Pennsylvania felt certain that the ruling was contrary to the intent and spirit of the child labor law of 1915.

LAW DEFINED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Employment of boys under 14 years of age as golf caddies is illegal and a violation of the state child labor laws, Roscoe R. Koch, a deputy attorney general, ruled yesterday.

In a formal opinion to Peter Glick, secretary of labor and industry, Koch held that caddying is employment and comes within the provisions of the act.

Spokesmen for the golfers said that unless the deputy attorney general ruled that the caddies did not come within the child labor law of 1915 they would appeal the case to the courts. Koch's opinion said "the relief must be sought at the hands of the Legislature." The golfers at the recent conference seemed unwilling to wait until the next session of the General Assembly convening next January and expressed also an unwillingness to change the law restricting employment of children.

Troch exhibited accurate marksmanship, accounting for 194 in the singles and 184 in the doubles. Although beaten by Renfro in the singles, Troch continued to hold his lead by topping his rival, who was only able to score 173 in the doubles.

GLENDALE FACES GALLATIN SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS

The exhibition game between Union Switch and Signal and Clan Douglas, to be played at the Monongahela avenue grounds tomorrow afternoon, and the Gallatin-Glendale National Amateur Cup battle on Sunday head the local soccer program arranged for this week-end.

A large crowd likely will attend the Sunday game. Gallatin has just annexed the West Penn Cup and has designs on the national prize. Glendale cannot be taken lightly after what has happened this season. A bang-up battle should ensue.

REVERSE DECISION

The West Penn Association emulated the Boy Scout slogan at its meeting, when a "good-deed-a-day" decision was handed down in favor of Gallatin, the local governing body overruling the American League regarding the replay with the German Sport Club.

Fans anticipated the West Penn would reverse the league, because the decision of the league smacked of party politics, and the decision had little chance to stand in a court of appeals. So Gallatin should not feel that the entire district is opposed to the little town up the Monongahela Valley.

CHARTIERS TILTS LISTED

In the Chartiers Valley loop, Horning travels to Bridgemont Sunday. The Eagles will meet the Kramers at Cuddy Field, which is possibly covered with ice at this time.

The Pierpoints again are listed to travel to Detroit, and the game is fast getting into the "joke" class. The Holleys are evidently trying to get the locals disgusted enough to drop out of the national tourney, but this is not going to be done.

The Beaver Valley League last night decided to close its season immediately. The Crucible Steel team was awarded the title.

How to Play Basketball

Answered by
EDWARD McNICHOL,
Basketball Coach, University of Pennsylvania; Eastern Intercollegiate Champion.

Three makes first cut as shown, giving him two chances of having his man blocked by either 1 or 2 or 2's opponent. After 3 passes, 1 cuts as shown, blocking 2's man, allowing 2 to cut for basket.

The sizeable Italian finished training for the bout yesterday and will climb into the ring weighing about 270 pounds, while Rioux will scale about 210. Carnera's advantage in height will amount to three inches and he will outreach Elzear by four inches.

King Tut, of Minneapolis, and Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle Negro lightweight, also wound up preparation for their 10-round return bout.

He had risen from the restaurant table in smiling smugness, for had he not eaten and enjoyed a hearty meal? Now for a movie to top it off before going to bed.

In his theatre seat, grave rumblings in the stomach, pressure that told of gathering gas, cramping pains and other symptoms sounded the alarm. An attack of acute indigestion approached.

Apologetically, he stumbled his pained way to the aisle, where hurrying ushers helped him to his nearby hotel. The manager saw the blue-pale face, and the beads of pain that shone coldly on his pallid brow and ordered a physician called, as he aided the traveler to his room.

By CARL W. SHATTO

The Pirate puckchasers probably will be without the services of Jess Spring, veteran defenseman, when they meet the fast-going Detroit Cougars at Duquesne Garden tomorrow night.

Spring sustained a broken artery in his right leg just above the knee in a game in Ottawa early last week and has been unable to do any skating since that time. When the Bucs arrived in New York last Sunday for a clash with the Americans the crippled defenseman visited a specialist and he remained there for treatment, which he failed to tell Joe Boston. He returned to Pittsburgh yesterday and although his condition is greatly improved it is not likely that he will be able to return to the lineup until next week.

Jess Spring

BUC LINEUP SET

Manager Frank Fredrickson is convinced that Hib Milks, a forward for 15 years, can be used to the best advantage at defense and he has announced that Hib will remain in the backfield for the remainder of the season. Johnny MacKinnon is to team with Milks at defense in the starting lineup, and Gordon Fraser will continue at center.

Ren Manners, recalled from the London (Ontario) Club of the International League this week, was used at center on the spare front line in the long workout staged at the Garden today, and he is ready to assist Herb Drury in the business of giving Fraser suitable relief in the battle tomorrow.

TO FARM SPOONER

Although he is convinced that Andy Spooner is a valuable performer who will star as a regular within a few years, Pilot Pweddie has decided to send the Bucs' spare goalie to a minor league club for further seasoning. Joe Miller has been playing a bang-up game in the nets, and there's little chance for 19-year-old Andy to get much experience here. He probably will be placed with Minneapolis or St. Paul next week.

With the exception of Spring, all of the local skaters are in top condition. The Detroiters were handed a 3-1 defeat the last time they appeared here, but they have been "taking" their opponents quite regularly in recent weeks, and the Bucs probably will experience plenty of difficulty in repeating the feat.

SCHMELING NOT ABLE TO BOX, REPORT

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Max Schmeling has not been back fighting in America because he has been unable to fight anywhere, owing to severe injuries sustained in an automobile accident, the writer was informed today by a man whose authority to make statements of this kind cannot be questioned. Schmeling, he says, had been in bed for weeks only a short time ago, the nature of his injury being defined as "tendo-synovitis," which in 50-cent English is said to mean inflammation of the tendon. The inflamed area, it seems, is in one of Schmeling's ankles.

It is said that it wasn't until recently that he was able to get about unaided.

The accident occurred early in the fall and so painful was the injury that Schmeling not only has been prevented from doing any serious training since leaving America, but the sponsor for this story traces the successive postponements of his promised return to this source. Schmeling, he said, would have been back in America long ago had he been physically able to do so.

MAY NOT BOX MALONEY

Serious doubt thus is cast upon the German's ability to go through with his proposed fight with Jimmy Maloney in Berlin some time in March. Great care, it is said, must be exercised against a recurrence of the trouble which is represented as being not only painful but reluctant of cure and often chronic. Schmeling is scheduled to return to America in April to begin training for his world heavyweight championship fight with the Sharkey-Scott winner at the Yankee Stadium on June 26.

One of his last public showings in Germany, it appears, was in October. On this occasion he was scheduled to be introduced from the ring at one of the big fights over there and it was said that he hobbled into view, using a cane. In descending the steps after the introduction I was informed that he slipped, badly wrenching the injured ankle; also that he thereupon retired again to his bed and did not arise for weeks.

MAX IN PICTURE

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Frau Schmeling, mother of Max, the German Dempsey, took occasion today to make little of reports from the United States that her husky offspring was in no condition to fight because of the after-effects of an injury to an ankle suffered last year.

"He just finished filming 'Love in the Ring,' a fight picture in which he knocked out the Portuguese heavyweight, Jose Santa, only a few days ago," she said. "I don't understand why he shouldn't be in condition."

Carnera's Shoes 18½ Inches Long, Nine Wide

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The largest pair of shoes ever manufactured in this city were sent last night by air mail to Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer. They were boxing shoes and measured 9 inches across the soles and 18½ inches from heel to toe tip. The size was 21, and they were ordered for use in Carnera's fight at Chicago tonight.

like to pitch again. I said, O. K. and he shut 'em out for the third time.

"When we went out for the fourth game Kid Elberfield, shortstop for the Highlanders, came over to our bench. 'Who you going to pitch today, Joe?' asked the Kid. 'I don't know,' I said. 'I haven't talked to Walter, he hasn't come out yet.'

"Listen," said Elberfeld, 'if that Idaho blankety blank pitches again, none of us will have a job.'"

And there was the time Gabby Street was catching Tom Hughes in a game in Detroit and with the game well in hand, signalled for a fast ball against a batsman who said Joe, "couldn't hit a curve with a paddle." A fatal base-hit resulted.

STREET IS FIRED

"I said to Street, 'you're through. I am going to send you home. Get a ticket from Jerry (the secretary.)' Then the players laughed at Gabby so I said, 'Wait, don't get your ticket tonight. Wait until tomorrow by that time I'll have seven or eight more to send home and we can get a party ticket.'"

Players recalled an experience in St. Louis when Washington was defeated, 1 to 0, for the third time in three days. Cantillon took a seat beside the driver of the bus which was to take the players back to their hotel and said, "put up the curtains." "But, Mr. Cantillon, protested the driver, "The sun is shining. There is no sign of rain."

Or, another occasion rain ended a game with Washington trailing when the team had thrown away several chances to forge ahead before the downpour. As the bus waited for a letup in the rain, lightning killed one of the horses.

"The ways of Providence are past understanding," said the manager. "Here lightning kills a poor dumb brute of a horse and lets ball players like you live."

Joe Engel, now president of the Chattanooga club, was once the object of Cantillon's sarcasm. Engel was pitching for Minneapolis and was very wild. He walked seven or eight batsmen, and Cantillon fooled him out. "I'll get control yet, Joe," said Engel. "You will, Cantillon agreed, "but you'll get in the Virginia League."

The Allentown Club, presenting a new lineup as a result of the departure of Ski Twyman and Artie Hoffman, begins its second-round schedule in the Allegheny County League tonight when it opposes the Charleroi Lions on the Allentown floor.

A. S. (Dad) Rogers, sponsor of the club, has signed several new players, including Harvey Lecollier, to fill the vacancies in his lineup. The Hill Toppers appear to be stronger than in the first half of the season and should make a good showing in the race.

Monday—Homestead at Pintex.
Tuesday—Charleroi at Verona; Allentown at Lafayette.
Wednesday—Lafayette at Goldenseals.
Thursday—Pintex at Elizabeth.
Friday—Verona at Allentown.
Saturday—Elizabeth at Homestead; Goldenseals at Charleroi.

Kentucky Kills Anti-Race Track Betting Bill

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The anti-race track betting legislation was disposed of in short order when the Kentucky Senate yesterday, by a vote of 25 to 10, defeated an attempt to place on the calendar bills to repeal the pari-mutuel law and to prohibit race track betting.

The committee on criminal law reported the two bills without expression of opinion. A constitutional majority of 20 senators is necessary to enroll bills when such a report is made.

GRIMES LATEST SPEAKER FOR SPORTS FETE

Another guest of striking fame was added to the sport writers' dinner list today when Burleigh Grimes, star pitcher of the Pirates, accepted an invitation to attend and "say a few words."

Grimes was reached by the committee in Minerva, Ohio, via the long-distance telephone. Burleigh said he would be glad to attend the big affair which will be held Thursday night of next week under the auspices of the local chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America.

MYERS MAY ATTEND

Burleigh also stated that in all probability, Hi Myers, former star outfielder of the Robins, would come to the banquet in company with the pitcher. Myers, a native of East Liverpool, is now a bank cashier. He and Grimes have been pals for many years, their friendship growing out of their long association on the Brooklyn club.

With Grimes, Hack Wilson, Lloyd Waner and other stars signifying their intention, the boys of the diamond should be well represented. And besides the players, there will be Manager Jewel Ens of the Pirates, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Braves, and possibly Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs.

WHITEY TO BE THERE

The committee yesterday was pleased to receive a reservation request from Charles (Whitey) Alperman, of Etna. Years ago, Whitey was the captain of the Brooklyn club. The Etna celebrity will be one of scores of former players who will be glad of the opportunity to linger in the flavor of the diamond game.

John L. Hernon reports a lively demand for seats, but Hernon states that owing to the spacious dimensions of Pirates Hall, where the dinner will be served, he is in a position to care for many more. His address is Box 218, Pittsburgh.

Spug Myers, Pocatello, Idaho, lightweight, will meet Joe Medill, Chicago, in a 10-round semi-final.

IOWA HEARING TOMORROW

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The Western Conference faculty committee will meet in secret session here tomorrow to consider again the reinstatement of the University of Iowa to good athletic standing.

Although members of the committee refused to discuss the matter, it was indicated that a favorable vote for reinstatement was probable, to take effect around March 1.

One strong indication that Iowa is virtually assured of reinstatement by March 1 is the fact that Iowa has postponed its annual national Iowa Night celebration from February 26, the Founders' Day anniversary, to March 10.

One conference leader, who asked that his name be withheld, indicated the conference was desirous of giving the Hawkeyes a clean bill before the meeting of the North Central Association, March 7. The North Central body, it has been reported, has named a committee to investigate athletic conditions at Iowa.

Ever since the December meeting, when the committee advised Iowa it had more "cleaning up" to do in its athletic house, the sentiment toward reinstatement has been known to be growing. The committee was not a little pleased when Iowa leaders followed up the unsuccessful plea by barring 14 athletes and bowing completely to the committee's demands.

CANNES, France, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Bill Tilden advanced to the semi-final round of the international tennis tournament by defeating Clair Grasel in a third round match by scores of 6-2, 6-0, here yesterday. His semi-final opponent will be Jacques Brugnon, oldest of the French "Musketeers."

ELEANOR HOLM SETS RECORD

Homestead Library put up a great battle, but could not cope with the brilliant exhibition staged by the W. S. A. team in a special 150-yard free-style race.

Harban Funeral Services Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Funeral services for Dr. L. Lee Harban, prominent dentist, but better known as a golfer, will be held tomorrow at the residence of his brother, Dr. Walter S. Harban, with Bishop W. F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating.

Dr. Harban died of pneumonia yesterday after a week's illness. He was well known throughout the East as a golf player and enthusiast, and won many district and middle Atlantic championships and invitation tournaments.

GENE MORETTI, KELLY DRAW

and after dropping the next round, came back to outbox Kelly in the last four sessions. Both fighters weighed in at 150½.

YAROSZ VICTOR

Ted Yarosz, the Monaca welterweight, who has yet to lose a professional fight, kept his record intact in the six-round semi-final bout, winning from Jackie Herman, Wheeling veteran. Yarosz outboxed Jackie, stabbing a hard left in the face of the West Virginia Italian with regularity and received the verdict by his clever performance in the last two rounds. Herman's left eye was puffed at the close of the bout, while Yarosz seemed almost as fresh as when he entered the ring. Yarosz weighed 147, while Herman scaled one pound heavier.

Giving away nearly seven pounds in weight proved the undoing of little Sammy Paris, clever Hill District fighter, who dropped the decision to Joey Angelo, of Braddock, in the second bout. Paris weighed 123¾, against 131 for Angelo.

Abe Dempsey, New Kensington slugger, got the referee's decision over Sammy Chido, Pittsburgh welter, in the six-round opener. Chido weighed 147 while Dempsey came in at 142½.

Bridge Between Capital, Labor; the Foreman

By B. C. FORBES

IF YOU were asked who is the key man constituting the bridge between capital and labor, between executives and wage-earners, what would be your reply?

Mine would be, "the foreman."

The influence, the importance, of the foreman is but poorly understood by many employers. Correcting this defect would mean much for the furtherance of better relations between employers and employed and of national stability.

DID you ever ask a wage earner whom he is working for? Many, if not most, workmen talk about working for, not the corporation or other concern employing them, but for Bill Jones or Tom Smith or whatever happens to be the name of their foreman. The foreman is their boss. Oftentimes he is the only boss they know even by sight. Still more often he is the only boss they have any dealings with whatsoever. He, and he alone, is the man who, in their eyes, typifies authority, typifies capital. From him alone they get their orders. To him alone they are responsible.

AMERICAN foremen, collectively, have more to do with moulding sentiment among the rank-and-file of the people and families of this country than politicians or editorial writers or preachers or teachers or labor union leaders or any other class.

Training schools for foremen should constitute an outstanding feature of American industrial and economic life. And they will, by and by.

E. H. TINGLEY, Dayton, secretary of the National Association of Foremen, and editor of the Foremen's Magazine, writes:

"I am enclosing A Code of Ethics for Foremen, which has been prepared by a committee from our association.

"We think the foremen are very important and their real possibilities are not, in many cases, recognized by the management. Our national organization is composed of about 14,000 foremen and executives scattered all over the United States. We have grown about 2,500 in the last six months, which shows that more foremen are recognizing their responsibilities and are looking forward to increased education and advancement."

THE code is worthy of nation-wide recognition and consideration by employers, executives, foremen and workers alike. It reads:

"1. The foremen should recognize that every man above, beside or below, has an inherent desire to do good work and to be a useful and respected citizen. He should not assume that any man wants to do anything less than his best until he has considered every other possible motive.

"2. The foreman should keep an open mind on all subjects, striving to maintain a broad and balanced outlook and being always willing to recognize merit in another's ideas.

"3. The forman should deal fairly with the management, the men and other foremen, assuming responsibility for his own mistakes and refraining from shifting blame to others.

"4. The foreman should strive to understand the principles of business which make for success or failure of industry. He should pass at least some of the fundamentals of business principles along to his men, so they can see their own relation to the general scheme.

"5. The foreman should keep informed as to the latest developments in equipment and processes. He should recommend or put into effect such methods as will produce improved quality, lower costs for the product and better working conditions.

"6. The foreman should regard his profession as a field of social service, offering an opportunity to help working people obtain maximum satisfaction from life.

"7. The foreman should endeavor to earn, and carefully guard, a reputation for good moral character, good citizenship and common honesty and to support and promote the uplifting influences of the community."

DOESN'T that strike you as eminently sound?

NEW PEAK SEEN FOR ATLANTA THIS YEAR

Record Construction Loans; Country Banks Reported In Better Condition

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The collapse of the bull market will prove no check to the industrial renaissance of the south, in the opinion of competent local observers.

Referring espeically to conditions in the southeast, Ronald Ransom, retired head of the Atlanta Clearing House and vice president of the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta, in a message to this column, predicted that in 1930 a new peak in construction would be attained in the southern metropolis.

"Gov. Eugene R. Black of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta," Mr Ransom pointed out, "recently expressed the opinion that our section was perhaps less affected by the stock market collapse of last fall than any other section and that our business conditions are fundamentally sound. Our state banking department says that our country banks are in better shape than in some time. All this indicates that the financial situation is satisfactory."

CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Atlanta was one of the pioneers in municipal advertising, and Mr. Ransom reports that the campaign, which has been successful in attracting new industries, will be continued.

"Last year," he pointed out, "new manufacturing plants and additions to existing plants in Georgia involved an expenditure of over $19,000,000. In spite of the satisfactory growth shown in the last few years we feel that the industrial development of the Southeast is still in its infancy.

"Building permits were off in Atlanta last year as compared to 1928. There are good reasons to believe that 1930 will be the largest in the city's history. It is estimated that the year will see from 25 to 30 million dollars expended in new buildings. The Healey estate has commenced the erection of a large office building on the most important unimproved corner in the financial district, and this and other office buildings in the course of construction or being planned will take care of the increasing importance of Atlanta as southeastern headquarters for out-of-the-state houses.

"The work of the Forward Atlanta Commission accounts at least in part for the city having acquired nearly 700 new concerns in four years. It is estimated that these have added over $30,000,000 to the city's payrolls. The commission has carried on a four-years' advertising campaign in behalf of Atlanta and it will be continued through 1930. Results from this have been gratifying."

FARMING BIG PROBLEM

Referring to agricultural conditions, Mr. Ransom added:

"The agricultural problem continues to be the most serious one with which Georgia has to contend. Conditions are being improved with better methods, greater crops and less acreage and diversification and with more attention to the raising of livestock. There is every reason to regard the organization of the Federal Farm Board as a forward step in the solution of these farm problems. Our 1929 crops exceeded 1928 by $29,000,000.

"The cotton section of the work of this board has been put in the hands of men well qualified to handle it. They have been invited to locate their marketing agency in Atlanta on the theory that it is the commercial capital of the important and still growing textile industry of the Piedmont region. Already in round numbers this region spins five of the seven millions of bales consumed in the United States."

The South has not yet begun to scratch the surface of its vast economic potentialties. The greatest need of the South is a more intelligent wage policy. The district is retarding its own prosperity by hiring out its human beings at depreciated prices. Organized labor has a fruitful field for operation south of the Mason and Dixon Line. Labor progress in the North too is contingent on an elevation of standards in the South which is becoming an increasingly important competitor.

Hatry Crash Cost Lloyds About $2,500,000

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—About £500,000 will cover the loss sustained by Lloyds Bank through the recent Hatry crash, Chairman J. Beaumont Pease told shareholders at the annual meeting of Lloyds Bank today.

Until some difficult questions of law between innocent parties are settled, he said, "it will be impossible to say exactly what the loss may be."

"However," he added, "we have taken the prudent course of providing in the usual way from the profits of the past year the sum of £500,000. We are quite satisfied that in no case is there any reasonable possibility of that amount being exceeded. On the contrary we believe it will be substantially reduced."

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The offering of nearly $80,000,000 in new issues diverted attention from listed bonds today, but the market showed considerable resistance to switching operations.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Market More Active — Industrials Up Here

STOCK MARKET SHOWS MORE ACTIVITY

List at Intervals Swept By Profit-Taikng Sales But Prices Move Upward

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The stock market showed increased activity and strength today with the oils and the public utilities in the forefront of the advance. Profit-taking sales swept the market, at intervals, but they were generally well absorbed, the best prices of the day, as a rule, being recorded in the afternoon trading.

The cotton market, which ran into heavy liquidation earlier in the week, appeared to have steadied in today's trading. Further selling developed, however, in the wheat market, an early reaction of 2 cents a bushel carrying active futures to new low levels for the season.

RATE RAISED

Reversing the procedure of recent sessions, call money opened at 4 per cent, the lowest renewal rate since January 27, 1928, and then advanced to 4½. Bankers' acceptances were reduced ⅛ of 1 per cent for all maturities. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady.

There was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Bradstreet's weekly review continued to characterize business as "fair to quiet," but sets forth that "taking the month as a whole, industry has shown definite expansion, and there is no question but what employment was likewise expanded from the low levels of December, while, on the other hand, operations are not so active nor is buying so well advanced as a year ago. The Studebaker Corporation omitted the usual quarterly stock dividends of 1 per cent, but Allis Chalmers and Sears Roebuck made public excellent sales statement, the latter for the first period of its new 13 month calendar.

American Machine and Foundry was marked up 11 points and R. H. Macy, Columbian Carbon, New York and Harlem, J. I. Case and Westinghouse Electric sold 5 to 7 points higher.

UTILITIES STRONG

Public utilities presented a long list of strong spots. Peoples Gas, American and Foreign Power and North American all advanced 5 points or more, while Brooklyn Union Gas, Columbia Gas, Standard Gas and Electric, Laclede Gas and International Telephone advanced 3 points or more.

Heavy buying of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which crossed 65 for a gain of more than 2 points, started a brisk demand for the other oil shares. Houston advanced 3 points and Mexican Seaboard, Indian Refining and American Republics moved up 2 to 2½ points, with several others up a point or more.

Simmons ran into further selling on the announcement of new financing, but early declines of a point or more in Montgomery-Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Safeway Stores and Cluett Peabody were made up.

Prices tapered off on week-end profit taking in the last hour and the volume of business also dwindled. Recessions were held to a point or so and a later spurt carried U. S. Steel, Radio and Consolidated Gas up to around their best levels again. The market closed firm. Sales totaled approximately 3,600,000 shares.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The cotton market opened very steady today at an advance of 8 to 15 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. The extent of the recent decline seemed to have created considerable short covering, which was rather active covering, which appeared to be combined with some trade and commission house buying.

May sold up to 16.31c and October to 16.99c, and the initial demand but buyers seemed to be getting their contracts at the advance, and the market soon weakened under a renewal of more or less general selling or liquidation.

At the early lowers remit as prices bored into the new low ground, and the market was rather unsettled at the end of the first half hour. May sold off to 16.20c and October to 16.70c, making net declines of 9 to 11 points. Liverpool cables said that investing, together with continental and Bombay buying appeared hedging and scattering liquidation in that market.

Offerings were absorbed on the early decline and the market was less active later in the morning with the tone steadier on covering combined with some trade buying and probably some buying for a reaction. Old crop conditions received back a shade yesterday's closing quotations while new crop months recovered several points, but the bulges were not fully maintained. At midday May was selling around 16.24c and October 16.77, or 3 to 5 points net.

PHONE RATES CUT IN N.Y.

ALBANY, N Y Jan 31 —(AP)—The Public Service Commission today ordered the New York Telephone Company to put into effect at midnight tonight a new rate schedule which in effect reduced by 20 per cent a new schedule already announced by the Telephone Company. The commission's schedule retains the four party line service as furnished upstate at present and which the company had announced would be discontinued.

Commissioner George R Lunn said that he and his fellow members on the commisson were sure that the rates they proposed would yield the Telephone Company the 7 per cent return to which the United States Court has said the company as entitled on its investment

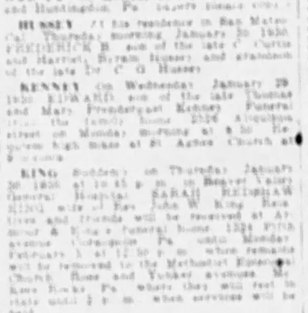
He said the commission had tentatively cut the company's valuation figures by about $27,000,000.

Telephone Company officials indicated that they would move for a Federal Court injunction restraining the commission from enforcing its order

MOTHERS KNOW ITS WORTH

MRS. IRA ARNOLD
Box 63, Rocklake, N. Dak.

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good this medicine is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.



MRS. MAUD MEYERS
460 E. 15th Street, Dubuque, Iowa

"I read an ad. in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I always feel strong right after, since I have taken the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Maud Meyers.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT the question of whether a tomato was a fruit or vegetable was decided by the U. S. Supreme Court as a vegetable. Decision in 1893.

That James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D. C., never set a foot in this country.

That "Omnibus" is a Latin word meaning "for all."

That with a little dog it is correct to say that he wags his tail, but where the animal is a hound the tail is known as the "stern." Similarly an otter would wag his "pole," a rabbit his "scut," a fox his "brush" and a deer his "single." Any other questions?

OTHER NECESSITY

THAT the lady's side-saddle was invented by a member of the aristocracy because she had a lame leg and couldn't ride astride.

That in the editorial department of the Cleveland News, one of the better newspapers, there is a radio which keeps going and the only person on the staff who can't stand it is the rag's radio editor.

That in Santos, Brazil, you may ride along the street in your shirt sleeves, but when you enter one of the many parks (which are the pride of the city) you must wear a coat, tho' the burg isn't far from the Equator.

That the original "Charlot Revue," to which critics compare other revusicals, ran a year in America but made only $25,000 profit.

LIFE IS ANNOYING

THAT in the racing department of the New York Morning Telegraph, which prides itself on being "America's Oldest and Most Authoritative" racing newspaper hangs a 1930 calendar of the Daily Racing Form, which calendar bears the annoying legend "American Turf Authority."

That among other unbelievable things is the rumor that a certain broadcasting station executive is in league with rum-runners and signals them when it is okay to "come in" by playing a certain tune.

That Georgia was originally an English Penal Colony, similar to the French Devil's Island.

That normally your nose is as high as your forehead.

That the ordinary office swivel chair was invented by Thomas Jefferson, the third President of the United States.

That we entered the War of 1812, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the Huge Tiff all in the month of April.

OLD MAN RIVER

THAT a Chinese will not save the life of another Chinese from drowning because of the belief that the river god demands the body and soul of the unfortunate man.

That Switzerland has patented more inventions than any other nation.

That there is a cave near Coudersport, Pa., where ice freezes in the summer time and melts in the winter.

That the poison injected by a mosquito when he stings you and that of a rattlesnake are one and the same thing.

That theatrical managers expect from 100 to 200 per cent profit on their risks, and in the case of musical comedies that are raging hits, they often must wait a year before they cash in.

That the profit on those dollar sandwiches in the local delicatessens frequented by "celebs" is about 95 cents.

ACOUSTICS ELUSIVE

THAT the acoustics of a theater cannot be figured out in advance, which is why the Century Theater flopped as an Uptown Opera House and why the Metropolitan is so hard to move.

That all over the civilized world woman is the standard of beauty, except in Greece, where man is.

That the strongest muscle in the average Broadwayite's body is that which moves the jaw "listening to them at Dave's Blue Room then."

That the white of an egg will serve as "Library Glue" in a pinch.

NO CURE, NO PAYEE

THAT it appears the Chinese do not pay their physicians while they are well so that they will be served free when they are ailing. Dr. Emanual Eisenberg, one of the better known Orientals, corrects us in this manner: "The fact is that they pay their doctors only after he succeeds in bringing them back to health and if he doesn't he's outtaluck."

That the Greeks invented the game of craps.

That the man called the Father of all Jokes, Joe Miller, after whom a tome of anecdotes is christened, never wrote one in his life.

And that you cannot be put in jail, or fined, or anything, for refusing to pay a cover charge in a night club.

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Stab Lou Richman In N. Y. Night Club

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Police were looking today for the unidentified man who slashed Lou Richman, proprietor of the Dizzy Club and brother of Harry Richman, actor, with a table knife in Dave's blue room.

Friends of the night club owner said he knew the man who slashed him. They said the cutting resulted from $20 which Richman lent his assailant and which was not repaid.

New Accountancy Class Announced

A new class in the Pace course in accountancy and business administration will begin Wednesday evening, February 5, at Pittsburgh School of Accountancy. The instructor in charge will be C. W. Salmond, secretary-treasurer of the Castalia Portland Cement Company. Mr. Salmond will be assisted by Attorney D. S. Thomas, law instructor, and A. Roy Carson, manager of the Vulcan Detinning Company.

Officers Elected By Bible Class

The Sunday School of the Grace Lutheran Church, Troy Hill, has elected these officers for the current year: Superintendent, A. D. Riester; assistant superintendent, Elmer J. Kradel; secretary, H. K. Krebs; assistant secretary and treasurer, Clarence L. Dallmas; treasurer, H. J. Volkert; enrollment secretary, H. A. Miller.

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31, 1930

Established 1927, by Pitt Publishing Co., Pittsburgh, Pa. President, William Randolph Hearst; Vice President and Publisher, H. M. Bitner; Secretary-Treasurer, A. W. Clark; Associate Editor, C. W. Return of Prosperity Is Seen in Mill Smoke

Pittsburgh smoke spells prosperity. And Pittsburgh smoke is pouring from the stacks of steel mills in considerable degree greater than it has been for about three months. Operations have increased sharply in the last few weeks until they now are per cent of capacity. This represents a steady upward from the low point of the recent slump, around 50 per the greater weight of the depression having been felt o December.

The increase in steel production, of course, calls for more , but its effect in the employment situation extends l the walls of the mills. This is indicated in the increase in classified advertising for help in various lines. When steel is going good the wave of prosperity expands.

This bears out predictions that the situation resulting from k gambling in the East could be only temporary because country itself was in a healthy condition and would continue to demand all necessary commodities, as it had in the past.

The worst of that difficulty has vanished.

Absence of League Court's Shadow Will Be a Relief

Who are urging us to join the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations, sometimes misleadingly called the "World Court"?

The three most distinguished advocates of our joining the League Court are Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and Herbert Hoover.

Their names carry weight. But we need more than weighty names to justify us in abandoning our traditional policy of independence from European politics and entanglements.

It happens that these three men have proved themselves bad advisors as to our conduct in international affairs, AND THEY NOW ADMIT IT.

Mr. Root, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Hoover 10 years ago urged that we enter the League of Nations, "with reservations." They headed a group of 31 Republicans who thus declared for the League in 1920, in a public manifesto.

But now all of them agree publicly that it was wise for the United States NOT to enter the League of Nations at all, reservations or no reservations.

President Hoover denounces the League's attempt to assert itself by FORCE, a procedure with which this country has sympathy.

If Messrs. Root, Hughes and Hoover were wrong about urging us into the main organization of the League, is it not possible that they are wrong in urging us into the League's most active department, the World Court?

In fact, is it not altogether PROBABLE that they are wrong?

Have they not in a sense disqualified themselves to be worthy guides in this particular matter?

Mr. Hughes is naturally prejudiced in favor of the Court, because the League members elected him as an judge on their court, where he now sits.

Mr. Root is naturally prejudiced in favor of the League's Court because he was one of the jurists who was invited by the League council to draw up the Court's statute.

At that time Mr. Root described it as "a court which is now going to form a part of the system of the League of Nations." That was in 1920 when, as we have seen, Mr. Root wanted us to enter the League, too.

The Hearst newspapers hope and believe that the Senate will not vote us into the League's Court on conditions which Sir Cecil Hurst offers as a substitute for the Senate's stringent proposed reservations.

The country will breathe a sigh of relief to have the League Court's shadow banished.

And probably President Hoover, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Root will some day join the rest of us in being glad we are out of the League's Court, JUST AS THEY NOW CONFESS TO BEING GLAD WE DID NOT TAKE THEIR ADVICE AND JOIN THE LEAGUE.

About Jewelry for Presents

Nothing Better, on Many Occasions.

One of life's great pleasures is giving and receiving presents. And it is better to give than to receive. For those that give, the pleasure is doubled. The giver has the pleasure of possession for a moment after buying the gift, and then the pleasure of giving it creates happiness and gratitude in another.

This is to remind husbands, fathers and others that for many occasions the best of gifts is some piece of jewelry, silverware or other purely ornamental article.

The hard working old mother in the frontier cabin, whose husband and grown-up sons gave her a new axe to cut kindling wood, on her birthday, probably appreciated the axe. But a breastpin, to fasten her dress at the throat, a ring, or a watch keeping good time, would have pleased her more.

For birthdays, Christmas or Easter, for wedding anniversaries especially, and for wedding presents, jewelry is always acceptable and welcome, especially if the gift be sent with the suggestion that it can be, if desired, exchanged for another article at the same store. No one's taste is infallible.

Jewelry is for sale, beautiful in appearance, at prices to suit every purse, from the 14-karat gold ring with a synthetic emerald, costing perhaps $50, and as beautiful as a $5,000 ring, to the string of carefully matched pearls, recently offered in Fifth avenue, New York, for $600,000.

An article well chosen, with a word to the effect that the article will look much better on the recipient than it would anywhere else, is sure to be welcome.

To make a present of jewelry, or silverware, indicates a desire TO GIVE PLEASURE, and nothing else.

Common Sense in Strike

Injunction Agreement May Presage Arrangement of Peaceful Relations.

The striking taxicab drivers acted sensibly in agreeing that they should be enjoined from interfering with the operation of Green Cabs. Counsel for the drivers told Judge Reid that the drivers were opposed to violence and consequently were in favor of such an injunction.

Judge Reid, always quick to appreciate intelligence, congratulated the drivers and granted a permanent injunction immediately. The court's time was saved, the principals appeared before the public in a favorable light and there was born a hope that the understanding relations between driver and employer in this particular case might soon be extended to cover their disagreement.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

A Lot of Navy Beans

THE London naval debate is now in its third week. The talking is full of words.

"Bugs" Baer

The only protection England has is its fleet. Deprive Britain of its navy and it is a shucked oyster.

Then what are the diplomats doing in London? The peace chatter is a lot of international ectoplasm.

When Spain suggested that Italy reduce its cruisers to the seventh decimal point there was an Italian howl that shellacked the rafters.

But you cannot stretch a spider's whiskers across a washtub. The cruise of the American delegation to London is just another boatride.

The first tangle in the conference was over our rum fleet of 25 destroyers. Shall this booze armada be classified as fighting vessels or will they be tabulated as just another harmless growl from an animal cracker?

If the conference really wants to reduce something to reasonable proportions why doesn't it start on Prime Carnera's feet?

And even then we don't get the real facts. The only time the cards are on the table is when they fall out of sleeves.

Isn't It So?

A poor man has to spend money in order to prove that he has it; a rich man doesn't.

ALADDIN'S LATEST LAMP

By Herbert Kaufman

INVESTIGATION tends to justify the Mazdanian theory that all great blessings stream from the sun.

There are no records to signify that the Persian Magi were aware of the energetic or fructifying content in ray matter, but the conclusions of science and the many beliefs of the Zoroastan cults STRANGELY concur.

For millions of years, the sun has daily thrown off an incredible tonnage of gases, to be digested by the forests and vegetation of the earth.

In other words, sunlight is tangible and indestructible SUBSTANCE.

Coal is solidified sunlight captured from piths, foliage, saps and grasses, then carbonized and stored away to furnish the future with fuels, chemicals and aniline concentrates.

Sunlight is a DEMONSTRABLE constituent of milk, which absorbs the bone-building vitamins, after they have been processed in nature's various and amazing laboratories, prominent among which are garden greens, dairy pastures and the secreting organs of fish and mammals.

Now research assures us that we may shortly expect to derive some of them through CONTACT methods. The General Electric Company, working toward that end, claims to possess a lamp that mechanically duplicates the benevolent functions of Old Sol himself.

If Schenectady isn't counting unhatched chickens, the Wizards of the Hudson have executed a raid on high heaven comparable only to the Promethean theft of fire.

SPEAKING before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Dr. Luckeish, the corporation's spokesman, prophesies that the most favorable open air conditions may be reproduced ANYWHERE by means of a little six-inch mercury and tungsten bulb capable of transforming the dimmest basement corner into an equivalent Arizona hilltop.

Through its use, we may establish favorable health environment, wherever there's an outlet plug, and transfer Miami and San Diego climates to Manhattan apartments and Detroit factories at will.

Granting that the doctor knows his beans, the invention will instantly turn hospital wards to tropic beaches, and permit consumptives to remain at home, and secure from a push-button the invigorating atmosphere of Colorado Springs.

NOT only is this super-sunlight immeasurably more intense than the REAL article, but since it is continuously available, periods of convalescence will be proportionately shortened: Q. E. D.

Above all, the new lamp promises the immediate wiping out of rickets, which invariably derive from lack of the VERY vitamin that sunlight so lavishly contains.

Meanwhile, as we impatiently experiment to develop into manufacture and distribution, advanced pharmaceutical practice is advertising the isolation of the entire known vitamin group, and offering the five fundamentals of longevity and robustness over the nearest drug store counter.

Our complex civilization MUST depend upon synthetics for the necessities of which abnormal habits increasingly deprive us.

The Rumanian peasant who just died at the age of a hundred and fifty, if truth were known, merely obeyed primitive instincts, worked in the open, ate plenty of salad greens and roughage, drank milk at every meal and consistently restored fatigue losses in sleep's repair shop.

The closer the REST of us follow in his footsteps the LIKELIER we are to meet OUR grandchildren.

MOST of us are perfect crybabies about happiness.

If we can't be happy, we won't play—

By happiness, we mean a feeling much like that which possessed us when we saw our first Christmas tree . . . a warm, tingling satisfaction, a sense of comfort and delight, an absence of all fear or anxiety or discomfort . . .

The feeling of a healthy child or a comfortable animal . . . that's the test of the perfect life, for most of us.

INDEED, IT'S DOUBTFUL IF WE CAN LIVE REALLY GREAT LIVES AND YET RETAIN "HAPPINESS."

There are realms of experience which are as far above our childish conceptions of happiness, as college is above kindergarten. The people who live in these realms are not "happy" . . . they are not contented nor comfortable . . . they rarely feel safe or gay. They are grown up people and they can no longer feel as a child feels. They know too much about life to feel safe or gay or contented. BUT THEY ARE TOO INTERESTED IN LIFE TO CARE ABOUT THEIR OWN COMFORT.

The really worth while things in life have been accomplished by people who have learned to disregard happiness.

These people were not balked or stopped in their progress by suffering or persecution or loss or death or any of those conditions which most of us regard as insurmountable unhappiness.

THEY SAW, CLEARLY, THAT THE TRAIL OF LIFE LED RIGHT THROUGH SUCH CONDITIONS.

They no longer spend their time wondering whether they are mad or glad or sad—

They do not gum up the works because their individual plans have gone awry—

They have, somehow, fallen in step with the greater rhythm of life and they swing in line, in spite of their stubbed toes.

They respond to life without putting up a lot of personal argument as the trees and the animals respond. And this, I suspect, is the natural and healthy way to live. We humans have become self-conscious and snooty with civilization. Our personal reactions matter tremendously to us. But they really matter very little to life. Life wants THE GOODS . . .

And if we'd go ahead, and produce the goods quietly, without putting up such a holler every time we're hurt, we'd really have a much more comfortable time of it, in the long run.

THE UNHAPPIEST AND THE HOLLOWEST LIVES ON EARTH ARE THOSE WHICH ARE MOST CONCERNED WITH THEIR OWN HAPPINESS.

Text for Today When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah xliii:2.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

A FLAGELLATED chamber is a microscopic cavity lined with living cells possessed of long whips like the tails of spermatozoa; by lashing their whips they keep the current moving through the chamber, and indeed through the whole sponge.

Round the base of its whip each cell has a transparent collar, a collar which has the power of grasping suspended organic particles as they drift by and passing them down to the cell below.

H. G. Wells

They are then taken into the cell itself, and there digested. The current, then, is like the current that flows through the pharynx of a sea-squirt, or the gills of a clam; it brings food and oxygen, and washes waste matters away, but sponges are unique in having an enormous number of separate openings through which they take in their food; they have nothing that can be called a mouth.

There are many different kinds of sponges, all rooted to, or in, the bottom of the sea, river or pond that they inhabit, all making this slow, creeping current, and giving no other sign of life.

There are common sponges that form green and yellow encrustations on rocks, crabs and so on, between tide marks, others that occur in fresh water—sometimes in such enormous masses that they may stop up water pipes; some, inhabiting the deep sea, weave glassy baskets of beautiful and symmetrical shapes instead of the horny web we wash with.

The sponge is a very loosely organized community of cells. It has a certain definiteness of architecture that varies from species to species, but its shape is by no means stereotyped; individuals vary so much that the classification of the group is a matter of extreme difficulty.

Besides the myriads of milling collar-cells that keep the current moving there are one or two other kinds of tissue—the muscle-like cells that control the diameters of the canals, wandering cells that drift about the gelatinous body of the sponge as they choose, like white blood-corpuscles, the flat cells that pave its outer surface and other cells that make the skeleton.

This skeleton may be of various kinds; there are sponges whose skeletons are made of spicules of carbonate of lime, or of silica.

Like a Coeleuterate, a sponge has great powers of reorganization. A small piece cut away from a sponge will live and grow—and, indeed, there is no very evident reason why it should not, for the parts of a sponge are not differentiated into organs, and a fragment a tenth of an inch across would contain all the different kinds of tissue that form a sponge.

When it is isolated it will simply continue to grow. Moreover, with Obelia, a sponge can be forced through gauze so that all its cells are separated from each other; nevertheless, they will clump together again and rebuild a shoal of little sponges.

There is the sexual method: The spermatozoa are tiny cells with short, blunt, stiff tails, and the eggs are giant cells that creep about the sponge like leucocytes; fertilization results in the formation of a ciliated larva that swims away, settles down somewhere else and develops into a new sponge.

In many sponges—especially in the fresh water species—there is a second method by means of gemmules.

A gemmule is simply a globular mass of tissue that withdraws itself, so to speak, from the life of the community to which it belongs and encloses itself, hermit-like, in a thick, horny capsule.

After resting for a time in the tissues of the sponge it is liberated, usually, by the death and decay of the parent, and then proceeds to grow into a new sponge, just as any detached fragment may do.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Thoughts while strolling: Manhattan's artistic flair—Michelangelo flanked by Woolworth. Early American and late Grand Rapids. Ancient Egypt and modern Macdougall Alley. Shawled foreign women who dumbly all day in employment agencies.

Alfred Freuh, the caricaturist, a Lima boy, who made good in the city. The movie theater with ushers sporting red roses in lapels. Marlen E. Pew, of Editor and Publisher. Faith Baldwin, the novelist. And mother of twins. The theatrical tyro who will not speak to actors on the street.

Irene Hayes, a small town Kansas girl, with a florist shop on Park avenue. The gloom of an empty theater. New York's gushing greeters. Sailing Baruch's snow-white hair. Newsies who cry: "Gitcher poiper!" Another novelist and mother with twins—Fannie Kilbourne.

Actresses who cannot get away from "acting" even in crossing the street. Fontaine Fox. The dashing handkerchiefs Aubrey Eads sports. Walter Damrosch's pleasant smile. An evening bonnet of crystal leaves—$125. Daniel Frohman, the actor's staunch friend.

Jane Dixon, once a Park Row sob sister. Now the wife of a West Point Army officer. The veteran Chas. K. Harris. Who is still writing songs. What has become of the Human Spiders? John B. Kennedy, the writer. Even though you get stung, there is fun at a fake jewelry auction.

Tea places that feature fortune tellers. Everybody seems to stop at a window decorated like a bathroom. James Wolfe, Metropolitan basso. The dry sad smell from subway gratings. Otis Weiss, the youthful editor of McCalls, who owns a dude ranch in Montana. Maybelle Manning.

A. Sulka, the haberdasher. Seedy, hatless young artists who carry sketches in portfolios. Don Clarke, who quit Park Row to write a novel a year for five years. The nifty tobacco shop with the copies of Trafalgar lions about its black marble entrance. Vyvyanne Donner, the fashion artist.

Despite the financial flurry, the King of Blue Sky Brokers is doing business at the old stand. His office is on lower Broadway and his door plate reveals the name of R. M. Smythe. He has no telephone and deals in wild-cat securities—with his tongue in his cheek. He is a specialist in defunct issues and when they have lost all value he buys them. They are in turn sold to those who use them for papering dens, sending them out as Xmas greetings and other quaint purposes. Banks frequently use them for window displays to illustrate how the susceptible are duped.

Capsule drama: The "ground woman" in an acrobatic act who was able to hold eight people aloft is now a part of an uptown window demonstration. In her new role she blows soap bubbles in the air to advertise a soap.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., is said to have more doubles than any other New Yorker. Five young men about town are constantly being mistaken for him. One ran up a hefty night club bill before his deception became known and another on a wager even fooled the Vanderbilt family butler, who admitted him to the family mansion with only a passing and customary mournful glance.

A restaurant on Sixth avenue has for years featured a hat rack piled high with an assortment of hats. It is noticeable from the street. Inside there are rarely more than a dozen customers. But the proprietor clings to his trick. The idea is to give the impression to passersby the place is flourishing.

* * *

A variant is often employed in night clubs. "Prop" customers are served from a bottle that opens with a champagne pop and thus a sale of that beverage is stimulated. And you'd be surprised how many suckers there are for that racket.

There is a type of New Yorker who at every meeting for no reason at all suggests: "Why not have luncheon or dinner sometime?" Such invitations are entirely too vague and the next one is going to be pinned down abruptly with a quick: "All right. When?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BUSY people, those who are undertaking big things, those who are winning reputations worth having, very often find there is not time for many of the frivolities that claim the thought and attention of the majority.

Perhaps you have in mind couples who make no effort to gain social recognition and you wonder why.

They indicate that they enjoy the society of other persons, but they do not seem dependent upon outsiders for their enjoyment.

These people usually have something in common, something more than the pleasure of passing entertainment which may mean much to you.

But they are not to be pitied, in fact they may be pitying you that you must work so hard to have a good time.
